Nixon Blast At Reporters Is Analyzed

Believes Papers Gave Him Unfair Campaign Coverage

By JOE LEWIS

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Why did Richard M. Nixon unburden himself so bitterly criticizing reporters and newspapers, in his extraordinary news conference Wednesday?

An informed source said Thursday: 1. He was brimming with pent-up anger, and, 2. He had gone virtually without sleep for 48 hours.

The former vice president made his remarks after conceding defeat to Democrat Edmund G. Brown in California's gubernatorial election.

The source gave this account of Nixon's final moments before the news conference: The candidate and his staff kept hoping they would pick up enough votes in late returns to overcome Brown's lead. Realizing the situation was hopeless, Nixon met with aides in their election night headquarters on the seventh floor of the Beverly Hilton Hotel.

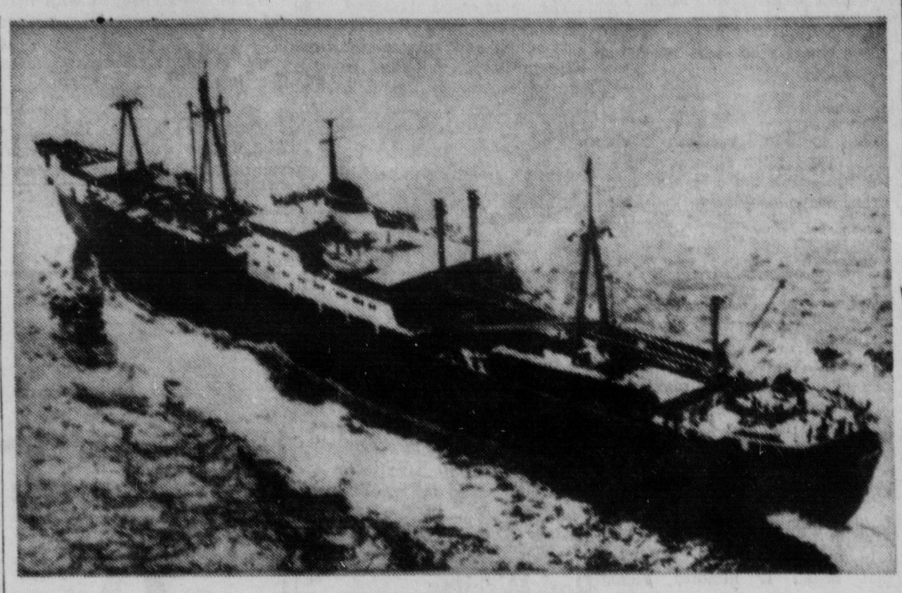

Klein To Speak

It was decided that Herbert G. Klein, his press secretary, to spare Nixon further anguish, would relay the defeated candidate's concession to the newsmen assembled on the first floor.

Klein left the headquarters shortly before 10 a.m., assuming that Nixon would go home for needed rest.

After the press secretary left, a few of Nixon's friends persuaded him to go downstairs. The apparent intention was for Nixon to confront the press briefly, pose for

Nehru Calls On People To Defend India

Warns Parliament To Brace For Long, Bitter Campaign

By PATRICK J. KILLEN

NEW DELHI (UPI) — A new eruption of heavy fighting on India's eastern front was reported Thursday as Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru warned Communist China that India "will never submit" to the invasion of its territory.

Nehru also rejected the latest Peiping peace overture in a defiant speech at the opening of a three-day emergency Parliament session at which he won pledges of support and loyalty from all opposition political parties but the Communists.

And all other parties echoed his praise of the United States for responding quickly to India's appeal for arms for the ill-equipped Indian troops and denounced Soviet Russia for siding with Red China in the undeclared border war.

The deputies entered the Parliament building through mobs of demonstrators carrying flags and chanting "no negotiation." Police slammed shut the metal gates to keep the demonstrators from the Parliament grounds.

Reports Heavy Fighting

Even while Parliament was meeting, an official spokesman told a news conference that heavy fighting had broken out during the past two days in two sectors of the North East Frontier Agency (NEFA) on the eastern end of the border with Red China.

He said in one engagement in the western sector near Jang "some Chinese were killed." In the easternmost section near the Burma border, he said continuous fighting was reported with 15 Chinese troops being killed or wounded in one incident.

It was the first serious outbreak of fighting along the border since Oct. 28 when Damchok and Jara La Pass fell to advancing Red forces in Ladakh on the westernmost end of the 2,200-mile border.

The spokesman said there were five separate actions in the vicinity of Walong in NEFA and that reports received here last night told of continued sniping. Observers said the reports of increased Red activity around Walong indicated the Chinese might be readying for an all-out assault in the 5,000-foot high region which forms the gateway to the Assam Plains and the Digboi oil fields.

Walong Better Entry Point

According to former British officials who are familiar with the region, Walong is a much better entry point into Assam than Towang on the western side of NEFA. The Reds already hold Towang, which is about 15 miles south of the McMahon Line.

There was no report of fighting in Ladakh but the spokesman said the Reds were continuing a massive buildup of men and equipment near Chusul, India's vital air supply post for Indian troops defending the region against Chinese soldiers from Sinkiang.

Nehru showed signs of the strain he has been under since the Chinese Communists launched the massive offensives at both ends of the border last week. While his words were defiant, his voice grew weak on numerous occasions, and at other times he sounded tired and almost confused.

Thanks U. S.

The prime minister thanked the United States and Britain by name for their quick military assistance given "unconditionally and without strings." He said similar appeals had been made to "other friendly relations, including the U.S.S.R.", but he implied they had fallen on deaf ears.

Nehru said India would accept Communist China's armed "challenge with all its consequences."

He emphasized that Communist China's proposal for disengagement of the troops of both sides as a prelude to a border settlement was completely unacceptable to India.

Nehru said India would not negotiate until the Chinese troops were withdrawn completely behind the McMahon line between the NEFA and Red-occupied Tibet and were pulled back to positions held in Ladakh on Sept. 8.

Red Missiles Aboard Ships

By LEWIS HAWKINS

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department reported Thursday night all Soviet missile bases in Cuba have been dismantled and their nuclear rockets put aboard ships.

This report was based on aerial reconnaissance and the department said further verification of Soviet withdrawal of offensive arms is expected within 24 hours by U.S. warships' "close alongside observation" of the Soviet merchantmen outbound from Cuba.

Shortly before the Defense Department announcement, the State Department had said the at-sea checking does not remove the need for on-site inspection in Cuba to confirm that the nuclear threat to U.S. security has, indeed, been fully eliminated.

Reds To Cooperate

The Defense Department gave first word of arrangements for at-sea examinations Wednesday but did not say how it would be done. Thursday's announcement indicated it would be by visual inspection from alongside. It was added "it is understood the Soviet vessels will cooperate in this procedure."

Although the announcement spoke of along-side inspections, a Pentagon spokesman said the possibility of boarding the Soviet vessels is not eliminated if that is deemed necessary.

Clear By Monday

At the United Nations, informed sources reported that the Soviet Union has told the United States that all missiles would be out of Cuba by Monday and there would be no need for inspection beyond that time. It was not clear whether this was merely informative or was intended by the Russians as a deadline at which they want inspections at sea to cease.

The Pentagon reported that three Soviet ships — presumably carrying nuclear rockets — have been sighted outbound from Cuba and they probably will be the first ones contacted by the U.S. warships. The Defense Department said the first contact may come about daylight Friday.

Equipment Loaded

The Department announcement said that in addition to the medium-range and intermediate-range rockets that have been spotted in aerial pictures, missile transporters and other vital rocketry equipment has been seen loaded aboard Soviet ships, including some now at sea.

In an impromptu news conference, Soviet Premier Khrushchev said the missiles "probably are on their way" back to the Soviet Union and mentioned a figure of 40. A U.S. Defense Department spokesman said Thursday "We'll certainly be looking for a minimum of 40 missiles" when the warships rendezvous with the Soviet merchantmen.

At the time the hasty erection of bases brought a limited naval arms blockade of Cuba plus aerial surveillance of the sites, the Defense Department had said at least 30 medium-range mobile rockets and intermediate-range ballistic missiles were known to be in Cuba.

Reports Discounted

Although officials discount reports by Cuban refugees that many of the nuclear rockets are being hidden in Cuban caves, the State Department said the agreement for examination of the missile ships at sea doesn't remove the necessity for ground inspection and verification in Cuba.

The sea check also left unanswered the problem of at least a score of IL28 medium jet bombers Moscow is known to have sent into Cuba. The U.S. position is that these 700-mile-range aircraft must go along with the missiles.

Latin America Nuclear-Free Zone Proposed

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —Brazil's plan to turn Latin America into a nuclear-free zone gained Western support here Thursday as delegates, continually citing the Cuban crisis, appealed for U.N. efforts to speed disarmament talks.

Bolivia and Chile joined in sponsoring the Brazilian plan which seeks negotiations to ban nuclear weapons from Latin America. Informed sources said both Britain and the United States would back the proposal.

Brazilian Delegate Alfonso Arinos de Melo Franco formally introduced the plan in the General Assembly's 110-nation Political Committee. On Tuesday, Arthur H. Dean, chief U.S. disarmament negotiator, told the committee, "We welcome the initiative of the Brazilian representative."

Originally, the Brazilian plan included similar provisions for Africa, but was later revised to cover only Latin America.

The Brazilian plan would bar the use of atin-American land, water or air space for storing, testing or transporting nuclear weapons.

Russia Plans To End Tests

GENEVA (UPI)—Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev's announcement that current Soviet nuclear tests will end by Nov. 20 was seen Thursday as fresh evidence the Russians are willing to reach agreement soon on some form of atomic test ban.

The announcement followed by only three days President Kennedy's statement that U.S. tests in the atmosphere in the Pacific had been completed.

Western delegation members at the test ban talks here said they believe the Soviet announcement is an indication that the Russians are ready to talk seriously about ending tests—perhaps by the end of the year.

She willed her eyes to an eye bank, in hopes of aiding the sight of someone who survived her.

But her son, Rep. James Roosevelt, announced that the bequest could not be fulfilled because an autopsy confirmed doctors' diagnosis of the cause of death precluded donation of the eyes.

13 Pilots Fined For Misconduct

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Federal Aviation Agency (FAA) announced Thursday it has fined 13 Eastern Air Lines pilots from $300 to $600 for such violations as sleeping at the controls, reading magazines in the cockpit and letting stewardesses fly their planes.

The action resulted from photographs taken by Eastern flight engineers on 15 flights dating from May 20, 1959, to July 30, 1961. The FAA said nine captains and four co-pilots were involved—two of the captains being charged with more than one violation.

The maximum penalty for inattention to duty in airliner cockpit is $1,000. FAA, in letters to the 13 pilots, said their own fines were compromise penalties. It said they could accept the compromise fines, which is not an admission of guilt, or ask for a hearing on the charges.

The FAA said that pilots refusing to pay the fines will face prosecution by the Justice Department.

Eastern itself announced earlier this week it had grounded three pilots for unannounced periods, believed to range from 10 days to two weeks. Such grounding would cost a pilot between $600 and $800 in pay. Eastern's own disciplinary action was separate from that of the FAA, which meant that at least pilots may be paying as much as $1,400 for their violations.

Two Die As Train Hits Gasoline Truck

ANNISTON, Ala. (UPI) — A New York-to-New Orleans passenger train slammed into a loaded gasoline tank truck near here Thursday killing two train crewmen.

Oficials said the engine and a baggage car of the nine-car "Southerner" overturned but no passengers were seriously hurt.

Killed were engineer Jack McWhorter, about 55, and fireman H. L. Bolden, 42, both of Birmingham.

Truck driver Roy McCurry, 27, of Birmingham was hospitalized in Anniston with back and neck injuries.

Desi Arnaz Sells Stock To Ex-Wife

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Desilu Productions Inc. announced Thursday Desi Arnaz had resigned as president and director of the corporation and his ex-wife Lucille Ball was elected by directors to head the firm.

Miss Ball will purchase the 300,350 shares of Desilu stock owned by Arnaz "at a price considerably in excess of the current market price," the company statement said. This will bring her total holdings to 600,650 shares, or 52 per cent of the total outstanding stock of Desilu.

No reason was given for Arnaz' resignation. Arnaz has interests in a Palm Springs hotel, a ranch and other real estate.

Arnaz and Miss Ball were divorced in 1960 and she has since married comedian Gary Morton.

Firm Charged With Sale Of Illegal Drug

WASHINGTON (AP) — A New York firm was charged today with selling food and drugs illegally adulterated with an agent described as capable of changing sexual characteristics of boys and girls.

The Justice Department said the charges were contained in a criminal information filed in U.S. District Court in Brooklyn against Nysco Laboratories, Inc., and four of its officials.

The Long Island City-based firm and the officials were accused of violating the Federal Food, Drug and Cosmetic Act.

They were identified as Milton Sacks, president; Eugene J. Yoss, treasurer; Robert Goldman, director of laboratories; and Harry E. Gimbel production supervisor.

The government charged that the defendants sold diet supplements, prescription drugs for tuberculosis, tablets for acid stomach and an antihistamine for cold and hay fever which were unlawfully adulterated with the synthetic hormone diethylstilbestrol.

The Food and Drug Administration described diethylstilbestrol as a powerful compound which has many of the biological and medical properties of female hormones.

The FDA said it can cause feminization in young boys and can cause early internal physiological development in young girls. The FDA said all of the suspected products have been withdrawn from the market.

The department said contaminated shipments were sent to the states of New York, New Jersey, Massachusetts, California, Minnesota and Ohio.

The maximum penalty upon conviction under the charge is one year in prison and a $1,000 fine on each count.

Newspaper Strike In N.Y. Ended

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Newspaper Guild approved a new contract Thursday night and voted to end an eight-day strike against the Daily News, the nation's largest newspaper. An $8-a-week average wage increase over a two-year period was included in the settlement terms.

The News already had made plans to publish Friday morning editions once the proposed contract was ratified by the 1,100 strking Guild members, who man its editorial and business departments.

However, the press run of the Friday edition was to be limited to the Manhattan plant. Part of the News' normal two-million-daily circulation is turned out in a Brooklyn plant.

The AFL-CIO Guild struck the news at midnight Oct. 31 in a demand for a 10 per cent general wage increase, and a top weekly minimum wage of $200. The present top minimum at the News is $168.

Before the strike, the News offered a $7.25-a-week wage package spread over two years. The contract as ratified calls for an average of $4.25 a week in the first year, and $3.75 in the second year.

Guild officials said the new contract provides a range of from $3.50 a week over two years for office boys, to $10.50 a week over two years for top-salaries Guild employes.

The new contract also provides for the first time for a checkoff, whereby the News will collect the dues of Guild members. Other Manhattan newspapers already provide this service.

Another provision allows News employes to receive severance pay upon resignation after 25 years of continuous service.

McKeldin May Seek Election As Baltimore Mayor

BALTIMORE (AP) — Former governor Theodore McKeldin probably will be the next Republican candidate for mayor of Baltimore, according to the Baltimore Sunpapers.

A story in Friday morning's edition of the Sun said that McKeldin can have the GOP nomination without a major primary fight if he wants it. And the story says he has been telling friends that his final political ambition it to wind up his public career as mayor of his native city.

McKeldin was mayor of Baltimore from 1943 until 1947. Since he ended his two terms as governor, he has been practicing law.

The former governor ran for mayor after his eight years in Annapolis, but lost to present Baltimore Mayor J. Harold Grady.

Jet Removal From Cuba Is In Deadlock

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —The United States and the Soviet Union failed to reach agreement Thursday night on removal of Soviet jet bombers from Cuba.

The deadlock on that issue and on-site inspection persisted as informed sources reported that the Soviet Union had told the United States all Soviet missiles will be out of Cuba by Monday and there will be no need for U.S. naval inspection of outbound Soviet ships after that date.

U.S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson and Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Vasily V. Kuznetsov and their advisors conferred for 3½ hours at the Soviet mission to the United Nations.

Amid reports that the Soviet Union was hardening its position in the negotiations Stevenson told a reporter afterward: "We had another long talk about the unresolved issues. There are several outstanding issues."

Asked if the unresolved issues included on-site inspection of the dismantling of Soviet missile bases and the removal of Soviet jet bombers, he replied in the affirmative.

He added that the negotiators still are arguing about the removal of the 20 or more jet bombers.

It was the second U.S.-Soviet bargaining session in the past three days to end without any announcement of agreement.

JFK Makes Mistake Of A Century

WASHINGTON (AP)—It seems to happen about once a century. President Kennedy has signed into law a bill that was not the correct version of a bill that passed Congress.

When it was placed before him for his signature, on Oct. 23, the bill was attested to by the speaker of the House and the president of the Senate as being a properly enrolled copy of the bill passed by Congress. But it wasn't.

The bill, HR12708, establishes a Court of General Sessions in the District of Columbia. As originally drafted, it provided that the court should have subpoena power within a 100-mile radius, thus reaching into sizable areas of Maryland and Virginia.

Sen. A. Willis Robertson, D-Va., didn't like the idea of having subpoena power extend so far into his state. He put through an amendment in the Senate limiting the power to a radius of 25 miles.

On Oct. 5, the House accepted the Senate amendment and sent the bill on to the President. The action was recorded in the Congressional Record for that day.

But the bill the President got said 100 miles, not 25.

Somewhere in the enrolling process somebody goofed.

In spite of the mistake, all authorities agree the bill the President signed is law. The only way to change it is for Congress to pass a new law after it convenes in January.

The last time such a thing happened was in the 19th century.

Body Of Mrs. Roosevelt Taken To Hyde Park

By ARTHUR EVERETT

NEW YORK (AP)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt's body was borne beside the winding, placid Hudson River Thursday to the autumn-brown hills of Hyde Park. There on Saturday she will be laid to rest beside her husband, who served as president of the United States longer than any other man.

The 85-mile journey marked Eleanor Roosevelt's last return to the ancestral acres of Franklin D. Roosevelt, with whom she shared the triumphs and trials of an historic 12 years in the White House.

Mrs. Roosevelt died Wednesday at the age of 78. One of the first to mourn her was President Kennedy, who plans to come from Washington for the 2 p.m. Saturday funeral.

However, the nation could not —if it would—hoard to itself the grief inspired by the passing of one of the world's outstanding women. Sorrow spread deep and wide across the world, even behind the Iron Curtain of communism.

Her son, John Roosevelt, on the steps of her New York apartment, expressed the appreciation of Mrs. Roosevelt's family to "the many, many people who have been in touch with us directly to express their great love and affection for my mother."

"All of us feel," he added, "we er, and I am sure that all the people who knew her hope that she will have found peace and happiness."

From Moscow, Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko said that Russians who knew Mrs. Roosevelt "will always have the best of memories of her."

From Washington, President Kennedy ordered American flags flown at half staff on government buildings, military bases and vessels until Mrs. Roosevelt's burial Saturday. The action was believed an unprecedented honor to a former First Lady.

Mrs. Rooevelt died at 6:15 p.m. Wednesday, 30 years to the day after she had celebrated with her husband his election to his first of four terms as president and architect of the New Deal.

Upon her death, it was revealed that she had suffered for the past 2½ years from noncontagious tuberculosis. She broke off her usually hectic round of travels, lectures and writing Sept. 26 to enter Columbia Presbyterian Medical Center for treatment of what was described as a lung infection. Later, anemia complicated her condition.

Mrs. Roosevelt was carried out of the hospital on a stretcher Oct. 18 and returned to her East Side apartment. Her heart failed at the end, beneath the burden of her illness.

An auopsy was performed during the night. It confirmed the diagnosis of tuberculosis, and for that reason the family regretfully canceled Mrs. Roosevelt's intended post-mortem final gift to humanity. In 1954, she had willed her eyes to an eye bank.

With Mrs. Roosevelt at the end were a daughter, Anna Eleanor Halsted, and two of her sons, Franklin Jr. and John. Two other sons flew in shortly afterwards, Elliott from Miami, and Rep. James Roosevelt, D-Calif., from the West Coast.

The funeral services Saturday will be restricted to members of the family and such public figures as Kennedy and ex-President Harry Truman. The Rev. Gordon L. Kidd will officiate at St. James Episcopal church in Hyde Park which can accommodate only 200 persons.

There will be no honorary pallbearers. Active pallbearers will be her four sons and a son-in-law Dr. James Halsted.

Today's Weather
Cloudy, rain with wind in afternoon. High about 40.

13 Pilots Fined For Misconduct

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Federal Aviation Agency (FAA) announced Thursday it has fined 13 Eastern Air Lines pilots from $300 to $600 for such violations as sleeping at the controls, reading magazines in the cockpit and letting stewardesses fly their planes.

The action resulted from photographs taken by Eastern flight engineers on 15 flights dating from May 20, 1959, to July 30, 1961. The FAA said nine captains and four co-pilots were involved—two of the captains being charged with more than one violation.

The maximum penalty for inattention to duty in airliner cockpit is $1,000. FAA, in letters to the 13 pilots, said their own fines were compromise penalties. It said they could accept the compromise fines, which is not an admission of guilt, or ask for a hearing on the charges.

The FAA said that pilots refusing to pay the fines will face prosecution by the Justice Department.

Eastern itself announced earlier this week it had grounded three pilots for unannounced periods, believed to range from 10 days to two weeks. Such grounding would cost a pilot between $600 and $800 in pay. Eastern's own disciplinary action was separate from that of the FAA, which meant that at least pilots may be paying as much as $1,400 for their violations.

Two Die As Train Hits Gasoline Truck

ANNISTON, Ala. (UPI) — A New York-to-New Orleans passenger train slammed into a loaded gasoline tank truck near here Thursday killing two train crewmen.

Oficials said the engine and a baggage car of the nine-car "Southerner" overturned but no passengers were seriously hurt.

Killed were engineer Jack McWhorter, about 55, and fireman H. L. Bolden, 42, both of Birmingham.

Truck driver Roy McCurry, 27, of Birmingham was hospitalized in Anniston with back and neck injuries.

Desi Arnaz Sells Stock To Ex-Wife

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Desilu Productions Inc. announced Thursday Desi Arnaz had resigned as president and director of the corporation and his ex-wife Lucille Ball was elected by directors to head the firm.

Miss Ball will purchase the 300,350 shares of Desilu stock owned by Arnaz "at a price considerably in excess of the current market price," the company statement said. This will bring her total holdings to 600,650 shares, or 52 per cent of the total outstanding stock of Desilu.

No reason was given for Arnaz' resignation. Arnaz has interests in a Palm Springs hotel, a ranch and other real estate.

Arnaz and Miss Ball were divorced in 1960 and she has since married comedian Gary Morton.

Firm Charged With Sale Of Illegal Drug

WASHINGTON (AP) — A New York firm was charged today with selling food and drugs illegally adulterated with an agent described as capable of changing sexual characteristics of boys and girls.

The Justice Department said the charges were contained in a criminal information filed in U.S. District Court in Brooklyn against Nysco Laboratories, Inc., and four of its officials.

The Long Island City-based firm and the officials were accused of violating the Federal Food, Drug and Cosmetic Act.

They were identified as Milton Sacks, president; Eugene J. Yoss, treasurer; Robert Goldman, director of laboratories; and Harry E. Gimbel production supervisor.

The government charged that the defendants sold diet supplements, prescription drugs for tuberculosis, tablets for acid stomach and an antihistamine for cold and hay fever which were unlawfully adulterated with the synthetic hormone diethylstilbestrol.

The Food and Drug Administration described diethylstilbestrol as a powerful compound which has many of the biological and medical properties of female hormones.

The FDA said it can cause feminization in young boys and can cause early internal physiological development in young girls. The FDA said all of the suspected products have been withdrawn from the market.

The department said contaminated shipments were sent to the states of New York, New Jersey, Massachusetts, California, Minnesota and Ohio.

The maximum penalty upon conviction under the charge is one year in prison and a $1,000 fine on each count.

Newspaper Strike In N.Y. Ended

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Newspaper Guild approved a new contract Thursday night and voted to end an eight-day strike against the Daily News, the nation's largest newspaper. An $8-a-week average wage increase over a two-year period was included in the settlement terms.

The News already had made plans to publish Friday morning editions once the proposed contract was ratified by the 1,100 strking Guild members, who man its editorial and business departments.

However, the press run of the Friday edition was to be limited to the Manhattan plant. Part of the News' normal two-million-daily circulation is turned out in a Brooklyn plant.

The AFL-CIO Guild struck the news at midnight Oct. 31 in a demand for a 10 per cent general wage increase, and a top weekly minimum wage of $200. The present top minimum at the News is $168.

Before the strike, the News offered a $7.25-a-week wage package spread over two years. The contract as ratified calls for an average of $4.25 a week in the first year, and $3.75 in the second year.

Guild officials said the new contract provides a range of from $3.50 a week over two years for office boys, to $10.50 a week over two years for top-salaries Guild employes.

The new contract also provides for the first time for a checkoff, whereby the News will collect the dues of Guild members. Other Manhattan newspapers already provide this service.

Another provision allows News employes to receive severance pay upon resignation after 25 years of continuous service.

McKeldin May Seek Election As Baltimore Mayor

BALTIMORE (AP) — Former governor Theodore McKeldin probably will be the next Republican candidate for mayor of Baltimore, according to the Baltimore Sunpapers.

A story in Friday morning's edition of the Sun said that McKeldin can have the GOP nomination without a major primary fight if he wants it. And the story says he has been telling friends that his final political ambition it to wind up his public career as mayor of his native city.

McKeldin was mayor of Baltimore from 1943 until 1947. Since he ended his two terms as governor, he has been practicing law.

The former governor ran for mayor after his eight years in Annapolis, but lost to present Baltimore Mayor J. Harold Grady.

Jet Removal From Cuba Is In Deadlock

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —The United States and the Soviet Union failed to reach agreement Thursday night on removal of Soviet jet bombers from Cuba.

The deadlock on that issue and on-site inspection persisted as informed sources reported that the Soviet Union had told the United States all Soviet missiles will be out of Cuba by Monday and there will be no need for U.S. naval inspection of outbound Soviet ships after that date.

U.S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson and Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Vasily V. Kuznetsov and their advisors conferred for 3½ hours at the Soviet mission to the United Nations.

Amid reports that the Soviet Union was hardening its position in the negotiations Stevenson told a reporter afterward: "We had another long talk about the unresolved issues. There are several outstanding issues."

Asked if the unresolved issues included on-site inspection of the dismantling of Soviet missile bases and the removal of Soviet jet bombers, he replied in the affirmative.

He added that the negotiators still are arguing about the removal of the 20 or more jet bombers.

It was the second U.S.-Soviet bargaining session in the past three days to end without any announcement of agreement.

JFK Makes Mistake Of A Century

WASHINGTON (AP)—It seems to happen about once a century. President Kennedy has signed into law a bill that was not the correct version of a bill that passed Congress.

When it was placed before him for his signature, on Oct. 23, the bill was attested to by the speaker of the House and the president of the Senate as being a properly enrolled copy of the bill passed by Congress. But it wasn't.

The bill, HR12708, establishes a Court of General Sessions in the District of Columbia. As originally drafted, it provided that the court should have subpoena power within a 100-mile radius, thus reaching into sizable areas of Maryland and Virginia.

Sen. A. Willis Robertson, D-Va., didn't like the idea of having subpoena power extend so far into his state. He put through an amendment in the Senate limiting the power to a radius of 25 miles.

On Oct. 5, the House accepted the Senate amendment and sent the bill on to the President. The action was recorded in the Congressional Record for that day.

But the bill the President got said 100 miles, not 25.

Somewhere in the enrolling process somebody goofed.

In spite of the mistake, all authorities agree the bill the President signed is law. The only way to change it is for Congress to pass a new law after it convenes in January.

The last time such a thing happened was in the 19th century.

Body Of Mrs. Roosevelt Taken To Hyde Park

By ARTHUR EVERETT

NEW YORK (AP)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt's body was borne beside the winding, placid Hudson River Thursday to the autumn-brown hills of Hyde Park. There on Saturday she will be laid to rest beside her husband, who served as president of the United States longer than any other man.

The 85-mile journey marked Eleanor Roosevelt's last return to the ancestral acres of Franklin D. Roosevelt, with whom she shared the triumphs and trials of an historic 12 years in the White House.

Mrs. Roosevelt died Wednesday at the age of 78. One of the first to mourn her was President Kennedy, who plans to come from Washington for the 2 p.m. Saturday funeral.

However, the nation could not —if it would—hoard to itself the grief inspired by the passing of one of the world's outstanding women. Sorrow spread deep and wide across the world, even behind the Iron Curtain of communism.

Her son, John Roosevelt, on the steps of her New York apartment, expressed the appreciation of Mrs. Roosevelt's family to "the many, many people who have been in touch with us directly to express their great love and affection for my mother."

"All of us feel," he added, "we er, and I am sure that all the people who knew her hope that she will have found peace and happiness."

From Moscow, Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko said that Russians who knew Mrs. Roosevelt "will always have the best of memories of her."

From Washington, President Kennedy ordered American flags flown at half staff on government buildings, military bases and vessels until Mrs. Roosevelt's burial Saturday. The action was believed an unprecedented honor to a former First Lady.

Mrs. Rooevelt died at 6:15 p.m. Wednesday, 30 years to the day after she had celebrated with her husband his election to his first of four terms as president and architect of the New Deal.

Upon her death, it was revealed that she had suffered for the past 2½ years from noncontagious tuberculosis. She broke off her usually hectic round of travels, lectures and writing Sept. 26 to enter Columbia Presbyterian Medical Center for treatment of what was described as a lung infection. Later, anemia complicated her condition.

Mrs. Roosevelt was carried out of the hospital on a stretcher Oct. 18 and returned to her East Side apartment. Her heart failed at the end, beneath the burden of her illness.

An auopsy was performed during the night. It confirmed the diagnosis of tuberculosis, and for that reason the family regretfully canceled Mrs. Roosevelt's intended post-mortem final gift to humanity. In 1954, she had willed her eyes to an eye bank.

With Mrs. Roosevelt at the end were a daughter, Anna Eleanor Halsted, and two of her sons, Franklin Jr. and John. Two other sons flew in shortly afterwards, Elliott from Miami, and Rep. James Roosevelt, D-Calif., from the West Coast.

The funeral services Saturday will be restricted to members of the family and such public figures as Kennedy and ex-President Harry Truman. The Rev. Gordon L. Kidd will officiate at St. James Episcopal church in Hyde Park which can accommodate only 200 persons.

There will be no honorary pall bearers. Active pallbearers will be her four sons and a son-in-law Dr. James Halsted.

Plan Social Courts

BUDAPEST, Hungary (AP)—Hungarian Communist officials are considering establishing so-called social courts to handle minor cases such as disciplinary offenses and petty theft. This nation of 10 million had a million litigants and 210,000 trials in 1961.

Squeaker Victories Featured Elections All Over Country

By JERRY T. BAULCH

WASHINGTON (AP) — A trickle of windup ballot counting on the second day after the off-year national elections left several races still in some doubt, with many facing the possibility of recounts.

Squeaker victories were scattered all across the country. But the big ones involved governorships in Rhode Island, Maine, Massachusetts, Minnesota, Alaska, North Dakota and Vermont and Senate contests in South Dakota, Alabama and Indiana.

Rhode Island Race

The closest of the governor's where a recheck of unofficial tabulation increased the lead of Democratic Gov. John A. Notte from an unofficial 46 votes to 47 over Republican Rep. John A. Chaffee.

Albert J. Lamaree, chairman of the Rhode Island Board of Elections, said the count of absentee and shut-in ballots—on which the outcome may depend—will not start before Monday or Tuesday. A recount of voting machine tabulations probably will begin Saturday.

Neither candidate has indicated he will challenge the count if it goes against him.

Minnesota Contest

Another neck-and-neck gubernatorial race was going on in Minnesota between Democratic Lt. Gov. Karl Rolvaag and Republican Gov. Elmer L. Andersen. With two precincts still to be reported Rolvaag was ahead by 89 votes—619,692 to 619,603.

South Dakota had a real cliff-hanging Senate battle with a check of county auditors showed was won on a 201-vote margin by Democrat George McGovern, former congressman and national food for peace director.

With all 1,821 precincts finally reporting, McGovern's unofficial total was 128,697 over incumbent Sen. Joe Bottum, a Republican who had 128,496.

Indiana Close

It was almost as close in Indiana where Democrat Birch Bayh Jr. ousted veteran Republican Sen. Homer Capehart with about 50.4 per cent of the total vote.

And in Alabama, long-time Sen. Lister Hill polled only about 51 per cent of the vote in staving off the surprise challenge of Republican James B. Martin.

Maine Race Close

One of the closest races for governor was in Maine, where Republican Gov. John H. Reed won by a 405-vote margin over Democrat Maynard C. Dolloff—146,565 to 146,160 by the unofficial count.

Dolloff has said he will ask for a recount but has not moved officially to do so.

In Massachusetts, a painstaking recheck showed Democrat Endicott Peabody, a former Harvard All-America football star, won the governorship by a 2,163-vote margin. His total was 1,049,549 to 1,047,336 for Republican Gov. John A. Volpe.

Volpe had gone to bed early Wednesday conceding defeat in the face of a 90,000 Peabody lead. But when the Democratic candidates' lead melted, to 254 votes at one time, Volpe demand a recount early Wednesday night.

Record In Vermont

In Vermont, Philip H. Hoff became the first Democrat in over 100 years to be elected governor. But he beat Republican Gov. F. Ray Keyser Jr. by only 1,200 votes and Keyser asked for a recount.

Alaska's incumbent Gov. William E. Egan, a Democrat, beat Republican Mike Stepovich by only about 1,500 votes. And in North Dakota, Democrat William L. Guy won another term as governor by 2,500 votes over Republican Mark Andrews.

In the congressional battles, the last House race was decided. Democratic Rep. Ralph J. Rivers finally won in Alaska, beating Lowell Thomas Jr., son of the lecturer and author.

New Division

This divided the 435 seats at 259 Democrats and 176 Republicans, a solid Democratic margin of 83. However, this majority will be less than it was in the 87th Congress when there were 437 House seats and the Democrats held 263 and the Republicans 174. Reapportionment wiped out two seats.

The final tally showed the Republicans had captured 11 Democratic seats and the Democrats 7 Republican seats.

The new lineup in the Senate will be 68 Democrats and 32 Republicans. This boosts the Democratic majority to the highest peak since they won 69 seats in 1938. The 1962 Senate had 64 Democrats and 36 Republicans.

pictures and then depart — after Klein had read his concession statement.

Changed His Mind

But sometime between leaving his seventh-floor suite and showing up before the television cameras, Nixon decided to get a few things off his chest—to the obvious surprise of Klein.

Apparently the sight of the newsmen and television cameras goaded the beaten candidate. An aide who did not wish to be identified said he had never seen the normally composed Nixon angrier in public, that he was making an intense effort to prevent his emotions from running away and, at the same time giving vent to feelings he had learned long ago to suppress.

Extraordinary Statement

In an extraordinary monologue that lasted 17 minutes, Nixon said:

1. He had no complaints—but then aired some.

2. Congratulated Gov. Brown—then said that he had not accused the governor of lack of patriotism or heart but that the governor had thus accused him.

3. He had even defended the governor's patriotism — and that newspapers neglected to carry this.

4. He did not object to newspapers opposing him nor did he object to reporters who covered his campaign voicing their opposition to him. But he felt it was manifestly unfair for a newspaper, even if it is opposed to a candidate, to give less than complete coverage to his statements.

Names Papers

At one point, Nixon declared: "Among the great papers in this country that people say that I should be concerned about are the Louisville Courier-Journal, the New York Post, the Milwaukee Journal, the Fresno and the Sacramento Bee. I couldn't disagree more. I want newspapers, if they are against a candidate, I want them to say that. I believe they should say that. I don't mind reporters saying. . . ."

An informed source explained that Nixon was neither criticizing nor praising these papers. What he meant, the man said, was that he did not object to these newspapers editorially opposing him.

Nixon Claims

Sources said his anger with the press during his 1962 campaign stemmed from these Nixon claims:

1. Some reporters occasionally neglected to report all of what Nixon said, or used imprecise paraphrases of his statements.

2. His statements sometimes were distorted to the extent that they appeared absurd, and occasionally a dramatic statement was reported but without the qualifying statements that Nixon used to give weight to it.

3. When the Nixon camp made an accusation, amost invariably it elicited a quick response from the opposition. But the reverse was not true when the opposition made the charge. Occasionally, it was claimed, the accusation from the Nixon camp was submerged by the denial from the other side.

Nixon was in seclusion Thursday with his family.

Galbraith Quits British Civil Post

LONDON (UPI)—A member of Prime Minister Harold Macmillan's government quit under fire Thursday in the wake of a spy case in the admiralty and the opposition Labor party promptly presented a motion of censure against the governnment in Parliament.

The man who resigned was Thomas Galbraith, former civil lord of the admiralty at the time William Vassall admitted being a spy for the Soviet Union. He had been switched to the post of undersecretary for Scotland, from which he now has resigned.

Macmillan told the House of Commons that Galbraith "feels it is his duty to submit his resignation" even though a government white paper issued Wednesday night cleared him of any "security risk" relationship with Vassall.

The censure motion presented by the Laborites termed "regretful" Macmillan's refusal to set up an independent inquiry into the Vassall case "despite widespread and continuing public concern."

The motion will have to be debated and voted on in Commons since it refers to the personal conduct of the prime minister.

tions, the United States is maintaining its blockade against any incoming offensive arms and coninuing aerial surveillance of Cuba. Also in abeyance is a U.S. no-invasion pledge which was predicated on solidly verified elmination of offensive armaments from Cuba.

At the United Nations, U.S. Ambassador Adlai Stevenson met again with Vasily V. Kuznetsov, Soviet first deputy foreign minister and Khrushchev's special representative on Cuba.

There was no immediate word on the results, if any, of the meeting aimed at some acceptable formula for effective settlement of the Cuban crisis. It is understood that the United States has been insisting that it is up to the Russians to carry out the Kennedy-Khrushchev agreement, regardless of the attitude of the Cuban Communist regime.

U. N. May Verify

In his Oct. 28 letter to President Kennedy announcing withdrawal of the nuclear weapons, Khrushchev spoke of verification by the United Nations. Although he did not specify on-site inspection by U.N. personnel, it was and is assumed here that was what he meant.

But Fidel Castro, Cuba's Communist prime minister, rejected any on-island inspection and refused to let U Thant, acting U.N. secretary-general, leave U.N. personnel in Havana after his conference with Castro.

Khrushchev subsequently sent to Havana a deputy premier, Anastas I. Mikoyan, to talk with Castro and—presumably—try to get him to modify his attitude. But Mikoyan has been talking with the Cuban since last Sunday and there still has been no word of any agreement.

Amputee Wins Post

SUMMERSVILLE, W.Va. (UPI) — Republican Spurgeon (Jinks) Hinkle, 21, who lost both arms in a mine accident about two years ago, is the new county clerk of Nicholas County. Hinkle defeated the Democratic incumbent, Ira Hill, 82, who had held the post since 1932, in Tuesday's election.

Walker Enters Hospital For Psychiatric Tests

DALLAS (UPI) — Former Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker strode briskly into Parkland Hospital Thursday for a pshychiatric examination to determine whether he understands the federal charges of insurrection and rebellion against him.

If Dr. R. L. Stubblefield's tests prove Walker understands the charges and is capable of aiding in his defense he must stand trial in Mississippi federal court.

Walker was charged with inciting rebellion, insurrection and seditious conspiracy after being arrested during integration rioting at the University of Mississippi.

The examination was expected to take as long as four days. Walker also will undergo a complete physical checkup. No details of the examination will be made public.

Walker, who resigned his Army commission to campaign for what he called a "pro-blue" brand of Americanism, was sent to a federal prison hospital in Springfield, Mo., after his arrest in Oxford, Miss.

While he was being held in Springfield, groups across the country protested that his civil liberties were being violated.

Walker is now free on $50,000 bond. He has been staying at his home in Dallas.

Warships of the United States carried figureheads from 1797 to 1909.

Balaguer Maps Campaign Plans

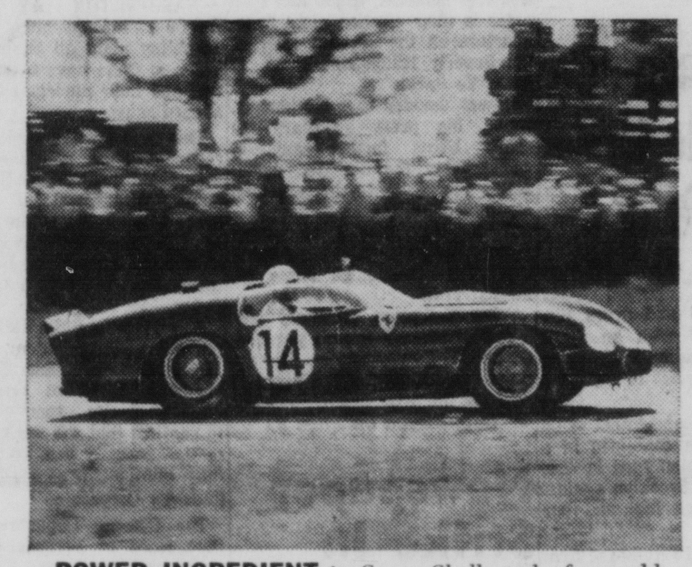

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (UPI)—Growing opposition developed Thursday to announced plans for former President Joaquin Balaguer to return to the Dominican Republic to campaign again for the presidency in December.

The newspapers El Caribe and La Nacion took editorial positions against Balaguer's return. The presidential undersecretary, Dr. Bienvenido Mejia, presumably voiced the interim Council of Government's position when he said Balaguer had "tramped on the Dominican peoples."

The national teachers federation also voiced opposition to Balaguer's return from his exile in the United States.

POWER INGREDIENT in Super Shell works for world champion driver Phil Hill (above, in Ferrari racer). Hill, first American to win the World Championship for Drivers, relies on Super Shell. One important reason: power. Today's Super Shell contains "cat-cracked" gasoline—a power ingredient made by cracking heavier petroleum molecules into lighter, livelier ones. It works to give you the power you need for top performance.

NOISE-FIGHTING INGREDIENTS in Super Shell work for a quiet engine at all speeds. Shell scientists even use a stethoscope (above) to check effect of Super Shell's anti-knock ingredients. One of these ingredients, an anti-knock mix, is so effective that a teaspoon per gallon can boost anti-knock rating five points. Alkylate, another Super Shell ingredient, is noted for controlling knock in hot engines at high speeds better than anything else yet available.

MILEAGE INGREDIENT in Super Shell is Platformate. Shell scientists test it in many cars, many places. In a recent test in San Francisco (above), exactly 250 cc. (about half a pint) of fuel without Platformate was fed into test car. Car ran until fuel was used up, then coasted to a stop (left). Distance: 6186 feet. Test was repeated, using same blend of fuel with Platformate added. Same amount of fuel. Same car. Same conditions. In this test, Super Shell with Platformate took car 6454 feet (right), gave a mileage bonus of 4.3 percent.

TCP* AND FOUR OTHER INGREDIENTS complete Super Shell's 9-ingredient blend. TCP additive can help restore power lost due to combustion deposits—can also extend spark plug life. Butane is for quick starts. Pentane mix helps engines run smoothly during "warm-up." The gum preventive ingredient is to help keep carburetors clean inside. And, when the weather calls for it, Super Shell contains an anti-icer. That's nine ingredients in Super Shell—scientifically blended to give your car top performance.

Names Papers

At one point, Nixon declared: "Among the great papers in this country that people say that I should be concerned about are the Louisville Courier-Journal, the New York Post, the Milwaukee Journal, the Fresno and the Sacramento Bee. I couldn't disagree more. I want newspapers, if they are against a candidate, I want them to say that. I believe they should say that. I don't mind reporters saying. . . ."

An informed source explained that Nixon was neither criticizing nor praising these papers. What he meant, the man said, was that he did not object to these newspapers editorially opposing him.

Nixon Claims

Sources said his anger with the press during his 1962 campaign stemmed from these Nixon claims:

1. Some reporters occasionally neglected to report all of what Nixon said, or used imprecise paraphrases of his statements.

2. His statements sometimes were distorted to the extent that they appeared absurd, and occasionally a dramatic statement was reported but without the qualifying statements that Nixon used to give weight to it.

3. When the Nixon camp made an accusation, amost invariably it elicited a quick response from the opposition. But the reverse was not true when the opposition made the charge. Occasionally, it was claimed, the accusation from the Nixon camp was submerged by the denial from the other side.

Nixon was in seclusion Thursday with his family.

Galbraith Quits British Civil Post

LONDON (UPI)—A member of Prime Minister Harold Macmillan's government quit under fire Thursday in the wake of a spy case in the admiralty and the opposition Labor party promptly presented a motion of censure against the governnment in Parliament.

The man who resigned was Thomas Galbraith, former civil lord of the admiralty at the time William Vassall admitted being a spy for the Soviet Union. He had been switched to the post of undersecretary for Scotland, from which he now has resigned.

Macmillan told the House of Commons that Galbraith "feels it is his duty to submit his resignation" even though a government white paper issued Wednesday night cleared him of any "security risk" relationship with Vassall.

The censure motion presented by the Laborites termed "regretful" Macmillan's refusal to set up an independent inquiry into the Vassall case "despite widespread and continuing public concern."

The motion will have to be debated and voted on in Commons since it refers to the personal conduct of the prime minister.

tions, the United States is maintaining its blockade against any incoming offensive arms and continuing aerial surveillance of Cuba. Also in abeyance is a U.S. no-invasion pledge which was predicated on solidly verified elmination of offensive armaments from Cuba.

At the United Nations, U.S. Ambassador Adlai Stevenson met again with Vasily V. Kuznetsov, Soviet first deputy foreign minister and Khrushchev's special representative on Cuba.

There was no immediate word on the results, if any, of the meeting aimed at some acceptable formula for effective settlement of the Cuban crisis. It is understood that the United States has been insisting that it is up to the Russians to carry out the Kennedy-Khrushchev agreement, regardless of the attitude of the Cuban Communist regime.

U. N. May Verify

In his Oct. 28 letter to President Kennedy announcing withdrawal of the nuclear weapons, Khrushchev spoke of verification by the United Nations. Although he did not specify on-site inspection by U.N. personnel, it was and is assumed here that was what he meant.

But Fidel Castro, Cuba's Communist prime minister, rejected any on-island inspection and refused to let U Thant, acting U.N. secretary-general, leave U.N. personnel in Havana after his conference with Castro.

Khrushchev subsequently sent to Havana a deputy premier, Anastas I. Mikoyan, to talk with Castro and—presumably—try to get him to modify his attitude. But Mikoyan has been talking with the Cuban since last Sunday and there still has been no word of any agreement.

Amputee Wins Post

SUMMERSVILLE, W.Va. (UPI) — Republican Spurgeon (Jinks) Hinkle, 21, who lost both arms in a mine accident about two years ago, is the new county clerk of Nicholas County. Hinkle defeated the Democratic incumbent, Ira Hill, 82, who had held the post since 1932, in Tuesday's election.

Walker Enters Hospital For Psychiatric Tests

DALLAS (UPI) — Former Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker strode briskly into Parkland Hospital Thursday for a pshychiatric examination to determine whether he understands the federal charges of insurrection and rebellion against him.

If Dr. R. L. Stubblefield's tests prove Walker understands the charges and is capable of aiding in his defense he must stand trial in Mississippi federal court.

Walker was charged with inciting rebellion, insurrection and seditious conspiracy after being arrested during integration rioting at the University of Mississippi.

The examination was expected to take as long as four days. Walker also will undergo a complete physical checkup. No details of the examination will be made public.

Walker, who resigned his Army commission to campaign for what he called a "pro-blue" brand of Americanism, was sent to a federal prison hospital in Springfield, Mo., after his arrest in Oxford, Miss.

While he was being held in Springfield, groups across the country protested that his civil liberties were being violated.

Walker is now free on $50,000 bond. He has been staying at his home in Dallas.

Balaguer Maps Campaign Plans

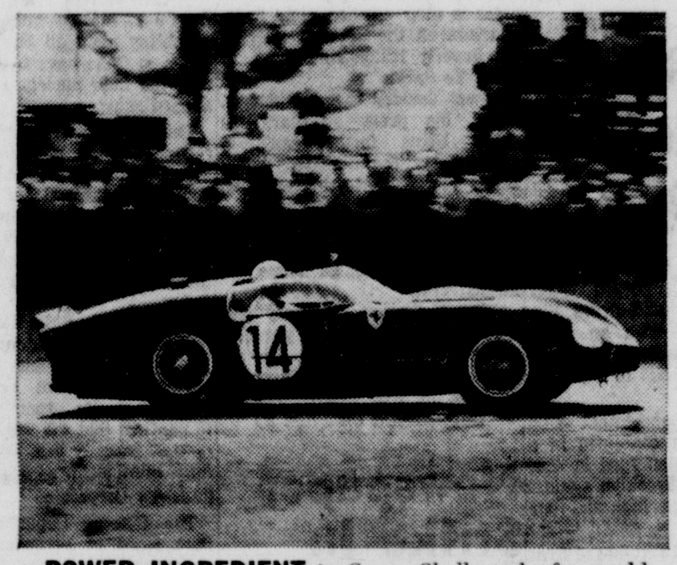

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (UPI)—Growing opposition developed Thursday to announced plans for former President Joaquin Balaguer to return to the Dominican Republic to campaign again for the presidency in December.

The newspapers El Caribe and La Nacion took editorial positions against Balaguer's return. The presidential undersecretary, Dr. Bienvenido Mejia, presumably voiced the interim Council of Government's position when he said Balaguer had "tramped on the Dominican peoples."

The national teachers federation also voiced opposition to Balaguer's return from his exile in the United States.

POWER INGREDIENT in Super Shell works for world champion driver Phil Hill (above, in Ferrari racer). Hill, first American to win the World Championship for Drivers, relies on Super Shell. One important reason: power. Today's Super Shell contains "cat-cracked" gasoline—a power ingredient made by cracking heavier petroleum molecules into lighter, livelier ones. It works to give you the power you need for top performance.

NOISE-FIGHTING INGREDIENTS in Super Shell work for a quiet engine at all speeds. Shell scientists even use a stethoscope (above) to check effect of Super Shell's anti-knock ingredients. One of these ingredients, an anti-knock mix, is so effective that a teaspoon per gallon can boost anti-knock rating five points. Alkylate, another Super Shell ingredient, is noted for controlling knock in hot engines at high speeds better than anything else yet available.

MILEAGE INGREDIENT in Super Shell is Platformate. Shell scientists test it in many cars, many places. In a recent test in San Francisco (above), exactly 250 cc. (about half a pint) of fuel without Platformate was fed into test car. Car ran until fuel was used up, then coasted to a stop (left). Distance: 6186 feet. Test was repeated, using same blend of fuel with Platformate added. Same amount of fuel. Same car. Same conditions. In this test, Super Shell with Platformate took car 6454 feet (right), gave a mileage bonus of 4.3 percent.

TCP* AND FOUR OTHER INGREDIENTS complete Super Shell's 9-ingredient blend. TCP additive can help restore power lost due to combustion deposits—can also extend spark plug life. Butane is for quick starts. Pentane mix helps engines run smoothly during "warm-up." The gum preventive ingredient is to help keep carburetors clean inside. And, when the weather calls for it, Super Shell contains an anti-icer. That's nine ingredients in Super Shell—scientifically blended to give your car top performance.

Mental Patient Kills Mother, Two Sisters

LAWRENCEVILLE, Ill. (UPI) —A mental patient home on leave shot and killed his 70-year-old mother and two sisters and then took his own life, authorities said today.

The bodies were found in three different rooms of their green asphalt-shingled farm home near Lawrenceville.

They were identified as Mrs. Maude Aldridge, 70; two daughters: Pearl, 39, and Mary, 49, and Richard Lee Aldridge, 57.

Authorities said Aldridge had been released on a trial basis in April from the Veterans Administration Hospital in Danville, Ill. a member of the family said Aldridge had been "disturbed" since the death of his father three years ago.

Authorities said the three women had been shot with a .22 caliber rifle which was found on the kitchen table. Aldridge was shot in the chest with a .12 gauge shotgun found lying under his legs.

NAACP Officer Free On Bond

PASCAGOULA, Miss. (AP)—Laplois Ashford, national secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of colored People was free on bond today after his arrest Wednesday on charges of disturbing the peace.

Ashford, 24, native of McCool, Miss., but presently living in Rochester, N.Y., was released by city police on a $500 cash bond.

Police said Ashford was ordered several times to leave the bus station waiting room before officers arrested him.

Medgar Evers, field secretary for the Mississippi NAACP, said the Justice Department would be asked to help in the case.

Absentee Ballots To Decide Charter In Prince Georges

UPPER MARLBORO, Md. (AP) — The outcome of the Prince Georges charter fight appears to depend on the counting of some 300 absentee ballots, which began Thursday.

Charter forces had gained enough votes to tie the 17-count difference before the count started when Election Board Supervisors took a lunch recess after counting 54 absentee ballots. The count then stood at 31 votes for, 14 against, and 9 did not vote.

The charter proposition trailed by 17 votes in Tuesday's balloting, according to complete but unofficial returns tallied Wednesday.

The closeness of the vote prompted an overnight police guard on the ballots.

Cuban Exile Groups May Combine

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—The head of the White Rose, first of about 200 anti-Castro organizations to be formed in exile, today suggested gradual unification of the groups.

"Let us coordinate by stages, but without delay," said Rafael Diaz Balart, who helped organize the White Rose within weeks after his former brother-in-law, Fidel Castro, took over Cuba in 1959.

Need for joint action "in this decisive hour," was emphasized by Diaz Balart in a communication to exiles.

He suggested coordination first of groups with similar concepts.

"Then let us get the coordination of two or three large groups so formed, even if their ideologies differ," he said.

"Let us tell the world powers that Cuba in exile answers present, above all ambitions, passions and hatred, to fight for freedom or perish in the attempt."

Diaz Balart is the brother of Castro's divorced wife, Mirta.

Attorneys Plead Case Of Mother Who Killed Deformed Child

LIEGE, Belgium (AP) — A defense attorney said Thursday a young mother acted only out of love when she poisoned her week-old thalidomide baby, born without arms.

Jean Derwal asked the jury in an emotion-packed courtroom here for acquittal of the mother, three relatives and the family doctor allegedly involved in the baby's death. The prosecution demanded a verdict of guilty, but suggested leniency.

"What the mother did to her child, she did because she loved her," the defense attorney said. "She could not imagine that baby growing up and being unable to play through lack of arms."

Prosecutor Leon Cappuyns told a 12-man jury the family and the doctor never gave the baby, Carinne Vandeput, a chance at life.

"Except for her very grave malformations, that baby was fit to live," he said.

"You must bring in a verdict of guilty because you must affirm that the principle of respect for life is sacred. The accused did not commit euthanasia. They never seriously examined the chances of the child in this world which struggles to alleviate suffering. You cannot acquit them."

The baby was born May 22. The mother, Suzanne Vandeput, 24, is charged with homicide. Her husband, Jean, 35; her sister, Mrs. Monique de la Marck, 26; her mother, Mrs. Fernande Coipel, 50, and Dr. Jacques Casters, 33, are charged with complicity in the case.

In his summation, Cappuyns said the grandmother and sister remarked shortly after the baby was born that her life should be taken.

Dr. Casters, the prosecutor said, gave barbiturates to the grandmother at the latter's request.

"He did not consult with other doctors," Cappuyns said. "He did not consult the child's mother."

Mrs. Vandeput is accused of putting the drugs into the baby's formula.

If the jury returns a guilty verdict, it then confers with the three judges to determine the sentences to be passed.

A verdict was not expected until Saturday.

"Thanks to Gas Heat

We're comfortable for the first time in seven years," say the George A. Bridgemans of New Martinsville, W. Va.

NEVER COMFORTABLE WITH ELECTRIC HEAT—"During the six years we had electric heat we were never really comfortable," states Mr. Bridgeman. "We would have changed to gas long ago but it wasn't available."

HOUSE CLEANER, FRESHER WITH GAS—"When we had electric heat it seemed that I was always dusting and cleaning," says Mrs. Bridgeman. "With gas I notice the house stays cleaner longer, and the rooms are fresh and sweet-smelling."

FAMILY'S HEALTH IMPROVES—"After gas heat was installed the children had fewer colds," reports Mrs. Bridgeman. "And we spent less for medicine," says Mr. Bridgeman.

$450 ANNUAL ELECTRIC COST—"During the winter we received bi-monthly electric bills ranging as high as $125," states Mr. Bridgeman. "And this didn't include heating the basement."

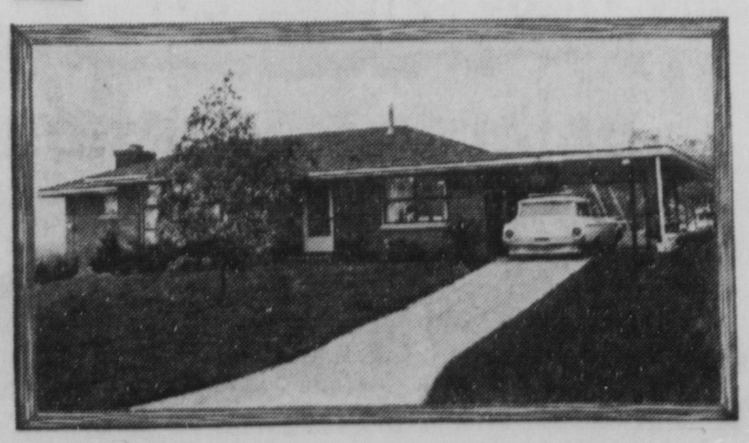

GAS HEAT MAKES BASEMENT USABLE—"We really enjoy being able to use our basement," says Mrs. Bridgeman. "And I don't mind paying the low gas heat bills (January, 1962 — $12.00, February — $16.49, March—$11.72)," says Mr. Bridgeman. "I just wish that gas was available long ago. It sure would have saved us a lot of time, money and inconvenience."

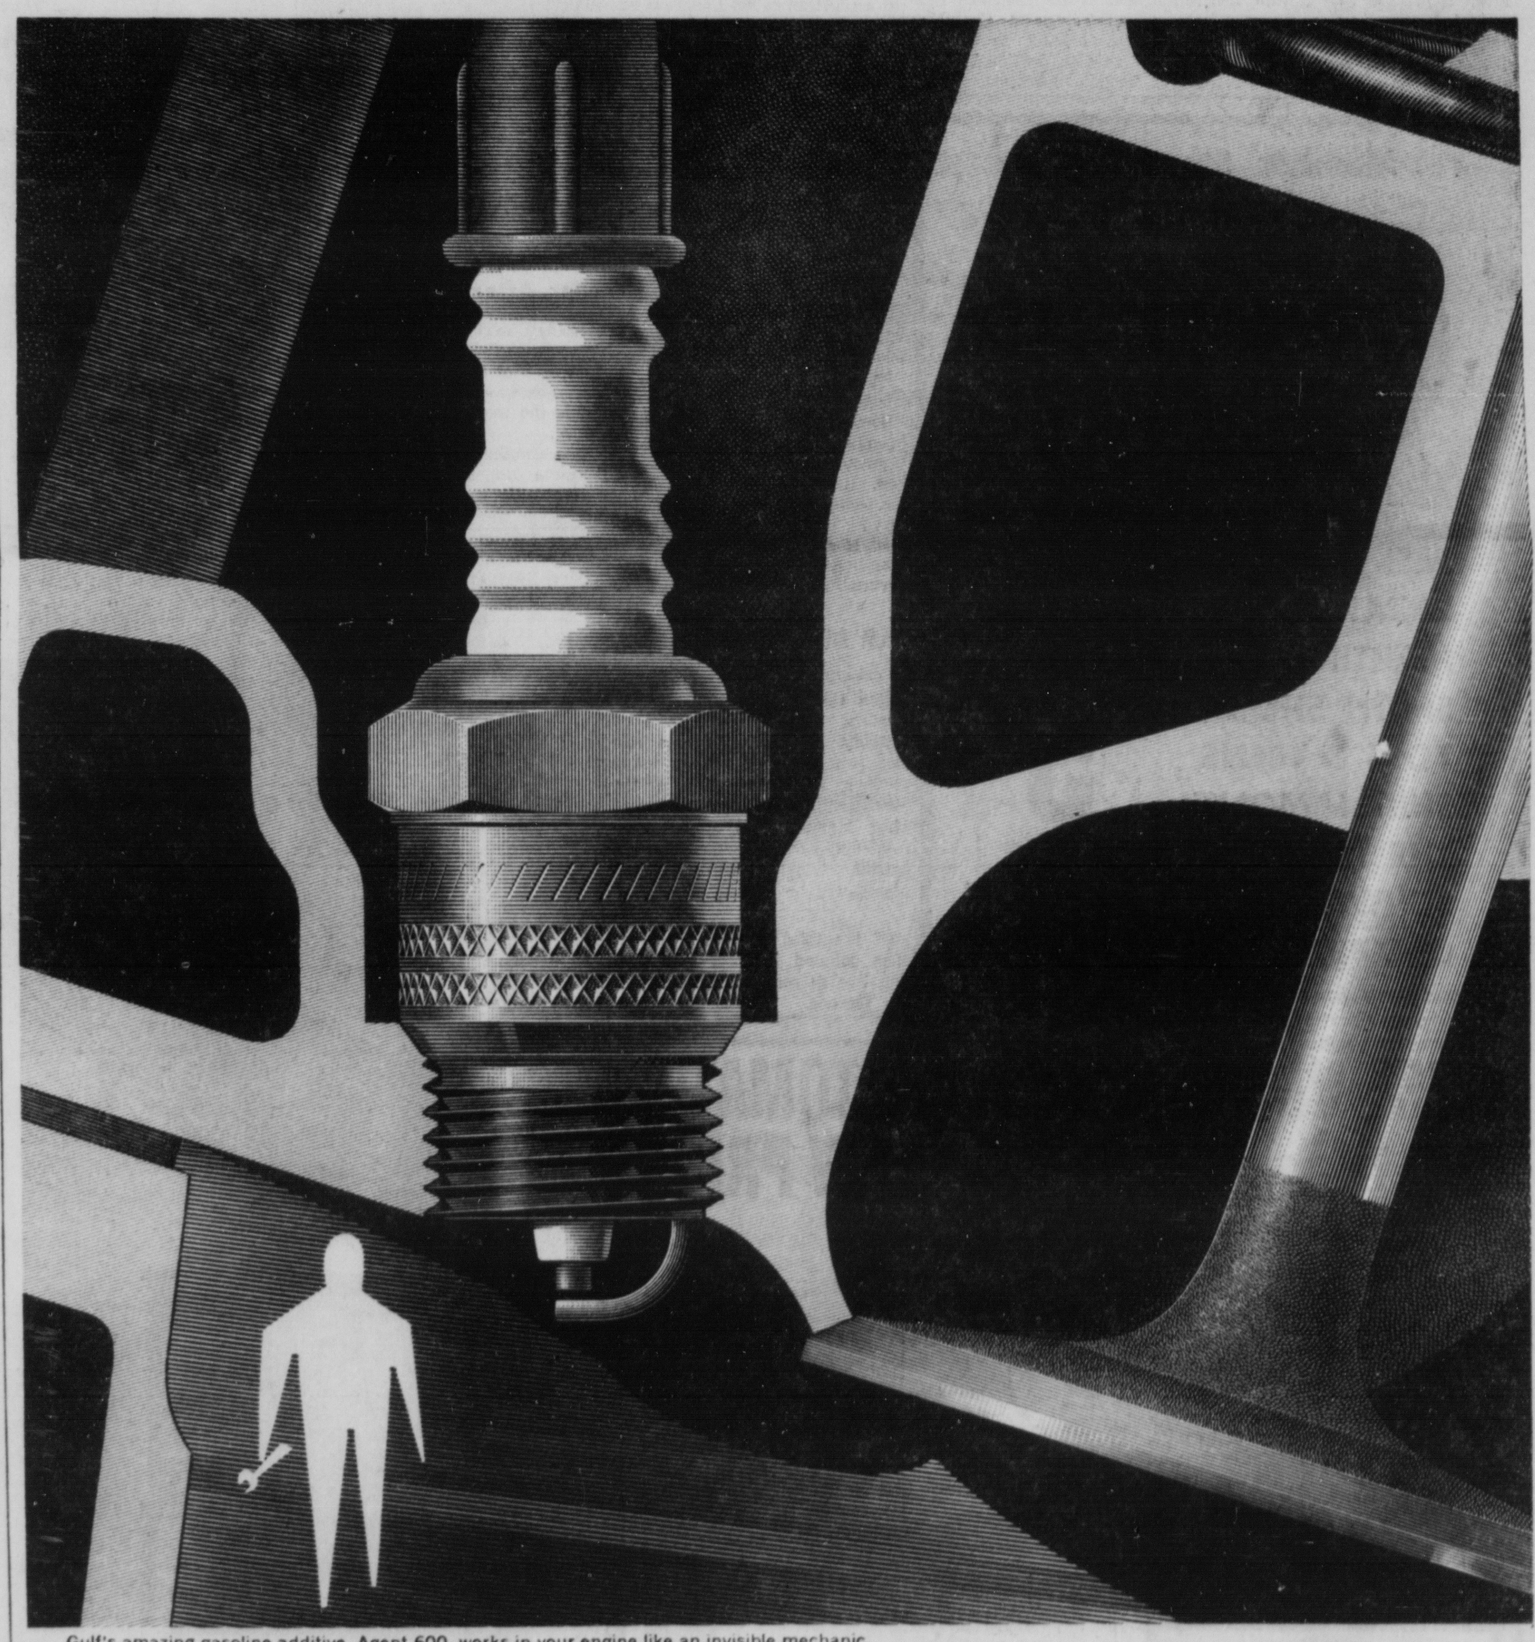

Gas heating can save you hundreds of dollars a year, compared with electric heating. If you're now heating with gas, you're already enjoying this big saving. If you're among the few using electricity, it's worth your while to consider changing.

The clot apparently was due to a concussion Jerry Campbell received in an Oct. 27 game.

Campbell, a sophomore at E. C. Glass High School, collapsed Wednesday night about 6:10 p.m. while tossing a football back and forth with teammates. There had been no bodily contact. He died in a hospital at 7:20 without recovering consciousness.

Jerry suffered a concussion while playing in the backfield for the Ft. Hill Kiwanis Club Little League team against the Lynchburg Elks Club. X rays taken at the time apparently didn't detect the clot.

Wednesday's practice was for a Saturday night game which would have benefitted a Christmas toy drive.

Soviet Believed Revising Strategy In Cold War

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

A thoroughgoing revision of Soviet world strategy may be in the making this month as a result of the jolt received by Moscow from the Cuban crisis.

Nikita Khrushchev's remarks at a Kremlin reception Wednesday night suggest that he and his followers have firmly reasserted their leadership, have taken a new hold on the reins and are determined to crack down on dissidents who demand reckless adventuring in the cold war.

Khrushchev's attitude and the tenor of official Soviet party press statements recently offer clues to Soviet thinking which may have profound bearing not only on immediate crises such as those in Berlin and Cuba, but on the whole course of the cold war.

It could mean Moscow is on the verge of a general—if wholly temporary—retreat for a variety of pressing reasons.

If so, that would signal another period of relaxed tensions which could last well into next year. It would be a new attempt, like so many in similar periods in the past, to persuade the Western world to lower its guard sufficiently to permit resumption of aggressive Communist action.

Khrushchev's remark at the reception that "a hard policy is not always best" seems, when coupled with party pronouncements since the Cuban crisis eased, a strong indication of what is on the Kremlin mind. There are a number of clues to support the thesis of a tactical Communist retreat. From what has taken place in Moscow in the past few days, this could be the picture:

— The Kremlin, with Khrushchev still in the top position, is losing patience with Communist China and probably has transmitted its displeasure in strong terms. It wants the Red Chinese border war with India brought to an end without delay. The balky Chinese, dependent as they are upon the U.S.S.R., may be obliged to find a way to comply.

—The Kremlin apparently is strongly resisting elements in the world Communist camp, including the East German Red leadership, who want a rapid and drastic solution in West Berlin, even at the risk of a new confrontation with the United States. In the wake of the Cuban drama, Khrushchev appears not ready for that.

— The Soviet Union has acknowledged failure of its policy up to now of attempting to force issues by brinkmanship. Khrushchev said at the reception he does not now want a summit meeting with President Kennedy, that he never did. But the indications had been all along that he was trying to force the President into a summit meeting. Indeed, at the outset of the Cuban crisis, he proposed one.

In brief, this seems a concession that the Kremlin's brinkmanship-plus-summitry campaign has not worked. New ways of carrying on the cold war by other means will have to be found.

New Trial Ordered For Williams

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—The Court of Appeals ordered Wednesday a new trial for a 27-year-old Baltimore man sentenced to die in the gas chamber for the slaying of a liquor store owner during a robbery.

Walter Thomas Williams was indicted by an Anne Arundel County Circuit Court jury of the slaying of Andrew Blondheim of Baltimore during a holdup March 16, 1961. The case was heard on change of venue from Baltimore City.

The state's high court said Judge Benjamin Michaelson erred in allowing testimony concerning Williams' earlier convictions to be introduced into the record over the objections of the defense.

Attorneys for Williams had objected "to this line of questioning," when the prosecutor asked Mrs. Henrietta Urine, who had reared Williams, if the accused had ever been in the House of Correction. Judge Michaelson overruled the objection.

Mitchell To Head Telephone Company

RICHMOND, Va. (UPI) — J. Rhodes Mitchell, vice president of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Co. of Virginia, will become president of the four C&P telephone companies operating in Virginia, Maryland, West Virginia and the District of Columbia.

Mitchell's promotion, announced Wednesday, will become effective Dec. 1.

Samuel E. Bonsack, assistant comptroller of the American Telephone and Telegraph Co., New York, was elected to succeed Mitchell as vice president of the C&P's Virginia operation.

Nehru Ousts Krishna Menon

NEW DELHI (UPI) — Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru bowed to party and public pressure Wednesday and ousted American-baiting V .K .Krishna Menon from the government. The move coincided with a major new peace feeler by the Peiping regime.

Krishna Menon, 65, blamed for Indian army unpreparedness which led to disastrous defeats in the undeclared border war with Communist China, was ousted as defense minister last week but remained in the government as minister of defense production.

Nehru made no public mention of the latest overture from Communist Chinese Premier Chou En-lai which Peiping Radio said was sent last Sunday. In it, according to the broadcast, Chou offered to withdraw Chinese troops back across the McMahon line if other conditions were met.

A spokesman, reporting at a news briefing on Nehru's report to a meeting of his Congress party parliamentary group, said the prime minister reaffirmed his position that there will be "no talks with the Chinese until they go back to the Sept. 8 line."

Communist China Supporting Castro

TOKYO (UPI) — Communist China Wednesday reaffirmed its support of Fidel Castro in a series of speeches and editorials that challenged the Soviet Union to prove its leadership of international communism by defending Cuba against American threats.

The statements were broadcast in observance of the 45th anniversary of the Bolshevik revolution. Ironically, the criticism of the Soviet in the Cuban affair followed "solidarity" messages exchanged by Communist chief Mao Tze-Tung and Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev.

HUNTINGTON, W.Va. (UPI)—Safecrackers stole an estimated $5,000 in charity money from the United Fund offices here Tuesday and police called the theft a "professional job."

Officials of the United Community Service organization said the robbery occurred between 5:30 p.m. when they closed the office and 8:30 when it was discovered. Police said thugs punched out the safe's combination lock.

Why do People with Plans choose a full service bank

for their savings?

People who save money usually fall into two groups. People without plans and people with plans.

The second group knows there's one type of financial institution that can act as a "financial partner" in carrying out these plans. This partner is a Full Service commercial bank (such as ours).

For example: When you want to buy a home, our bank is often the least expensive place to get the first mortgage money.

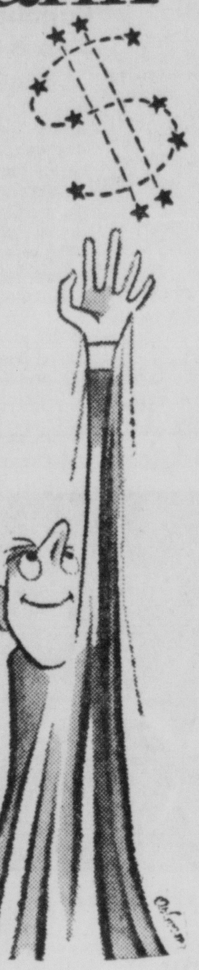

Or—when you want to buy a new car or take a trip, we can provide an auto or travel loan, usually at less cost.

Or—should you want to go into business for yourself, we can help analyze the new venture and if it looks promising, we can help you arrange the financing.

Why begin with a Full Service bank?

Unlike other types of savings institutions, a Full Service commercial bank is really a kind of "financial department store" dispensing money not just for one or two types of loans but for practically any legitimate venture that shows promise. Since it is a Full Service bank, it can offer every banking service from small checking accounts to huge industrial loans.

If your plans require complete banking service, you'd be a lot better off if you took advantage of our Full Service commercial bank for your savings account—and all your banking business.

The second group knows there's one type of financial institution that can act as a "financial partner" in carrying out these plans. This partner is a Full Service commercial bank (such as ours).

For example: When you want to buy a home, our bank is often the least expensive place to get the first mortgage money.

Or—when you want to buy a new car or take a trip, we can provide an auto or travel loan, usually at less cost.

Or—should you want to go into business for yourself, we can help analyze the new venture and if it looks promising, we can help you arrange the financing.

Why begin with a Full Service bank?

Unlike other types of savings institutions, a Full Service commercial bank is really a kind of "financial department store" dispensing money not just for one or two types of loans but for practically any legitimate venture that shows promise. Since it is a Full Service bank, it can offer every banking service from small checking accounts to huge industrial loans.

If your plans require complete banking service, you'd be a lot better off if you took advantage of our Full Service commercial bank for your savings account—and all your banking business.

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a bachelor, 42 and have been keeping company for three years with a pleasant but not beautiful widow who is 36. A few weeks ago we broke up over a misunderstanding.

We live in the same apartment building. About five nights a week she'd have me in for dinner. (I must say she was a fine little cook.) Three times in the last month she'd answer the telephone and say, "I'm sorry but you have the wrong number." Once I stood near the phone and I heard a man's voice. After these calls she always seemed flustered. I began to suspect she was having an affair on the sly. I told her so in plain language.

She broke down and wept and asked me to leave—for good. I phoned her twice last week but she was very distant and unfriendly. I guess I was a little hasty. Please help me fix things up. RED

Dear Red: Finding restaurant food a bit expensive?

How could this woman be having an affair behind your back when she was feeding your face in her apartment five nights a week? And when would she have time for "wrong numbers"?

You were "hasty"? Well, she was slow. She should have given you the air long ago.

Dear Ann Landers: My husband and I are college students who have refused to accept financial help from either of our parents. (Both sets of parents are well-heeled and willing.) We live in a crowded apartment, drive an old, beat-up car, and we both work 40 hours a week in addition to carrying a full load at school.

All around us we see young married couples on campus who are having a ball. They live in lovely apartments, drive new cars, have nice clothes and some even have a part-time maid. These kids are being put through school by their parents and neither man nor wife earns a dime.

Are we crazy? Sometimes we think we are paying a terrible price for our independence. My husband and I are both exhausted and we have a tough time dragging our weary bodies around. Do you think we should quit our jobs, tell the folks to send the moola and relax like the other professional students? ENID, OKLA

Dear Enid: Nobody ever died from working his way thruogh college. If you kids are finding the sledding too tough, give up. Perhaps if you worked 20 hours a week and accepted a LOAN from your folks, you might feel less heroic but better rested.

It's mighty sweet to be able to do it on your own—but you two sound resentful and bitter so where's the satisfaction?

Dear Ann Landers: When I was a child I believed in Santa Claus and the Tooth Fairy until I was 9 years old. I enjoyed the fantasies and it had no ill effect on my adult life.

Our children are 8, 7, and 5. We have taught them to believe in Santa and the Tooth Fairy. My husband's mother thinks this is nonsense and that children should not be told "lies." She "set straight" her own daughter's children and this caused some trouble in the family.

I don't want her to do this to our children. Soon enough they will learn what is real in life and what is fantasy. Do you feel I have the right to tell my mother-in-law to please stay off the subject? W. M.

Dear W. M.: Since it is your husband's mother, he should ask his mother to please stay off the subject.

It is the responsibility of the parents to teach and guide their children. No one should interfere, whether the area be religion, manners, discipline or fairy tales.

If alcohol is robbing you or someone you love of health and dignity, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "Help For The Alcoholic," enclosing with your request 20c in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Centre Street Church To Mark 180th Anniversary; Former Pastor To Speak

Centre Street Methodist Church will begin a weeklong observance of its 180th anniversary Sunday and a highlight of the celebration will be a congregation fellowship dinner next Thursday at 6:30 p.m.

Mrs. R. Finley Thompson is chairman of the anniversary committee which includes Rev. Carlton M. Harris, pastor, Roy W. Eves, Harry B. Simpson, Mrs. James W. Kirk, Mrs. Richard N. Whitcomb, Miss Mary Brengle, Miss Pearl Piper and John E. Byrd Jr.

Rev. Dr. Walter M. Michael, Kensington, former pastor of Centre Street Church, will speak at the Sunday morning services and the weeklong observance will end Sunday, November 18, when Bishop John Wesley Lord, of the Washington area of the Methodist Church, will speak.

Dr. Michael was pastor of Centre Street Church from June 1942 to June 1948. Prior to that time, he had been pastor of Oldtown Charge from April 1917 to April 1920 and during his pastorate, the church at Oldtown was erected. He later served Eldbrooke Church, Washington, D. C., for 11 years.

While at Centre Street, a debt of $42,500 was paid off on the Religious Education Building.

Dr. Michael temporarily retired from the ministry in 1948 because of ill health and after three years of recuperation in Florida, returned to Maryland and has been pastor of Bowie Methodist Church in Kensington.

His subject for Sunday's service will be "Commissioned and Equipped."

At the fellowship dinner next Thursday, greetings will be extended from four area pastors, Rev. John F. Sammel, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran Church; Rev. Maurice Robertson, pastor of First Presbyterian Church; Rev. T. Clifford Johnson, pastor of First Baptist Church and vice president of the Greater Cumberland Ministerial Association; and E. Kyle Sawyers, pastor of Zion Methodist Church and president of Cumberland Sub-District Methodist Ministerial Association.

Responses will be made by Rev. Harris, president of the Greater Cumberland Ministerial Association, and Mrs. Thompson.

During the dinner, a narration will be given concerning the history of the church. Participating will be George A. Caswell, Herbert Lehr and R. Finley Thompson. The narration was prepared by Mrs. Whitcomb. Master of ceremonies will be Edward L. Ewald, vice president of the official board.

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a bachelor, 42 and have been keeping company for three years with a pleasant but not beautiful widow who is 36. A few weeks ago we broke up over a misunderstanding.

We live in the same apartment building. About five nights a week she'd have me in for dinner. (I must say she was a fine little cook.) Three times in the last month she'd answer the telephone and say, "I'm sorry but you have the wrong number." Once I stood near the phone and I heard a man's voice. After these calls she always seemed flustered. I began to suspect she was having an affair on the sly. I told her so in plain language.

She broke down and wept and asked me to leave—for good. I phoned her twice last week but she was very distant and unfriendly. I guess I was a little hasty. Please help me fix things up. RED

Dear Red: Finding restaurant food a bit expensive?

How could this woman be having an affair behind your back when she was feeding your face in her apartment five nights a week? And when would she have time for "wrong numbers"?

You were "hasty"? Well, she was slow. She should have given you the air long ago.

Dear Ann Landers: My husband and I are college students who have refused to accept financial help from either of our parents. (Both sets of parents are well-heeled and willing.) We live in a crowded apartment, drive an old, beat-up car, and we both work 40 hours a week in addition to carrying a full load at school.

All around us we see young married couples on campus who are having a ball. They live in lovely apartments, drive new cars, have nice clothes and some even have a part-time maid. These kids are being put through school by their parents and neither man nor wife earns a dime.

Are we crazy? Sometimes we think we are paying a terrible price for our independence. My husband and I are both exhausted and we have a tough time dragging our weary bodies around. Do you think we should quit our jobs, tell the folks to send the moola and relax like the other professional students?

ENID, OKLA

Dear Enid: Nobody ever died from working his way thruogh college. If you kids are finding the sledding too tough, give up. Perhaps if you worked 20 hours a week and accepted a LOAN from your folks, you might feel less heroic but better rested.

It's mighty sweet to be able to do it on your own—but you two sound resentful and bitter so where's the satisfaction?

Dear Ann Landers: When I was a child I believed in Santa Claus and the Tooth Fairy until I was 9 years old. I enjoyed the fantasies and it had no ill effect on my adult life.

Our children are 8, 7, and 5. We have taught them to believe in Santa and the Tooth Fairy. My husband's mother thinks this is nonsense and that children should not be told "lies." She "set straight" her own daughter's children and this caused some trouble in the family.

I don't want her to do this to our children. Soon enough they will learn what is real in life and what is fantasy. Do you feel I have the right to tell my mother-in-law to please stay off the subject? W. M.

Dear W. M.: Since it is your husband's mother, he should ask his mother to please stay off the subject.

It is the responsibility of the parents to teach and guide their children. No one should interfere, whether the area be religion, manners, discipline or fairy tales.

If alcohol is robbing you or someone you love of health and dignity, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "Help For The Alcoholic," enclosing with your request 20c in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Centre Street Church To Mark 180th Anniversary; Former Pastor To Speak

Centre Street Methodist Church will begin a weeklong observance of its 180th anniversary Sunday and a highlight of the celebration will be a congregation fellowship dinner next Thursday at 6:30 p.m.

Mrs. R. Finley Thompson is chairman of the anniversary committee which includes Rev. Carlton M. Harris, pastor, Roy W. Eves, Harry B. Simpson, Mrs. James W. Kirk, Mrs. Richard N. Whitcomb, Miss Mary Brengle, Miss Pearl Piper and John E. Byrd Jr.

Rev. Dr. Walter M. Michael, Kensington, former pastor of Centre Street Church, will speak at the Sunday morning services and the weeklong observance will end Sunday, November 18, when Bishop John Wesley Lord, of the Washington area of the Methodist Church, will speak.

Dr. Michael was pastor of Centre Street Church from June 1942 to June 1948. Prior to that time, he had been pastor of Oldtown Charge from April 1917 to April 1920 and during his pastorate, the church at Oldtown was erected. He later served Eldbrooke Church, Washington, D. C., for 11 years.

While at Centre Street, a debt of $42,500 was paid off on the Religious Education Building.

Dr. Michael temporarily retired from the ministry in 1948 because of ill health and after three years of recuperation in Florida, returned to Maryland and has been pastor of Bowie Methodist Church in Kensington.

His subject for Sunday's service will be "Commissioned and Equipped."

At the fellowship dinner next Thursday, greetings will be extended from four area pastors, Rev. John F. Sammel, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran Church; Rev. Maurice Robertson, pastor of First Presbyterian Church; Rev. T. Clifford Johnson, pastor of First Baptist Church and vice president of the Greater Cumberland Ministerial Association; and E. During the dinner, a narration will be given concerning the history of the church. Participating will be George A. Caswell, Herbert Lehr and R. Finley Thompson. The narration was prepared by Mrs. Whitcomb. Master of ceremonies will be Edward L. Ewald, vice president of the official board.

Who'd Risk Being Mayor?

KINMUNDY, Ill. (AP)—It was difficult for this town of 800 persons to find a third mayor, especially since the office was taking on the aspect of a jinx.

Mayor Fred Grissom was confined to his winter home in Blanco, Tex., after a car accident. The acting mayor, Harvey Hanna, was hospitalized after two hogs attacked him.

At one time the ancient Romans passed a law governing the color of women's dresses that could be worn at parties and funerals.

The bidding:

East	South	West	North
Pass	1 ♠	4 ♡	4 NT
Pass	5 ♣	Pass	6 ♣
Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Ace of ♡.

The roadblock which West threw in his opponents' path during the auction backfired in a strange manner in today's hand.

Under the cover of favorable vulnerability, West jumped to four hearts over South's opening one spade bid. This action placed North in a distinct quandary for, tho his sights were set on a slam, West's leap had effectively deprived him of all convenient avenues of exploration.

North finally decided to bid four no trump which he intended as a Blackwood call for aces. If South turned up with the missing ace of hearts, then North could proceed with assurance.

South responded with five clubs to designate no aces. North knew now that his side lacked first round control of hearts, but it seemed highly unlikely to him that South could muster the material for an opening bid from the outstanding high card strength, unless he held either the king of hearts or else a singleton in that suit.

If North were to be the declarer at a slam contract, then South's possession of the king of hearts would not provide adequate protection inasmuch as it would be subject to attack on the opening lead. However, North's Blackwood call had elicited an artificial response in clubs from his partner and, since South was the first to name this suit, North was able to transfer the play to the other side of the table by merely proceeding to six clubs. With West on lead the defense had no profitable mode of attack. The decision to open the ace of hearts was a wise one for, in the absence of that lead, declarer can take all the tricks.

Had North played the hand in a club contract, he would have been held to 10 tricks, with a heart opening. After West takes the first two rounds of hearts, he continues the suit and East cannot be prevented from winning another trick with the jack of clubs on an overruff.

Finan's Election Considered Outstanding

Tuesday's election of Thomas B. Finan as attorney general of Maryland was hailed yesterday as a "feather in the cap" of the former Cumberland city solicitor as a vote-getter.

Although he served the past two years of Governor Tawes' administration as attorney general and the first two years as secretary of state, both of the posts were appointive.

Tuesday's election marked the first time the local Democrat had ever been a candidate for office and his showing is considered outstanding.

The attorney general, regarded statewide as a top candidate for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination in 1966, polled 64.2 per cent more votes in Tuesday's election than his Republican opponent, Martin A. Ferris 3d. His plurality in votes was 165,210.

Of the Democrats elected to state-wide offices, comptroller Louis L. Goldstein and U. S. Senator-elect Daniel Brewster had a slightly better percentage. Goldstein, with a 174,544 vote plurality, was 66 per cent better than David C. Champion, while Brewster, with a plurality of 173,820 votes, had a 64.7 advantage over Edward T. Miller.

Both Goldstein and Brewster, however, have had previous experience in seeking elective office.

Carlton R. Sickles, in defeating Republican Newton I. Steers for the newly-created post of congressman at large, had a 27 per cent margin and 81,112 plurality.

Governor Tawes, in being elected to a second straight term, had an 87,523 plurality over Republican Frank Small Jr. and a 26 per cent advantage.

On a county basis, Finan fared better than any of the other successful Democrats. He lost only two counties—Montgomery, which all of the elected Demos lost, and neighboring Garrett.

Goldstein was beaten in Allegany and Garrett, in addition to Montgomery, while Brewster dropped Allegany, Garrett, Somerset and Talbot.

Governor Tawes was on the short end of the vote total in six counties—Allegany, Garrett, Carroll, Charles, Howard and Montgomery. Sickles lost nine — Allegany, Carroll, Charles, Frederick, Garrett, Howard, Montgomery, Talbot and Washington.

Finan carried his home county, 13,144 to 10,676 and lost Garrett by 562 votes—2,897 to 2,335. In Montgomery, the former city attorney polled 45,084 votes to 47,998 for Ferris.

All of them were big winners in Baltimore City, with Brewster being the leader. He was backed by 136,470 voters while Tawes had the support of 135,696.

Here are the final unofficial figures from the state's 1,458 polling places for the Democratic winners and their opponents:

GOVERNOR
Tawes	428,329
Small	340,806
U. S. SENATE
Brewster	442,328
Miller	268,508
ATTORNEY GENERAL
Finan	422,376
Ferris	257,166
COMPTROLLER
Goldstein	435,476
Champion	260,932
CONGRESSMAN AT LARGE
Sickles	386,031
Steers	304,969

Dispossessed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The gray squirrels, residents of Ohio's Statehouse lawn and trees for half a century, have been evicted in the face of progress.

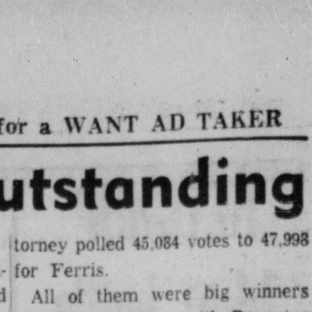

The trees, which hold about 85 nest boxes, will be removed in the construction of an underground garage.

The squirrels have been distributed among four parks of the Columbus Metropolitan Park board.

Civil War Monuments

FRANKFORT, Ky (AP) — The state will erect 54 historical markers in the next three years at Civil War sites. The first, set up recently at Frankfort, commemorated the execution in 1864 of four Confederate prisoners in reprisal for the murder by guerrillas of a Union sympathizer.

1962 Heart Fund Drive Sets Record In Nation

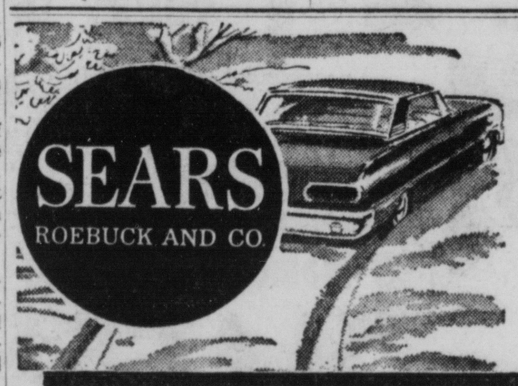

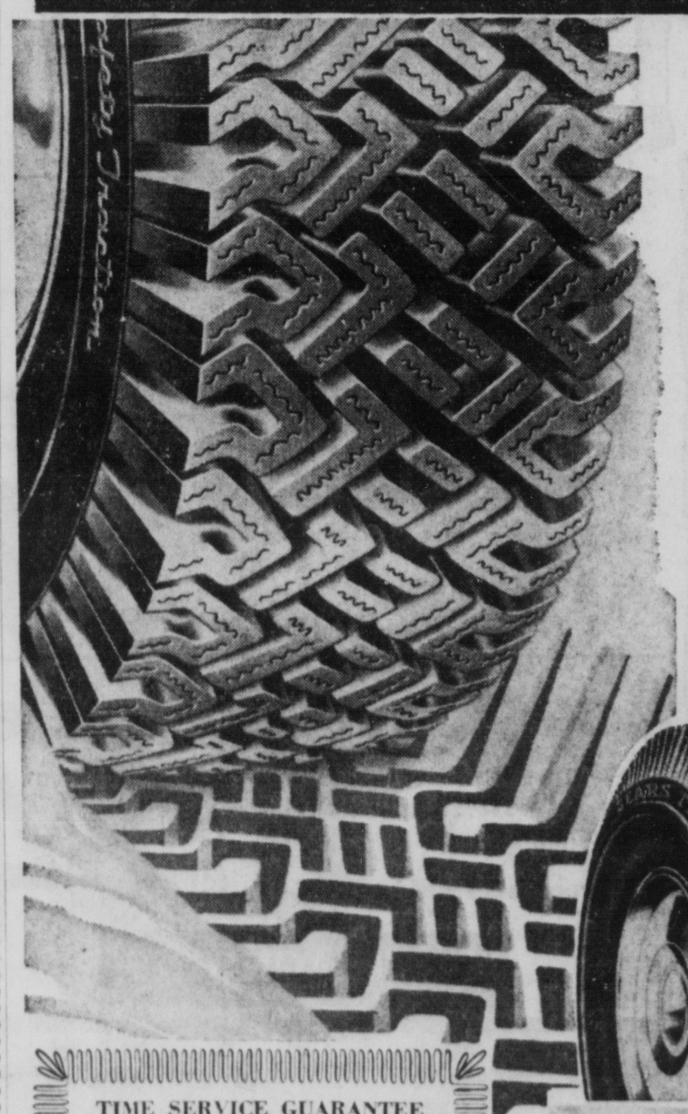

A record total of $27,135,317 was contributed to the 1962 fund campaign conducted by American Heart Association and its affiliates. Of this amount $21,054.85 was contributed by Allegany-Garrett County, according to James W. Webster, fund chairman.

The sum represents a gain of $695,386 or 2.66 per cent over the $26,439,931 contributed in 1961. About $9,600,000 or 35.4 per cent of the total was collected from the neighborhood canvass conducted on Heart Sunday.

The campaign results were announced by Donald C. Power, national campaign chairman and chairman and chief executive officer of General Telephone and Electronics Corporation.

Mr. Powers paid tribute to the public and to Heart Fund volunteers. He said the generous response "reaffirms their confidence in the Heart Association as the only national voluntary organization fighting all the cardiovascular diseases, heart attack, stroke, high blood pressure, rheumatic heart disease and congestive heart failure."

Since 1948 more than 75 million fund dollars have been spent for research, contributing to the great prograss made in saving hearts through new methods of diagnosis and treatment, Mr. Powers pointed out.

Who'd Risk Being Mayor?

KINMUNDY, Ill. (AP)—It was difficult for this town of 800 persons to find a third mayor, especially since the office was taking on the aspect of a jinx.

Mayor Fred Grissom was confined to his winter home in Blanco, Tex., after a car accident. The acting mayor, Harvey Hanna, was hospitalized after two hogs attacked him.

At one time the ancient Romans passed a law governing the color of women's dresses that could be worn at parties and funerals.

The bidding:

East	South	West	North
Pass	1 ♠	4 ♡	4 NT
Pass	5 ♣	Pass	6 ♣
Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Ace of ♡

The roadblock which West threw in his opponents' path during the auction backfired in a strange manner in today's hand.

Under the cover of favorable vulnerability, West jumped to four hearts over South's opening one spade bid. This action placed North in a distinct quandary for, tho his sights were set on a slam, West's leap had effectively deprived him of all convenient avenues of exploration.

North finally decided to bid four no trump which he intended as a Blackwood call for aces. If South turned up with the missing ace of hearts, then North could proceed with assurance.

South responded with five clubs to designate no aces. North knew now that his side lacked first round control of hearts, but it seemed highly unlikely to him that South could muster the material for an opening bid from the outstanding high card strength, unless he held either the king of hearts or else a singleton in that suit.

If North were to be the declarer at a slam contract, then South's possession of the king of hearts would not provide adequate protection inasmuch as it would be subject to attack on the opening lead. However, North's Blackwood call had elicited an artificial response in clubs from his partner and, since South was the first to name this suit, North was able to transfer the play to the other side of the table by merely proceeding to six clubs. With West on lead the defense had no profitable mode of attack. The decision to open the ace of hearts was a wise one for, in the absence of that lead, declarer can take all the tricks.

Had North played the hand in a club contract, he would have been held to 10 tricks, with a heart opening. After West takes the first two rounds of hearts, he continues the suit and East cannot be prevented from winning another trick with the jack of clubs on an overruff.

Finan's Election Considered Outstanding

Tuesday's election of Thomas B. Finan as attorney general of Maryland was hailed yesterday as a "feather in the cap" of the former Cumberland city solicitor as a vote-getter.

Although he served the past two years of Governor Tawes' administration as attorney general and the first two years as secretary of state, both of the posts were appointive.

Tuesday's election marked the first time the local Democrat had ever been a candidate for office and his showing is considered outstanding.

The attorney general, regarded statewide as a top candidate for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination in 1966, polled 64.2 per cent more votes in Tuesday's election than his Republican opponent, Martin A. Ferris 3d. His plurality in votes was 165,210.

Of the Democrats elected to state-wide offices, comptroller Louis L. Goldstein and U. S. Senator-elect Daniel Brewster had a slightly better percentage. Goldstein, with a 174,544 vote plurality, was 66 per cent better than David C. Champion, while Brewster, with a plurality of 173,820 votes, had a 64.7 advantage over Edward T. Miller.

Both Goldstein and Brewster, however, have had previous experience in seeking elective office.

Carlton R. Sickles, in defeating Republican Newton I. Steers for the newly-created post of congressman at large, had a 27 per cent margin and 81,112 plurality.

Governor Tawes, in being elected to a second straight term, had an 87,523 plurality over Republican Frank Small Jr. and a 26 per cent advantage.

On a county basis, Finan fared better than any of the other successful Democrats. He lost only two counties—Montgomery, which all of the elected Demos lost, and neighboring Garrett.

Goldstein was beaten in Allegany and Garrett, in addition to Montgomery, while Brewster dropped Allegany, Garrett, Somerset and Talbot.

Governor Tawes was on the short end of the vote total in six counties—Allegany, Garrett, Carroll, Charles, Howard and Montgomery. Sickles lost nine — Allegany, Carroll, Charles, Frederick, Garrett, Howard, Montgomery, Talbot and Washington.

Finan carried his home county, 13,144 to 10,676 and lost Garrett by 562 votes—2,897 to 2,335. In Montgomery, the former city attorney polled 45,084 votes to 47,998 for Ferris.

All of them were big winners in Baltimore City, with Brewster being the leader. He was backed by 136,470 voters while Tawes had the support of 135,696.

Here are the final unofficial figures from the state's 1,458 polling places for the Democratic winners and their opponents:

GOVERNOR
Tawes	428,329
Small	340,806
U. S. SENATE
Brewster	442,328
Miller	268,508
ATTORNEY GENERAL
Finan	422,376
Ferris	257,166
COMPTROLLER

Dispossessed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The gray squirrels, residents of Ohio's Statehouse lawn and trees for half a century, have been evicted in the face of progress.

The trees, which hold about 85 nest boxes, will be removed in the construction of an underground garage.

The squirrels have been distributed among four parks of the Columbus Metropolitan Park board.

Civil War Monuments

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — The state will erect 54 historical markers in the next three years at Civil War sites. The first, set up recently at Frankfort, commemorated the execution in 1864 of four Confederate prisoners in reprisal for the murder by guerrillas of a Union sympathizer.

Levee Prosecution Ruled

The Mayor and Council of Ridgeley Wednesday voted to press prosecution of individuals found trespassing on the levee and other property of the Cumberland-Ridgeley flood protection project.

Council instructed Police Chief Lawrence Y. Chandler to apprehend any person trespassing on the flood project ground, regardless of the age of the person.

The action was taken following reports of damage to the flood wall and grounds, believed resulting from children playing on the sloping walls of the levee.

The flags of the member nations of the United Nations are raised in alphabetical order.

They said a fire originated under the car near the emergency brakes. The car is owned by G. W. Winters, 701 Gephart Drive, according to firemen, who received the call at 2:18 p. m.

Vote Affects Appointive Jobs; 3 Republicans Take Office Dec. 4

The turnover in the control of the Allegany County Board of Commissioners to the Republicans as a result of Tuesday's vote will affect a number of appointive jobs.

The GOP commissioners, Louis V. Shinnamon, Robert Little Ebert and Russell H. Carder will take office on Tuesday, December 4.

One appointive job over which the GOP will have control is county tax collector. The Allegany County Board of Alcoholic Beverage License Commissioners will have two of the three members as Republicans when the next opening on the board occurs in 1963. Mrs. Rose Hay, the Democrat, will be ending her term of office next year.

One of the big plums will be attorney to the county commissioners and there has been no decision reached on this appointment, according to informed sources.

The Democrats will continue to hold on to the majority they have on the Board of Election Supervisors, the Board of Education and also the magistrates. All of these are based on the party holding power in Annapolis. In this case it is Gov. Tawes who will make these appointments, based on recommendations of the Democratic State Central Committee of Allegany County.

The attorneys to the Election Board and School Board are appointments which will be made by the board members.

Appointments to the various county agencies such as the Civil Service Commission, Sanitary Commission, Planning and Zoning Commission will also be affected by the Republican county control.

Larry Haines, seen as Stu Bergman on "The Search for Tomorrow," has been heard on more than 15,000 radio programs dating back to 1941.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Let Letters Be On Your Paper

Informality is all very well, but there are certain traditions — based upon simple good manners —that must be observed. Certain letters fall into the "traditional category.

You must write "thank you for the gift." Even the most trifling remembrance deserves a thank-you note, penned in sincere terms.

A second "must" is the bread-and-butter letter. Entertaining even one's oldest friend overnight involves a bit of extra work, and a hostess likes to know that her hospitality is appreciated.

If a friend gives you a letter of introduction, or shows special courtesy to a member of your family, by all means write a note to express your gratitude.

A written invitation, if informal, may sometimes be answered by telephone. But imagine a young bride replying by phone to a written dinner invitation from her husband's employer! It is usually better to acknowledge a written invitation with a written reply.

To be correct, a handwritten note or your personal greeting card should accompany a gift. On the occasion of a birth, a new job, or a graduation, a letter is the gracious way to express your pleasure.

Perhaps the most appreciated of all letters are those written to cheer a friend in the hospital, or to extend sympathy when there has been a death in the family.

Besides these traditional forms of correspondence, there are the purely social letters you write. Every letter from a friend deserves a letter in reply. But don't wait until it is "your turn." Write when you feel the urge!

Choose your writing paper with great care, for it is a personal belonging. For all practical purposes you need have only two kinds: one for business letters, a second for personal correspondence. However, I think it a fine idea to have a "wardrobe" of letter paper to suit mood and occasion. Brief note sheets, for example, are useful for "thank-you's," congratulations, and informal invitations.

White letter paper is proper for formal correspondence. For other correspondence, the color of the paper you use is your own concern. Cheerful letters deserve to look the part. Do stay away from the elaborate design (it shouts) and the loud color (it screams) . . . let the hue and quality of your paper reflect taste and a pleasing personality, via the mails.

Non-Support Conviction Upheld

George Robert Keller, 209 Spring Street, was found guilty yesterday by Associate Judge W. Earle Cobey on a charge of failure to support his wife and three minor children.

Keller had appealed from Juvenile Court where Magistrate Louis A. Fatkin sentenced him to one year in the Maryland House of Correction October 24.

Judge Cobey in Circuit Court imposed a one-year sentence in the House of Correction but suspended it provided Keller observes a number of provisions. He stipulated that Keller be of good behavior, refrain from the use of intoxicating beverages, stay away from associates who use intoxicating beverages, attend church regularly, obtain employment, and contribute at least $10 a week through Juvenile Court for support of his wife and children.

Two Cumberland Newspapermen Recall West Va. Visit Of Eleanor Roosevelt

It has been approximately 25 years since two Cumberland newspapermen, J. William Hunt, former editor of The Sunday Times, and his successor to that post, Gene Gunning, traveled to Arthurdale, W. Va., a little community between Morgantown and Kingwood, to hear and see President Franklin D. Roosevelt deliver the address to Arthurdale High's first graduation class.

In addition, they had been assured by the late Mansfield M. Neeley, former U. S. senator from West Virginia, that he would arrange for them to spend a few moments in the company of the President at an informal press party.

The opportunity to meet FDR was the magnet that prompted the pair to make the trip, but to this day their sharpest and most cherished memories are the hours they spent watching and listening to one of the greatest of the nation's "First Ladies," Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, who died Wednesday in New York City.

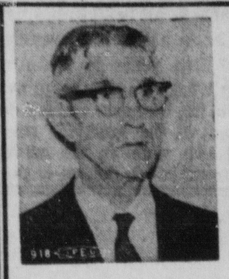

The "Kennedy Girls" of today are fabulous, they admit, but their feeling is that if you'd roll them all into one you wouldn't have an accurate composite of Eleanor Roosevelt in natural charm, vigor, energy and color.

Arriving at Arthurdale the evening before the graduation exercises they found Mrs. Roosevelt already roaming all over the place. Arthurdale was a project Mrs. Roosevelt conceived and completed for the rehabilitation of miners and farmers in that depressed area. It included an inn to supply employment, new homes and buildings for small industry.

The President was to arrive in a special railroad car with his retinue, but Mrs. Roosevelt reached the community a full day in advance in her open convertible with a traveling companion. She had no Secret Service men to follow and protect her. In fact, the two Cumberlanders recall that it would have taken a detail of ten operatives working 24 hours a day to come close to meeting the pace she set.

The evening was marked by a square dance in the school gymnasium, and one of the first on the floor was Mrs. Roosevelt, and despite the fact that she was in her early 50's at the time she was on the floor continuously for nearly two hours. A couple of newsmen, fortified by a little moonshine they happened to find on the premises—a situation that only added to their clumsiness, were welcomed to Mrs. Roosevelt's group, but had to drop out after a couple sets even though they were in their 20's and 30's.

To this day Hunt and Gunning are a little vague about their meeting with the President, but both have vivid memories of trying to keep up with the nation's "Great First Lady."

Thanks!

I wish to thank each person for your generous support to final victory for Judge of the Orphans Court.

The evening was marked by a square dance in the school gymnasium, and one of the first on the floor was Mrs. Roosevelt, and despite the fact that she was in her early 50's at the time she was on the floor continuously for nearly two hours. A couple of newsmen, fortified by a little moonshine they happened to find on the premises—a situation that only added to their clumsiness, were welcomed to Mrs. Roosevelt's group, but had to drop out after a couple sets even though they were in their 20's and 30's.

To this day Hunt and Gunning are a little vague about their meeting with the President, but both have vivid memories of trying to keep up with the nation's "Great First Lady."

Thanks!

I wish to thank each person for your generous support to final victory for Judge of the Orphans Court.

A Liability That Became An Asset

When the Cuban crisis first flared, an incident little noted except in the grain trade served as a reminder of this fact: that's America's surplus of crops in storage is an asset as well as a liability.

The incident was a temporary suspension by the Commodity Credit Corp. of sales of corn and feed grain held in storage. The CCC said: "We just want to stop and review our supply needs and see what may happen on the Cuban matter."

Shortly thereafter sales were resumed. But Washington and private commodity experts began discussing the question of whether wheat acreage reductions planned for 1963 shouldn't be abandoned.

On October 1 the U. S. was holding more than two billion bushels of wheat in storage. This was a decrease of 11 per cent from a year previous, though well above the average of slightly more than 1.7 billion bushels on the same date between 1951 and 1960.

Some persons who had been viewing this decrease as good and as only a spur to more massive reductions now are doing some rethinking. They recall that it takes more than 1.2 billion bushels a year just to satisfy normal domestic and export needs.

With such a yardstick, the supply of two billion bushels does not seem so huge. It becomes an enormous strategic asset for possible use during a new round of cold war alarms.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

The Problem Of Survival

Machiavelli was a moralist who was trying to raise the banner of national survival in a period of universal debasement. For instance, he wrote:

"For when on the decision to be taken wholly depends the survival of one's country, no consideration should be given either to justice or injustice, to kindness or cruelty, or to its being praiseworthy or ignominious, but rather, any other thought being set aside, that alternative should be followed utterly which will save its existence and preserve its freedom."

Survival and the preservation of freedom are our problems today. It can be said that, by and large, the American people are not quite conscious of the danger that faces us or the enormity of our task. Americans tend to believe that it cannot happen to them, but it did happen to Great Britain which in half a century sank from the greatest power on Earth to a lesser power militarily and economically. Soviet Russia, which was not to be reckoned with in 1917, is today our principal competitor and rival.

The fault undoubtedly lay in our general ignorance of geography. We think in terms of the steamship and the Atlantic Ocean rather than of the jet transport plane and the North Pole. On a globe our near neighbor is Soviet Russia, only a few hours away from us.

Even wise and experienced men sometimes disregard geophysical facts which "run against nature" and their beliefs. Napoleon, for instance, had no appreciation of the newly developed steamboat, just as some of our military officers, after World War I, fought hard to retain the horse despite the development of the tank. Both Americans and Canadians too often forget that in the next war, from the air and from space, they will look like one and will be treated accordingly.

History is replete with the rise and fall of Great Empires which come into existence on the rise of the spirit of a small people who push forward in search of land or population or slaves or food. Then comes a second period of imperialism; that is, when wealth and leisure produce art, literature, music, Lucullian living, overemphasis on sex. Imperialism takes the form of a distinctive civilization or religious idea. At some point the advance runs out. The usual cause is a rotteness within, an inability to live up to national ideals. Just as Rome was overthrown by the so-called barbarians, so was Spain ruined by too much gold and the little island off the coast of France and Scandinavia called England.

Great Powers have been reduced by lesser powers at certain periods of degeneracy in their history. After all, it is a sad moment in our history, that a pimple on the world's map, Cuba, dares to challenge our existence and is capable of obtaining the means to make that challenge so effective that we contemplate going to war over it.

Perhaps the greatest weakness of our culture is the unwillingness of our people to work long hours and the inappropriate use of leisure. The theory of short hours was sound at two periods: one, was during the Presidency of William McKinley when the eight-hour day became a major political issue. In fact, it was about this time that child labor and woman labor also became political issues.

The second period was during the Roosevelt Administration when the "spread-the-work" doctrine was adopted with a view to lessening unemployment by providing some work for as many as possible. The "spread-the-work" doctrine, as a temporary measure, was probably sound, but it encouraged inefficiency and reduction of the use of human skills because most workers lack skill. In fact, skills disappear and have to be replaced by automatic devices.

Now we come to a period when the worker becomes non-productive in comparison to the automatic machine. The worker demands increasing pay to cover "time" rather than skill. But time is hardly worth paying for. A distortion in the pay scales produced higher pay for an unskilled worker, such as a truck driver, compared to returns for such skills as a physicist or a chemist, a school teacher or a policeman. This distortion has tended to create moral confusions in our society such as a teachers' strike or a policemen's strike. Nevertheless, the distortion is protected by government officials whose measure of right is their election to office. This is a symptom of decadence.

Kremlin Gets Cuba Storm Signal In Verse

By Joseph Alsop

WASHINGTON.

The Cuba-born tensions in the Kremlin were quite probably first revealed in the oddest possible manner—by the publication of a long, very bad poem in the sacred columns of Pravda.

Pravda's publication of "Stalin's Inheritors" by Yvegeni Yevtushenko has already received some notice, as was only proper. It was a most meaningful event, even without its hitherto unsuspected Cuban background.

The poem's elephantingly clumsy central image depicts Stalin in his grave, "just taking a nap, to rest a little," with a telephone conveniently placed by his side, to "impart his instructions" to his "many inheritors." In the Soviet Union, official publication of this sort of thing has profound political implication; and Yevtuschenko's limping but virtuously anti-Stalinist verse must be read with this in mind.

But there is more in this poem than the public warning to the Kremlin's neo-Stalinists, which has already been so widely commented on. To begin with, the leader of the neo-Stalinist faction in the Soviet Presidium appears to be pinpointed, for the first time on record, in the following lines:

Some of (Stalin's) inheritors, in retirement, are pruning roses,
But secretly they consider this retirement only temporary.
Others are even cursing Stalin from the rostrum,
But when they are alone, at night, they yearn for the old times.

Obviously, nowadays, it is for good reason that Stalin's inheritors have heart failure.

On reading this passage in the Yevtushenko poem, every Soviet Communist must instantly have recalled that Soviet Deputy Premier Frol Koslov suffered a severe heart attack some months ago. This burly Leningrad leader and Presidium member, who has duly "cursed Stalin from the rostrum," was once indicated by Khrushchev as his intended successor, in a conversation with Gov. Averell Harriman. Koslov is generally regarded as a conservative-hard-liner among the American experts on Kremlin demonology.

If the Yevtushenko poem was indeed intended to pinpoint Koslov, as seems pretty certain, there has been nothing quite like this in the Soviet Union for many years. The search for precedence would have to go back to the remote days of almost open party controversy, before Stalin eliminated his rivals. What makes the development even more striking is the peculiarity of its timing, which has also been missed thus far.

In brief, the Yevtushenko poem appeared in Pravda on Oct. 21, just one day before what may be called the public beginning of the Cuban crisis with President Kennedy's Monday speech to the nation. Within the Kremlin, however, the Cuban crisis must actually have begun several days before the President's public speech.

As already revealed in this space, there was only one crucial, missing part in the Kremlin's ingenious and ruthless scheme to use Cuba for a political-strategic Pearl Harbor. The command and control system of the already-emplaced SA-II anti-aircraft missiles had not been completed on schedule, before construction began on the Soviet ballistic missile sites. Thus the SA-IIs were not ready to shoot down our intruding U-2s, and the Soviet scheme therefore failed.

But although the SA-II command and control system was not operational until Saturday, Oct. 27, their radars were in good order long before Oct. 14, when a new ballistic missile base was first sighted by an American U-2. Following the Oct. 14 U-2 flight, moreover, the SA-II's radars had plenty to look at; for the schedule of U-2 flights over Cuba was at once increased to six missions per day, in order to cover the whole island with utmost speed.

Although the SA-IIs were not ready to track or shoot down the U-2s, their radars could see the U. S. planes if they happened to pass through the radar beams. It is known that this happened more than once. Thus the Kremlin must have had word that the U. S. government had probably penetrated the great Cuban secret, at least four or five days before the President spoke to the nation.

During the same breathless days, the fleeting radar evidence was confirmed for the Kremlin, beyond much doubt, by the special emphasis the President placed on Cuba in his mid-week conversation with Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko. And these storm signals must have been further underlined for the Soviets by the same internal American indicators which caused the Washington Post to warn of a coming crisis two days before the President spoke.

It is reasonable to presume, therefore, that the masters of the Kremlin began arguing about what to do if the U. S. got tough at least two or three days before the Yevtushenko poem was published. If this is correct, the poem's publication must then be interpreted as a by-product of the Kremlin debate—a bludgeon blow in Soviet political terms, and a bludgeon blow, too, that recorded the debate's tentative outcome.

The debate's outcome must still be considered as tentative, because of the many symptoms that Cuba-born tensions are continuing and perhaps even mounting in the Kremlin. Futhermore, if a man of Koslov's stature is leading the opposition, very probably with support from many of the Soviet military chiefs, it is clear that Nikita S. Khrushchev now faces a political challenge of the gravest sort.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

TENSION RELIEVED — In the comings and goings at the White House that preceded President Kennedy's decision to "quarantine" Cuba, the "top secret incident" has become a relieving chuckle for the tense policy makers.

Among those hustling in and out of the White House was an unidentified man, obviously highly placed, who was entrusted with bringing some needed material to the top policy conferees. He got it in all right, but on leaving, in plain view of hordes of newsmen and photographers, the moment was too dramatic for him.

He dropped his case — that proved to be a map case—and some top secret documents spilled out onto the sidewalk that runs around the White House. He was remorselessly photographed as he hastily gathered up the material and even more hastily made his departure.

Wisely, no one tried to confiscate the photographers' negatives.

Internal Revenue Sticks Oilmen For Taxes On Eisenhower's Farm

(Editor's Note: In Drew Pearson's absence his column is written by his associate, Jack Anderson.)

By Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON — More than $500,000, which three oilmen have shelled out to pay ex-President Eisenhower's farm bills, is now regarded by Internal Revenue as a gift, not a business expense.

This is the official finding of the tax agents and auditors who have investigated the returns of the three oil millionaires—Texas Tycoon B. G. "Billy" Byars, funnyman George Allen, and the late W. Alton Jones of Cities Service—who subsidized Ike's Gettysburg farm during his eight years in the White House.

They contended that they were running the farm for Eisenhower as a business venture. Ike himself explained to a farm group in 1955: "Any interest in the income and debts of my farm, that is something that properly belongs to the fellows leasing it."

Yet the oilmen made no serious effort to make money off the farm. Instead, they turned it into a luxurious retreat for Ike and concentrated on raising pure-blooded Angus show cattle.

They also paid for such permanent improvements as a show barn, $30,000; three smaller barns, $22,000; remodeling Ike's house, $110,000; remodeling a schoolhouse as a home for John Eisenhower, $10,000; landscaping 10 acres around the Eisenhower home, $6,000.

The checks for these improvements were drawn on the Gettysburg National Bank and signed jointly by Allen and Byars. Jones was a silent partner who was dunned privately for his share. This column has copies of his correspondence, addressed to "Dear George and Billy," about the farm's finances.

The original arrangement were made by Allen, Ike's bridge, golfing, and story-telling crony. Allen was also a business associate of the late Texas oil baron, Sid Richardson, whom Allen took to Paris in 1951 to help persuade Eisenhower to run for President.

Ike Favors Oil

Significantly, the only public commitment Ike gave before his nomination was a telegram siding with the oil interests on the Tidelands oil question.

As President, he brought a group of oilmen into the White House to write an oil and gas bill, which he sent to Congress without changing a comma. It was killed only after a public scandal over an attempt by oil lobbyists to bribe the late Sen. Francis Case, South Dakota Republican, with a $2,500 campaign contribution.

Finally, one of Ike's last official orders, issued three days before he left the White House, was a change in the residual fuel oil quotas. A big beneficiary was Cities Service, whose chief was helping to pay Eisenhower's farm bills.

The ruling that the oilmen can't write off their farm payments as a business loss but must count the money as a gift to Ike, raises another interesting question. Who paid the taxes on the other fabulous gifts Ike has accepted?

These include an entire electric kitchen, $3,000 putting green, orchid-filled greenhouse, 30-foot flagpole, white marble fireplace, Farm machinery including a $4,000 Black Hawk tractor with push-button gadgets, television sets, golf carts, hand-tooled saddles, paintings, furniture, and bicycles and ponies for his grandchildren.

Mao Heckles Nikita

In the aftermath of the Cuban affair, it is now evident that a savage struggle is raging for control of the worldwide Communist movement.

The alternately pugnacious and pixyish Nikita Khrushchev, still in command of the Kremlin, is defending his policy of conquering the West by the "soft sell."

The deceptively gentle Mao Tse-Tung, ruler of Red China, appears determined to bring the Western world down in the flames of a nuclear conflagration.

Upon the outcome of their infighting may depend the peace and safety of the world.

No one in the West understands clearly how the struggle is going, but here is the best available intelligence:

Actually, Mao began his latest pressure play against Khrushchev 10 days before the Cuban crisis. Not that Mao had anticipated Khrushchev's humiliation; he probably had been left out of the Cuban plot entirely.

More likely, Mao's moves were timed to tarnish Khrushchev on the even of the November 7 Bolshevik anniversary, also to make it hot for him at the subsequent meeting of the Communist Central Committee.

Three days before the showdown in the Caribbean, Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Vasily Kuznetsov entertained Chinese Communist Ambassador Liu Siao at a Moscow luncheon. The ambassador immediately hurried off to Peking, reportedly with a warning from Khrushchev that the Chinese had better not start a war in the high Himalayas.

In what must have been Khrushchev's worst week, President Kennedy called his bluff in Cuba, and Mao did the same in the Himalayas.

Mao's defiance put the Soviet Premier in an awkward spot. The Chinese ruler had been telling revolutionaries around the world that Khrushchev is soft and that they should look to Peking for leadership.

Now Mao was provoking war in the Himalayas while Khrushchev was running from one in the Caribbean. The Cuban events played into Mao's hands by making Khrushchev appear to be cringing before the American "imperialists."

Under the circumstances, Nikita could hardly side with India in the Himalayan dispute without appearing "chicken" to the Communist firebrand.

This may explain why the harassed Khrushchev backed out of his deal to supply jet fighters to the Indians and called upon Prime Minister Nehru to negotiate on Chinese Communist terms.

Meanwhile, Mao is furiously fanning the fire he has built under Khrushchev and picturing him to the Communist world as an international coward.

For his part, Khrushchev is summoning the satellite leaders to Moscow presumably to remind them who is boss.

How long he will remain boss, however, may be another question.

"No man ever died in a saloon," he said. "Men are killed in the hospitals which come after saloons." "Did you. . .?" the bartender said. Barrymore nodded. "This morning," he said. "Part of a graduating class at Bellevue. The most undistinguished bums I've ever met."

He started to lift the glass. The hand shook. The glass was set back on the bar. Barrymore seemed to be repelled by a big campaign button worn by the bartender. It held a photo of Alfred E. Smith, but, when the bartender turned, the photo disappeared and it said "Vote Democratic."

He lifted the glass with both hands, and tried to reach his trembling lip, and failed. The glass went back on the bar.

His fingers drummed the mahogany. Dan Healy told a joke and the roar of laughter assaulted the Barrymore ears in waves of surf. He turned his face in the opposite direction and saw a man hoisting firkins of shaved ice across the bar. "Nice quiet place," Barrymore said. "Oh my God. . ."

The man with the ice turned to look at the star. Barrymore was stunned to see that only one eye turned. The other continued to stare across the room. He held his hand out, and watched it tremble. "This," he said murmurously, "is no day for glass eyes. This is hardly a day for real ones."

The man with the ice smiled. "To noisy?" he said. Barrymore looked at the rebel eye and said: "I need more than fifty percent of anybody's attention," and walked out. He picked up his homburg in the cloak room, mopped the perspiration off his forehead, and set the hat on rakishly, flicking the long blond locks back under the brim.

"Check me out," he said to the attendant, who removed Barrymore's name from the "In" file. "I'm always being checked out or in, off or on, up or down, stop or go. Mostly stop."

He was palsied with fright when he hit the hot sidewalk in front of The Lambs. The horse was gone. For a moment, he wondered whether the animal had left, or whether both his eyeballs had turned to glass. At that moment, the rehearsal at the Hippodrome ended, and 40 midgets marched past Barrymore in police uniforms.

Good Shoes In Childhood Save Pain Later

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

There is no substitute for a good pair of feet. By the time most adults develop fallen arches, corns, calluses, or bunions it is too late to correct the basic cause. But relief is possible through the use of pads, properly fitted shoes, corrective exercises, or major or minor surgery.

Parents should pay more attention to their children's shoes, walking habits, and feet. It is more logical to correct foot problems at this time of life. Faulty footwear is by far the greatest single cause of the minor disturbances that become major when not rectified.

It is surprising how long many boys and girls are allowed to walk in footgear with worn out soles and heels. Unevenness throws the feet off balance, leading to strain on muscles and arches. Short shoes may lead to deformities of the toes. This is more important in girls because the little lady is more likely to outgrow her shoes before outwearing them. Insist on properly fitted footwear.

Nothing need be done about flatfoot unless the youngster complains of pain. The exception is when obesity or faulty posture is causing fallen arches. It helps also to teach children how to walk properly. (Send self-addressed envelope for leaflet on this subject).

Exercising the feet will strengthen the muscles and arches, especially after periods of inactivity. Many persons never had foot problems until they were forced to remain in bed for several weeks because of accident or illness.

The muscles become too weak to hold up the arches, which yield as soon as the individual bears weight. Wearing good shoes at this time is important. All too often the first few steps are made in slippers on the hard floor of the hospital corridor. The arches have no support and give way under the strain.

NERVES AND ULCER

Mrs. A. R. writes: Is nervousness the only cause of stomach ulcer?

REPLY

We do not know the exact cause of these lesions but the emotions play a role in some cases.

THE ITCH

J. S. writes: I developed a rash that covered the entire body except my hands, feet, and face. I went to a skin specialist and he thought it was nerves. His salve helped a little. I then went to the company doctor and he said it is scabies. I have used his treatment and the eruption goes away but comes back. Please write something about scabies.

REPLY

Scabies is not difficult to treat and it returns only if the parasites are not eradicated completely or reinfection takes place. I assume the diagnosis is correct but a consultation is suggested if the outbreak recurs again. Meanwhile, send stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on scabies.

ANNUAL PHYSICAL

A. H. writes: Since an annual checkup is advised for all over 40, please describe exactly what is required in the line of tests for persons of 40, 50, and 60.

REPLY

There is no standard group of tests that all physicians agree on for patients over 40. The tests are selected after studying the occupation, temperament, and medical history of the patient.

FAT AFTER OPERATION

Mrs. M. S. writes: Is it possible to lose weight gained after a hysterectomy?

REPLY

Yes, via the same old way — a low calorie diet. No woman needs to gain weight after this operation.

TOMORROW: Leeches and plague.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

Adam Gimbel tells about a man who went to a clothing store to buy a suit, and was immediately asked his name, address, family history, favorite pastimes, political affiliation, and his wife's maiden name.

"Why all these questions?" he demanded. "I only want to buy a suit." "Ah, my friend," said the salesman silkily. "Before we sell you a suit here, we make sure that it fits your personality and position in life. We send to Australia for the proper blend of wool for you. From France we import just the right lining, from Scotland the buttons you should have. Then five tailors in our shop make it fit you to perfection, regardless of the fittings that may prove necessary."

"Shucks," said the customer. "I need this suit to be married in tomorrow morning."

"Stop worrying," said the salesman. "You'll have it."

Thrown over by the damsel he had wooed—and showered with gifts—for six months, a young jeweler got rid of just a bit of his frustration by sneering. "The only thing a bikini does for that girl is show her appendicitis scar!"

"TV cameras," frets Kitty Carlisle, "seem to add 10 pounds to me. So I make it a policy never to eat TV cameras."

A Liability That Became An Asset

When the Cuban crisis first flared, an incident little noted except in the grain trade served as a reminder of this fact: that's America's surplus of crops in storage is an asset as well as a liability.

The incident was a temporary suspension by the Commodity Credit Corp. of sales of corn and feed grain held in storage. The CCC said: "We just want to stop and review our supply needs and see what may happen on the Cuban matter."

Shortly thereafter sales were resumed. But Washington and private commodity experts began discussing the question of whether wheat acreage reductions planned for 1963 shouldn't be abandoned.

On October 1 the U. S. was holding more than two billion bushels of wheat in storage. This was a decrease of 11 per cent from a year previous, though well above the average of slightly more than 1.7 billion bushels on the same date between 1951 and 1960.

Some persons who had been viewing this decrease as good and as only a spur to more massive reductions now are doing some rethinking. They recall that it takes more than 1.2 billion bushels a year just to satisfy normal domestic and export needs.

With such a yardstick, the supply of two billion bushels does not seem so huge. It becomes an enormous strategic asset for possible use during a new round of cold war alarms.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

The Problem Of Survival

Machiavelli was a moralist who was trying to raise the banner of national survival in a period of universal debasement. For instance, he wrote:

"For when on the decision to be taken wholly depends the survival of one's country, no consideration should be given either to justice or injustice, to kindness or cruelty, or to its being praiseworthy or ignominious, but rather, any other thought being set aside, that alternative should be followed utterly which will save its existence and preserve its freedom."

Survival and the preservation of freedom are our problems today. It can be said that, by and large, the American people are not quite conscious of the danger that faces us or the enormity of our task. Americans tend to believe that it cannot happen to them, but it did happen to Great Britain which in half a century sank from the greatest power on Earth to a lesser power militarily and economically. Soviet Russia, which was not to be reckoned with in 1917, is today our principal competitor and rival.

The fault undoubtedly lay in our general ignorance of geography. We think in terms of the steamship and the Atlantic Ocean rather than of the jet transport plane and the North Pole. On a globe our near neighbor is Soviet Russia, only a few hours away from us.

Even wise and experienced men sometimes disregard geophysical facts which "run against nature" and their beliefs. Napoleon, for instance, had no appreciation of the newly developed steamboat, just as some of our military officers, after World War I, fought hard to retain the horse despite the development of the tank. Both Americans and Canadians too often forget that in the next war, from the air and from space, they will look like one and will be treated accordingly.

History is replete with the rise and fall of Great Empires which come into existence on the rise of the spirit of a small people who push forward in search of land or population or slaves or food. Then comes a second period of imperialism; that is, when wealth and leisure produce art, literature, music, Lucullian living, overemphasis on sex. Imperialism takes the form of a distinctive civilization or religious idea. At some point the advance runs out. The usual cause is a rotteness within, an inability to live up to national ideals. Just as Rome was overthrown by the so-called barbarians, so was Spain ruined by too much gold and the little island off the coast of France and Scandinavia called England.

Great Powers have been reduced by lesser powers at certain periods of degeneracy in their history. After all, it is a sad moment in our history, that a pimple on the world's map, Cuba, dares to challenge our existence and is capable of obtaining the means to make that challenge so effective that we contemplate going to war over it.

Perhaps the greatest weakness of our culture is the unwillingness of our people to work long hours and the inappropriate use of leisure. The theory of short hours was sound at two periods: one, was during the Presidency of William McKinley when the eight-hour day became a major political issue. In fact, it was about this time that child labor and woman labor also became political issues.

The second period was during the Roosevelt Administration when the "spread-the-work" doctrine was adopted with a view to lessening unemployment by providing some work for as many as possible. The "spread-the-work" doctrine, as a temporary measure, was probably sound, but it encouraged inefficiency and reduction of the use of human skills because most workers lack skill. In fact, skills disappear and have to be replaced by automatic devices.

Now we come to a period when the worker becomes non-productive in comparison to the automatic machine. The worker demands increasing pay to cover "time" rather than skill. But time is hardly worth paying for. A distortion in the pay scales produced higher pay for an unskilled worker, such as a truck driver, compared to returns for such skills as a physicist or a chemist, a school teacher or a policeman. This distortion has tended to create moral confusions in our society such as a teachers' strike or a policemen's strike. Nevertheless, the distortion is protected by government officials whose measure of right is their election to office. This is a symptom of decadence.

Kremlin Gets Cuba Storm Signal In Verse

By Joseph Alsop

WASHINGTON.

The Cuba-born tensions in the Kremlin were quite probably first revealed in the oddest possible manner—by the publication of a long, very bad poem in the sacred columns of Pravda.

Pravda's publication of "Stalin's Inheritors" by Yvegeni Yevtushenko has already received some notice, as was only proper. It was a most meaningful event, even without its hitherto unsuspected Cuban background.

The poem's elephantingly clumsy central image depicts Stalin in his grave, "just taking a nap, to rest a little," with a telephone conveniently placed by his side, to "impart his instructions" to his "many inheritors." In the Soviet Union, official publication of this sort of thing has profound political implication; and Yevtuschenko's limping but virtuously anti-Stalinist verse must be read with this in mind.

But there is more in this poem than the public warning to the Kremlin's neo-Stalinists, which has already been so widely commented on. To begin with, the leader of the neo-Stalinist faction in the Soviet Presidium appears to be pinpointed, for the first time on record, in the following lines:

Some of (Stalin's) inheritors, in retirement, are pruning roses,
But secretly they consider this retirement only temporary.
Others are even cursing Stalin
from the rostrum,
But when they are alone, at night,
they yearn for the old times.

Obviously, nowadays, it is for good reason that Stalin's inheritors have heart failure.

On reading this passage in the Yevtushenko poem, every Soviet Communist must instantly have recalled that Soviet Deputy Premier Frol Koslov suffered a severe heart attack some months ago. This burly Leningrad leader and Presidium member, who has duly "cursed Stalin from the rostrum," was once indicated by Khrushchev as his intended successor, in a conversation with Gov. Averell Harriman. Koslov is generally regarded as a conservative-hard-liner among the American experts on Kremlin demonology.

If the Yevtushenko poem was indeed intended to pinpoint Koslov, as seems pretty certain, there has been nothing quite like this in the Soviet Union for many years. The search for precedence would have to go back to the remote days of almost open party controversy, before Stalin eliminated his rivals. What makes the development even more striking is the peculiarity of its timing, which has also been missed thus far.

In brief, the Yevtushenko poem appeared in Pravda on Oct. 21, just one day before what may be called the public beginning of the Cuban crisis with President Kennedy's Monday speech to the nation. Within the Kremlin, however, the Cuban crisis must actually have begun several days before the President's public speech.

As already revealed in this space, there was only one crucial, missing part in the Kremlin's ingenious and ruthless scheme to use Cuba for a political-strategic Pearl Harbor. The command and control system of the already-emplaced SA-II anti-aircraft missiles had not been completed on schedule, before construction began on the Soviet ballistic missile sites. Thus the SA-IIs were not ready to shoot down our intruding U-2s, and the Soviet scheme therefore failed.

But although the SA-II command and control system was not operational until Saturday, Oct. 27, their radars were in good order long before Oct. 14, when a new ballistic missile base was first sighted by an American U-2. Following the Oct. 14 U-2 flight, moreover, the SA-II's radars had plenty to look at; for the schedule of U-2 flights over Cuba was at once increased to six missions per day, in order to cover the whole island with utmost speed.

Although the SA-IIs were not ready to track or shoot down the U-2s, their radars could see the U. S. planes if they happened to pass through the radar beams. It is known that this happened more than once. Thus the Kremlin must have had word that the U. S. government had probably penetrated the great Cuban secret, at least four or five days before the President spoke to the nation.

During the same breathless days, the fleeting radar evidence was confirmed for the Kremlin, beyond much doubt, by the special emphasis the President placed on Cuba in his mid-week conversation with Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko. And these storm signals must have been further underlined for the Soviets by the same internal American indicators which caused the Washington Post to warn of a coming crisis two days before the President spoke.

It is reasonable to presume, therefore, that the masters of the Kremlin began arguing about what to do if the U. S. got tough at least two or three days before the Yevtushenko poem was published. If this is correct, the poem's publication must then be interpreted as a by-product of the Kremlin debate—a bludgeon blow in Soviet political terms, and a bludgeon blow, too, that recorded the debate's tentative outcome.

The debate's outcome must still be considered as tentative, because of the many symptoms that Cuba-born tensions are continuing and perhaps even mounting in the Kremlin. Futhermore, if a man of Koslov's stature is leading the opposition, very probably with support from many of the Soviet military chiefs, it is clear that Nikita S. Khrushchev now faces a political challenge of the gravest sort.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

TENSION RELIEVED — In the comings and goings at the White House that preceded President Kennedy's decision to "quarantine" Cuba, the "top secret incident" has become a relieving chuckle for the tense policy makers.

Among those hustling in and out of the White House was an unidentified man, obviously highly placed, who was entrusted with bringing some needed material to the top policy conferees. He got it in all right, but on leaving, in plain view of hordes of newsmen and photographers, the moment was too dramatic for him.

He dropped his case — that proved to be a map case—and some top secret documents spilled out onto the sidewalk that runs around the White House. He was remorselessly photographed as he hastily gathered up the material and even more hastily made his departure.

Wisely, no one tried to confiscate the photographers' negatives.

Internal Revenue Sticks Oilmen For Taxes On Eisenhower's Farm

By Jack Anderson

(Editor's Note: In Drew Pearson's absence his column is written by his associate, Jack Anderson.)

WASHINGTON — More than $500,000, which three oilmen have shelled out to pay ex-President Eisenhower's farm bills, is now regarded by Internal Revenue as a gift, not a business expense.

This is the official finding of the tax agents and auditors who have investigated the returns of the three oil millionaires—Texas Tycoon B. G. "Billy" Byars, funnyman George Allen, and the late W. Alton Jones of Cities Service—who subsidized Ike's Gettysburg farm during his eight years in the White House.

They contended that they were running the farm for Eisenhower as a business venture. Ike himself explained to a farm group in 1955: "Any interest in the income and debts of my farm, that is something that properly belongs to the fellows leasing it."

Yet the oilmen made no serious effort to make money off the farm. Instead, they turned it into a luxurious retreat for Ike and concentrated on raising pure-blooded Angus show cattle.

They also paid for such permanent improvements as a show barn, $30,000; three smaller barns, $22,000; remodeling Ike's house, $110,000; remodeling a schoolhouse as a home for John Eisenhower, $10,000; landscaping 10 acres around the Eisenhower home, $6,000.

The checks for these improvements were drawn on the Gettysburg National Bank and signed jointly by Allen and Byars. Jones was a silent partner who was dunned privately for his share. This column has copies of his correspondence, addressed to "Dear George and Billy," about the farm's finances.

The original arrangement were made by Allen, Ike's bridge, golfing, and story-telling crony. Allen was also a business associate of the late Texas oil baron, Sid Richardson, whom Allen took to Paris in 1951 to help persuade Eisenhower to run for President.

Ike Favors Oil

Significantly, the only public commitment Ike gave before his nomination was a telegram siding with the oil interests on the Tidelands oil question.

As President, he brought a group of oilmen into the White House to write an oil and gas bill, which he sent to Congress without changing a comma. It was killed only after a public scandal over an attempt by oil lobbyists to bribe the late Sen. Francis Case, South Dakota Republican, with a $2,500 campaign contribution.

Finally, one of Ike's last official orders, issued three days before he left the White House, was a change in the residual fuel oil quotas. A big beneficiary was Cities Service, whose chief was helping to pay Eisenhower's farm bills.

The ruling that the oilmen can't write off their farm payments as a business loss but must count the money as a gift to Ike, raises another interesting question. Who paid the taxes on the other fabulous gifts Ike has accepted?

These include an entire electric kitchen, $3,000 putting green, orchid-filled greenhouse, 30-foot flagpole, white marble fireplace, Farm machinery including a $4,000 Black Hawk tractor with push-button gadgets, television sets, golf carts, hand-tooled saddles, paintings, furniture, and bicycles and ponies for his grandchildren.

Good Shoes In Childhood Save Pain Later

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

There is no substitute for a good pair of feet. By the time most adults develop fallen arches, corns, calluses, or bunions it is too late to correct the basic cause. But relief is possible through the use of pads, properly fitted shoes, corrective exercises, or major or minor surgery.

Parents should pay more attention to their children's shoes, walking habits, and feet. It is more logical to correct foot problems at this time of life. Faulty footwear is by far the greatest single cause of the minor disturbances that become major when not rectified.

It is surprising how long many boys and girls are allowed to walk in footgear with worn out soles and heels. Unevenness throws the feet off balance, leading to strain on muscles and arches. Short shoes may lead to deformities of the toes. This is more important in girls because the little lady is more likely to outgrow her shoes before outwearing them. Insist on properly fitted footwear.

Nothing need be done about flatfoot unless the youngster complains of pain. The exception is when obesity or faulty posture is causing fallen arches. It helps also to teach children how to walk properly. (Send self-addressed envelope for leaflet on this subject).

Exercising the feet will strengthen the muscles and arches, especially after periods of inactivity. Many persons never had foot problems until they were forced to remain in bed for several weeks because of accident or illness.

The muscles become too weak to hold up the arches, which yield as soon as the individual bears weight. Wearing good shoes at this time is important. All too often the first few steps are made in slippers on the hard floor of the hospital corridor. The arches have no support and give way under the strain.

NERVES AND ULCER

Mrs. A. R. writes: Is nervousness the only cause of stomach ulcer?

REPLY

We do not know the exact cause of these lesions but the emotions play a role in some cases.

THE ITCH

J. S. writes: I developed a rash that covered the entire body except my hands, feet, and face. I went to a skin specialist and he thought it was nerves. His salve helped a little. I then went to the company doctor and he said it is scabies. I have used his treatment and the eruption goes away but comes back. Please write something about scabies.

REPLY

Scabies is not difficult to treat and it returns only if the parasites are not eradicated completely or reinfection takes place. I assume the diagnosis is correct but a consultation is suggested if the outbreak recurs again. Meanwhile, send stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on scabies.

ANNUAL PHYSICAL

A. H. writes: Since an annual checkup is advised for all over 40, please describe exactly what is required in the line of tests for persons of 40, 50, and 60.

REPLY

There is no standard group of tests that all physicians agree on for patients over 40. The tests are selected after studying the occupation, temperament, and medical history of the patient.

FAT AFTER OPERATION

Mrs. M. S. writes: Is it possible to lose weight gained after a hysterectomy?

REPLY

Yes, via the same old way — a low calorie diet. No woman needs to gain weight after this operation.

TOMORROW: Leeches and plague.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

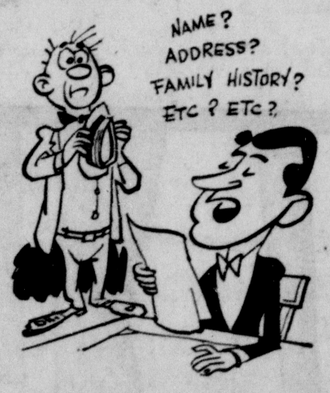

By Bennett Cerf

Adam Gimbel tells about a man who went to a clothing store to buy a suit, and was immediately asked his name, address, family history, favorite pastimes, political affiliation, and his wife's maiden name.

"Why all these questions?" he demanded. "I only want to buy a suit." "Ah, my friend," said the salesman silkily. "Before we sell you a suit here, we make sure that it fits your personality and position in life. We send to Australia for the proper blend of wool for you. From France we import just the right lining, from Scotland the buttons you should have. Then five tailors in our shop make it fit you to perfection, regardless of the fittings that may prove necessary."

"Shucks," said the customer. "I need this suit to be married in tomorrow morning."

"Stop worrying," said the salesman. "You'll have it."

Thrown over by the damsel he had wooed—and showered with gifts—for six months, a young jeweler got rid of just a bit of his frustration by sneering. "The only thing a bikini does for that girl is show her appendicitis scar!"

"TV cameras," frets Kitty Carlisle, "seem to add 10 pounds to me. So I make it a policy never to eat TV cameras."

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD — If Lucille Ball can arrange her shooting schedule she'll star in "Mary, Mary" for Mervyn Leroy. She would like to work for Mervyn and this will be one of Warner Brothers important movies. Mervyn, who underwent surgery at Mayo Clinic, is not going to work for some time.

I talked with Lucille, not about "Mary, Mary," but about her TV show, which has such a high rating. She agrees with me that the TV moguls are making a mistake in changing the old established shows to new spots. She spoke, too, of "Fair Exchange," popular show for teenagers, which is shown at too late an hour for them. I'm sure "Perry Mason" has lost many viewers being taken off its original Saturday spot and changed to Thursday.

I would have said that no star could be busier than Laurence Harvey, going as he does without a pause from picture to picture —but now he's surpassed even himself.

Winding up "The Running Man," signed as actor-producer of "Ceremony", which starts in Madrid in early December, purchaser of two other novels for filming, "Feathers of Death" and "The Reason Why", guess what this whirling dervish of stardom has done now.

He's agreed to make George Pal's "The Circus of Dr. Lao" which has six leading characters in it—and Larry is going to play all six! And let's not forget that along with all this Larry finds time to continue his tirrid romance with Joan Cohn. Wotta boy!

Karl Boehm, the handsome young Australian who scored so substantially as the younger of "The Brothers Grimm," is not only turning producer-director, but he's reversing everything by being a European who wants to make his pictures only in Hollywood.

And don't say he's not starting off ambitiously. His first film will be based on that Greek tragedy "Electra," and is called "The Trials of Orestes." Karl has signed two leading ladies for it, the beautiful Lili Palmer and Barbara Lass. Barbara Lass, who is young and talented, is expected to marry Karl as soon as his divorce becomes final, right after the first of next year.

Jack Cassidy telephoned to say au revoir. He's going to New York tomorrow to look into two stage musical properties. Jack has a beautiful singing voice. The show he likes best is "Shop Around the Corner," based on that charming movie done by Margaret Sullavan and Jimmy Stewart.

He hates to leave Shirley Jones (Mrs. C.) and their two little sons. "But right now there doesn't seem to be anything in Hollywood for me, and I hate to be idle," said Jac. "I will come back at the end of the month, and I'll also manage to spend Christmas with Shirley and the children."

Shirley goes into "Moon Walk" in December and then she has an Italian movie in Rome for February.

Haines Announces Youth Advisors

Benjamin F. Haines, 'Y' program director, announced that 16 teachers from six area high schools have volunteered this year as Hi-Y and Tri-Hi-Y advisors.

The advisors are William Phillips, Mildred Watkins, Alpha Beta; Miss Christine Alderton, Kappa; and Miss Jean Bowen, Delta; of Fort Hill; Mrs. Margaret Zembower, Miss Helen McFerran, and William Faherty, Allegany; Mrs. Elizabeth Tracy and Russell Fitzgerald, Beall; Raymond Chaney and Mrs. William Dye, Bruce; Marvin Llewellyn and Mrs. Margaret Browning, Valley; Mrs. Phyllis Brotemarkle and Lloyd Winters, Ridgeley.

The clubs, totaling over 500 teenagers, are sponsored by the Central YMCA and local high schools of Allegany and Mineral counties.

Bonus

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—A gunman ordered the manager of a Phoenix drive-in market to hand over the cash.

Tom Parks, 39, gave the robber about $100.

The gunman, in turn, handed Parks $5 in trading stamps, then fled.

The flute was a great favorite with the ancient Greeks and Romans.

White lines to designate traffic lanes were introduced in Boston in 1919.

Oil In Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—There were 1,113 wells drilled for oil and gas in Ohio last year and 73 per cent of these were reported as productive.

But the deepest test ever drilled in the Buckeye state, completed in Guernsey County to a depth of 8,602 feet, turned out to be a dry hole.

The human eye is more than 100 times keener than photographic film or devices that detect heat and light.

Miner Killed In Fall Of Slate

FAYETTEVILLE, W.Va. (UPI)—Audna P. Law, 44, of nearby Garten, was killed Wednesday in a slate fall at a coal mine operated by Clifftop Smokeless Coal Co.

Authorities said Law was bolting a roof at the time of the accident.

Survivors include one brother in Cleveland, George Law, and a sister in Columbis, Mrs. Evelyn Stevens.

One-Antenna Town

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—Tierra Verde, a city of 25,000 persons being completed on fill land in the Gulf of Mexico off the coast here, will have only one TV antenna.

Zoned for 50 per cent residential and 50 per cent commercial building, one master TV antenna will boost signal and transmit it to each building site by underground coaxial cable.

An estimated 95 per cent of Americans over 60 years of age have troubles with their eyesight.

The average American eats about 10 pounds of fish a year.

Canvass Slated In MD Drive This Month

The week of November 18 has been set aside for a house-to-house canvass in Allegany and Garrett counties in conjunction with the 1962 muscular dystrophy fund drive.

Fire Chief Virgil A. Parker, president of the Allegany-Garrett chapter of the Muscular Dystrophy Association, one of three chapters in Maryland, said canisters have been distributed this week at business places in Cumberland.

In charge of the distribution of canisters were Edgar Bucy, George Lease and Jacob Winters, city firemen.

Supplies of canisters have been turned over to the Allegany-Garrett Counties Volunteer Firemen's Association, the members of which will pitch in to work toward a successful campaign.

David E. Kirk has been named chairman of this phase of the drive, said Chief Parker, who said the plans for the house-to-house doorbell ringing campaign are shaping up.

The two-county chapter gives direct aid to patients by providing orthopedic equipment, transportation and other necessary services.

Twenty-five per cent of the funds raised in the two-county area are retained by the chapter to finance local patient treatment.

Sanitarians Will Conclude Meetings

John R. Meadows, supervisor of Eating and Drinking Establishment Food Control program for the State Department of Health, will conclude a series of meetings with the Allegany County Health Department sanitarians today.

Mr. Meadows began meeting with the sanitarians on Wednesday giving instructions in new techniques and types of restaurant equipment, discussing problems and compliance with regulations.

The local Health Department plans to reactivate its eating and drinking establishment program soon.

Election Sidelights

By The Associated Press

Although Gov. Tawes won reelection by a comfortable 77,523-77,523-vote margin Tuesday, his popularity showed a marked decline statewide from the 206,888 cushion he breezed in with four years ago.

The only exception was Baltimore County which gave the governor an unofficial margin of 17,995 over Republican Frank Small compared to 18,227 over native son James P. S. Devereux in 1959. The difference was only 232 votes, but 15,574 more persons voted in the governor's race in Baltimore County this time.

Elsewhere, Tawes had difficulty approaching his 1958 margin, including his native Eastern Shore which gave him an edge of only 14,791 compared to 26,491 in 1958. His margins were reduced sharply in all nine counties.

The heaviest slumps from the record 206,888 cushion of four years ago were recorded in metropolitan areas.

Prince Georges and Montgomery counties in the Washington suburban area accounted for 46,971 votes being whittled off the governor's 1958 margin. He carried Prince Georges, Small's home county, by 1,989 after winning the Democratic stronghold by 24,642 in 1958. He lost Montgomery by 14,250 in unofficial votes after winning it by 10,068 four years ago.

The other major suburban county, Anne Arundel, went to Tawes by 4,494 votes compared to 12,660 in 1958.

The governor's popularity fell by nearly a third in Baltimore City, but he still won big there with a margin of 63,676 compared to 90,360 four years ago.

Statewide there were 769,135 votes cast for governor in the unofficial 1962 tally, compared to 763,234 in the official 1958 total.

Tawes carried all 23 counties and Baltimore City in 1958. He lost Montgomery, Allegany, Carroll, Charles, Garrett and Howard this time.

Many New Faces

Two of the largest house delegations in the Maryland General Assembly will have only one veteran each when the legislature convenes next January.

Canvass Slated In MD Drive This Month

The week of November 18 has been set aside for a house-to-house canvass in Allegany and Garrett counties in conjunction with the 1962 muscular dystrophy fund drive.

Fire Chief Virgil A. Parker, president of the Allegany-Garrett chapter of the Muscular Dystrophy Association, one of three chapters in Maryland, said canisters have been distributed this week at business places in Cumberland.

In charge of the distribution of canisters were Edgar Bucy, George Lease and Jacob Winters, city firemen.

Supplies of canisters have been turned over to the Allegany-Garrett Counties Volunteer Firemen's Association, the members of which will pitch in to work toward a successful campaign.

David E. Kirk has been named chairman of this phase of the drive, said Chief Parker, who said the plans for the house-to-house doorbell ringing campaign are shaping up.

The two-county chapter gives direct aid to patients by providing orthopedic equipment, transportation and other necessary services.

Twenty-five per cent of the funds raised in the two-county area are retained by the chapter to finance local patient treatment.

Sanitarians Will Conclude Meetings

John R. Meadows, supervisor of Eating and Drinking Establishment Food Control program for the State Department of Health, will conclude a series of meetings with the Allegany County Health Department sanitarians today.

Mr. Meadows began meeting with the sanitarians on Wednesday giving instructions in new techniques and types of restaurant equipment, discussing problems and compliance with regulations.

The local Health Department plans to reactivate its eating and drinking establishment program soon.

Election Sidelights

By The Associated Press

Although Gov. Tawes won re-election by a comfortable 77,523-77,523-vote margin Tuesday, his popularity showed a marked decline statewide from the 206,888 cushion he breezed in with four years ago.

The only exception was Baltimore County which gave the governor an unofficial margin of 17,995 over Republican Frank Small compared to 18,227 over native son James P. S. Devereux in 1959. The difference was only 232 votes, but 15,574 more persons voted in the governor's race in Baltimore County this time.

Elsewhere, Tawes had difficulty approaching his 1958 margin, including his native Eastern Shore which gave him an edge of only 14,791 compared to 26,491 in 1958. His margins were reduced sharply in all nine counties.

The heaviest slumps from the record 206,888 cushion of four years ago were recorded in metropolitan areas.

Prince Georges and Montgomery counties in the Washington suburban area accounted for 46,971 votes being whittled off the governor's 1958 margin. He carried Prince Georges, Small's home county, by 1,989 after winning the Democratic stronghold by 24,642 in 1958. He lost Montgomery by 14,250 in unofficial votes after winning it by 10,068 four years ago.

The other major suburban county, Anne Arundel, went to Tawes by 4,494 votes compared to 12,660 in 1958.

The governor's popularity fell by nearly a third in Baltimore City, but he still won big there with a margin of 63,676 compared to 90,360 four years ago.

Statewide there were 769,135 votes cast for governor in the unofficial 1962 tally, compared to 763,234 in the official 1958 total.

Tawes carried all 23 counties and Baltimore City in 1958. He lost Montgomery, Allegany, Carroll, Charles, Garrett and Howard this time.

Peters Becomes Acting Mayor Of Keyser

Councilman Paul D. Peters has assumed the duties of acting mayor of Keyser after the City Council declared a vacancy in the office on the basis of a ruling made last week by the office of the Attorney General C. Donald Robertson, in Charleston.

A written ruling from Charleston has not been received, according to officials, but a telephone call to the office of Prosecuting Attorney C. Reeves Taylor earlier this week said that Keyser was without a mayor because Richard E. Romig, who presently holds the office, had moved from the city last month to his new home on New Creek Drive. Suggestions were made in the telephone call that Council should proceed according to the charter.

The charter provides that the superintendent of the Department of Accounts and Finance shall perform the duties of mayor in such an event in his capacity of vice president of the council. Mr. Peters has served as finance officer for the city for several terms.

It may be necessary to appoint a mayor to serve until the election next June, depending upon the ruling of the attorney general.

Dixon To Resign As GOP Head

KEYSER — Mineral County Republicans retained a county office but lost a county chairman in Tuesday's election.

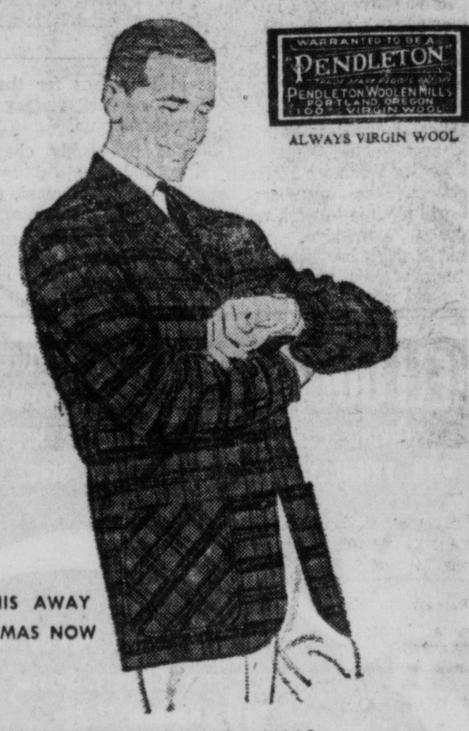

James A. Dixon was reelected clerk of Mineral County Circuit Court, but he announced yesterday he plans to resign as chairman of the county GOP organization, a post he has held since 1948.

Dixon said he would call a county party meeting within two weeks to tender his resignation and allow party members an opportunity to select a new chairman.

Citing the burden of duties as court clerk, Dixon said that a younger man in the job would benefit the party.

Keyser Kiwanis Discusses Mineral County Schools

KEYSER — Recommendations for the future of the Parent-Teachers Association in Keyser, overcrowded conditions at area schools, and an overall school building program for all Mineral County were discussed by members of the Kiwanis Club following a talk by William E. Michael at the Rosemont Restaurant.

The program, in keeping with the observance of National Education Week, brought to light the fact that although local residents are concerned about the school situation and continually gripe about it they are actually doing little to alter the situation.

Michael, who has long been active in educational groups at KHS, Potomac State College, and throughout the state, pointed out that "education in West Virginia is a big business" and then gave figures to illustrate his remark.

A business meeting followed at which time announcement was made regarding the Pancake and Sausage Dinner to be served by the club on Saturday at First Methodist Church between the hours of 11 and 1 a. m. and 5 and 7 p. m.

Club members also plan to attend a concert to be given in Romney on Friday, November 30, by the Shenandoah College Singers as a benefit performance sponsored by the Romney Kiwanians.

Details were outlined for a training conference for club officers to be held at the Potomac Light and Power Company in Romney on November 18 at 2 p. m. Club officers are required to be present but members of the Board of Directors and committee chairmen are also invited to attend.

President-elect Alan Paine announced his new committees for the coming year. They are, with chairmen listed first, as follows:

Peters Becomes Acting Mayor Of Keyser

Councilman Paul D. Peters has assumed the duties of acting mayor of Keyser after the City Council declared a vacancy in the office on the basis of a ruling made last week by the office of the Attorney General C. Donald Robertson, in Charleston.

A written ruling from Charleston has not been received, according to officials, but a telephone call to the office of Prosecuting Attorney C. Reeves Taylor earlier this week said that Keyser was without a mayor because Richard E. Romig, who presently holds the office, had moved from the city last month to his new home on New Creek Drive. Suggestions were made in the telephone call that Council should proceed according to the charter.

The charter provides that the superintendent of the Department of Accounts and Finance shall perform the duties of mayor in such an event in his capacity of vice president of the council. Mr. Peters has served as finance officer for the city for several terms.

It may be necessary to appoint a mayor to serve until the election next June, depending upon the ruling of the attorney general.

Dixon To Resign As GOP Head

KEYSER — Mineral County Republicans retained a county office but lost a county chairman in Tuesday's election.

James A. Dixon was reelected clerk of Mineral County Circuit Court, but he announced yesterday he plans to resign as chairman of the county GOP organization, a post he has held since 1948.

Dixon said he would call a county party meeting within two weeks to tender his resignation and allow party members an opportunity to select a new chairman.

Citing the burden of duties as court clerk, Dixon said that a younger man in the job would benefit the party.

Keyser Kiwanis Discusses Mineral County Schools

KEYSER — Recommendations for the future of the Parent-Teachers Association in Keyser, overcrowded conditions at area schools, and an overall school building program for all Mineral County were discussed by members of the Kiwanis Club following a talk by William E. Michael at the Rosemont Restaurant.

The program, in keeping with the observance of National Education Week, brought to light the fact that although local residents are concerned about the school situation and continually gripe about it they are actually doing little to alter the situation.

Michael, who has long been active in educational groups at KHS, Potomac State College, and throughout the state, pointed out that "education in West Virginia is a big business" and then gave figures to illustrate his remark.

A business meeting followed at which time announcement was made regarding the Pancake and Sausage Dinner to be served by the club on Saturday at First Methodist Church between the hours of 11 and 1 a. m. and 5 and 7 p. m.

Club members also plan to attend a concert to be given in Romney on Friday, November 30, by the Shenandoah College Singers as a benefit performance sponsored by the Romney Kiwanians.

Details were outlined for a training conference for club officers to be held at the Potomac Light and Power Company in Romney on November 18 at 2 p. m. Club officers are required to be present but members of the Board of Directors and committee chairmen are also invited to attend.

President-elect Alan Paine announced his new committees for the coming year. They are, with chairmen listed first, as follows:

Boys and Girls Work: Eddie Daskal, Rev. Ward Harvey, and Samuel Romsburg; Circle K Club: W. E. Michael, Charles Whitehill, Harold Wimer; Key Club: Donald Heare, Robert Harman, Rev. Donald Anderson; Vocational Guidance: Paul F. Iverson, Donald Heare, Robert Harman.

Harvey, Charles Rennix; Kiwanis Education and Fellowship: Russell Foltz, Douglas Dixon, A. K. VanScoy; Special Fund-Raising Committee: Eddie Daskal, James Watson, Harrison Fuller, Edwin Jordan, and Donald Heare.

Programs: James Handlan, Thomas Conlon, Joseph W. Kessel; House and Reception: Edwin Jordan, Paul Iverson, John Thrush; Publicity and Bulletin: Thomas Conlon, Harold Wimer, Gerould Klinestiver; Attendance and Membership: Robert Harman, Robert Shapiro, Charles Rennix; Finance: Herbert Harman, Samuel Romsburg; New Club Building: A. K. VanScoy, W. E. Michael; Laws and Regulations: Joseph Wimer, Robert Shapiro; Music: Charles Whitehill, Arnold Sliger; Special Events: Joseph W. Kessel, Russell Foltz, James Handlan, Herbert Harman, and Kenneth Chambers.

Randolph Cites Mrs. FDR's Gifts To West Va.

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (UPI)—Sen. Jennings Randolph, D-W.Va., said Thursday that Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt "is identified with West Virginia to a much greater degree than people today realize."

"During the depression of the 1930s, she contributed thousands of dollars of her personal funds to projects especially in the coal mining areas for aid to children," Randolph said in a tribute to Mrs. Roosevelt who died Wednesday night in New York City.

The senator said Mrs. Roosevelt was active during the depresssion in resettlement programs at Arthurdale, Preston County; the Tygart Valley in Randolph County, and at the community which bears her name—Eleanor, Putnam County.

"Hundreds of West Virginians will recall her dominant personality and her warmth of spirit as she traveled throughout the state in an effort to encourage the unemployed," Randolph said. "She did more than talk about the situation; she acted affirmatively and hundreds of families were aided by her efforts."

Randolph said Mrs. Roosevelt first visited West Virginia in 1933. Her last visit, he said, was in October, 1960, when she accepted his invitation to speak at the dedication of a church in Arthurdale.

"At times, her words and works were controversial but no one could doubt her sincere determination to strengthen our economic base and contribute to the well-being of our citizens," Randolph said.

Garrett County Elects First Woman Legislator

The wife of a Garrett County farmer and former delegate to the General Assembly Tuesday became the first woman to be elected to the state legislature from Garrett.

DEL.-ELECT GLOTFELTY

Mrs. Glotfelty will be no stranger in Annapolis as she spent much time in the state's capital when her husband, Kermit S. Glotfelty was representing the county as one of its three delegates from 1954 to 1958.

The mother of three sons, she campaigned extensively in the county, for about seven weeks, concentrating on a house-to-house canvass, traveling over 2,000 miles and getting into every precinct, both rural and urban.

She told the voters that she is concerned about Garrett County's economic growth, its recreational development, its hospital and schools and its farmers and wage earners.

A 54-year-old grandmother, Mrs. Glotfelty has been active in public affairs for many years.

She served in Parent-Teacher Association work when her sons were going through school, served on the Garrett County Education Council, and the Garrett County Farming For Better Living Council.

Today she is serving as president of the Garrett County Memorial Hospital Auxiliary and also president of the Lutheran Church Women of Emmanuel Lutheran Church, Bittinger.

A native of Garrett County, she moved to southwest Pennsylvania with her parents, Hamill and Sadie Casteel, at an early age.

She attended Waynesburg College and California, Pa., State College, and taught school at Colonial, a town near Brownsville, Pa., before her marriage.

She has three sons, Dr. Donald Glotfelty, Accident; a University of Georgia graduate who is a veterinarian; Hamill Glotfelty, Deep Creek Lake, who assists his parents on their farm; and Kenneth Glotfelty, Baltimore, a student at Towson State Teachers College.

Kenneth and his wife, the former Ruth Savage of Friendsville, are the parents of her only grandson, David, two and a half years.

Mrs. Glotfelty and her husband operate a 100-acre farm on the Rock Lodge Road and raise beef cattle for a living.

Mrs. Cletus Blackburn has been transferred from Potomac Valley Hospital to George Washington University Hospital in Washington.

Mrs. Glotfelty will be no stranger in Annapolis as she spent much time in the state's capital when her husband, Kermit S. Glotfelty was representing the county as one of its three delegates from 1954 to 1958.

The mother of three sons, she campaigned extensively in the county, for about seven weeks, concentrating on a house-to-house canvass, traveling over 2,000 miles and getting into every precinct, both rural and urban.

She told the voters that she is concerned about Garrett County's economic growth, its recreational development, its hospital and schools and its farmers and wage earners.

A 54-year-old grandmother, Mrs. Glotfelty has been active in public affairs for many years.

She served in Parent-Teacher Association work when her sons were going through school, served on the Garrett County Education Council, and the Garrett County Farming For Better Living Council.

Today she is serving as president of the Garrett County Memorial Hospital Auxiliary and also president of the Lutheran Church Women of Emmanuel Lutheran Church, Bittinger.

A native of Garrett County, she moved to southwest Pennsylvania with her parents, Hamill and Sadie Casteel, at an early age.

She attended Waynesburg College and California, Pa., State College, and taught school at Colonial, a town near Brownsville, Pa., before her marriage.

She has three sons, Dr. Donald Glotfelty, Accident; a University of Georgia graduate who is a veterinarian; Hamill Glotfelty, Deep Creek Lake, who assists his parents on their farm; and Kenneth Glotfelty, Baltimore, a student at Towson State Teachers College.

Kenneth and his wife, the former Ruth Savage of Friendsville, are the parents of her only grandson, David, two and a half years.

Mrs. Glotfelty and her husband operate a 100-acre farm on the Rock Lodge Road and raise beef cattle for a living.

Randolph Cites Mrs. FDR's Gifts To West Va.

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (UPI)—Sen. Jennings Randolph, D-W.Va., said Thursday that Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt "is identified with West Virginia to a much greater degree than people today realize."

"During the depression of the 1930s, she contributed thousands of dollars of her personal funds to projects especially in the coal mining areas for aid to children," Randolph said in a tribute to Mrs. Roosevelt who died Wednesday night in New York City.

The senator said Mrs. Roosevelt was active during the depresssion in resettlement programs at Arthurdale, Preston County; the Tygart Valley in Randolph County, and at the community which bears her name—Eleanor, Putnam County.

"Hundreds of West Virginians will recall her dominant personality and her warmth of spirit as she traveled throughout the state in an effort to encourage the unemployed," Randolph said. "She did more than talk about the situation; she acted affirmatively and hundreds of families were aided by her efforts."

Randolph said Mrs. Roosevelt first visited West Virginia in 1933. Her last visit, he said, was in October, 1960, when she accepted his invitation to speak at the dedication of a church in Arthurdale.

"At times, her words and works were controversial but no one could doubt her sincere determination to strengthen our economic base and contribute to the well-being of our citizens," Randolph said.

Beall High School Captures County Cross-Country Championship

Mountaineers' Don Fletcher Sets Record

Kasecamp Leads Oldtown To Victory In Class B Event

Paced by Don Fletcher, who covered the two-mile course in record-breaking time of 11 minutes, 20 seconds, Coach Enordo "Moose" Arnone's Beall High School harriers won the fourth annual Allegany County championship cross-country Class "A" meet yesterday with low score of 31 points.

Twenty-one boys, seven from each school, participated in the test in which Coach John Fatkin's Fort Hill team was second with 44 tallies and Coach Harry Lennox's Allegany High School hill and dale runners finished third with 48.

Don Sets New Record

Fletcher's time of 11:20 bettered the previous record of 11 minutes, 20.5 seconds set by Tom Elliott, of Fort Hill one year ago. Elliott was runner-up to Fletcher in yesterday's event.

Beall placed four runners among the first ten finishers in copping the title for the second time in four years. The Mountaineers' first victory was scored in 1960. Fort Hill was the championship in 1959 and 1961.

Oldtown Is "B" Winner

Coach Edgar "Barney" Tucker's Oldtown High School team, led by Gary Kasekamp, captured the Class "B" crown with low score of 34 points. Fort Hill was runner-up with 52, Beall, third with 71 and Allegany fourth with 75.

Oldtown had four runners among the first ten finishers.

Kasecamp covered the two miles in 12:24 to finish first among a field of 46 runners. His time of 12:24 was a bit slower than the record of 12:20.6 hung up by Richard Mikesell of Allegany in 1961 when the Campers copped the county's first "B" meet.

Ed Troutman, of Allegany, trailed Kasecamp to the wire in yesterday's race.

Robert E. Pence, supervisor of physical education for Allegany County public schools, directed yesterday's program. John Fatkin was official timer.

John Barnum of Blytheville, Mich., and Don Fairfield of Perdido Bay, Fla., were two strokes behind at 68, 4-under-par.

George Saimes, the All-American everything at Michigan State, is the son of a Canton, Ohio, shoemaker.

Van Parsons' Grid Career At Miami Definitely Ended

Van Parsons' college football career, which has been hanging in the balance the past several weeks, has definitely come to an end.

Parsons, a 1958 graduate of LaSalle High School and senior at the University of Miami, reinjured his lame knee Wednesday in the Hurricanes' final full scrimmage prior to their tussle tomorrow with third-ranked Alabama in Tuscaloose.

In a telephone call to his home here, Van said that he will undergo an operation on the knee over the Thanksgiving holidays. Even if Miami (6-1) should go to a post-season bowl contest, Parsons will not be ready to play.

Van has had considerable trouble with the knee during his playing days at Miami. After finally breaking into the Hurricanes' starting backfield this year, he was hurt in the second game against TCU and has been out of action since, although he dressed for the last two games with the Air Force Academy and Kentucky.

Coach Andy Gustafson had planned to use Parsons tomorrow if the knee held up in this week's workouts, but while making a tackle in the scrimmage session it gave out, and wrote finis to Van's oft-interrupted collegiate career.

Red Wings Stopped

MONTREAL (UPI) — Vezina Trophy goalie Jacques Plante returned to the lineup and his Montreal Canadiens teammates returned to form Thursday night, ending Detroit's 10-game unbeaten streak with a 4-1 victory over the Red Wings.

The Canadiens, who had looked little like defending National Hockey League champions in their first 11 games, came out skating from the opening face-off and handed Detroit goalie Terry Sawchuk his worst beating of the year.

Beall High School Captures County Cross-Country Championship

Kasecamp Leads Oldtown To Victory In Class B Event

Paced by Don Fletcher, who covered the two-mile course in record-breaking time of 11 minutes, 20 seconds, Coach Enordo "Moose" Arnone's Beall High School harriers won the fourth annual Allegany County championship cross-country Class "A" meet yesterday with low score of 31 points.

Twenty-one boys, seven from each school, participated in the test in which Coach John Fatkin's Fort Hill team was second with 44 tallies and Coach Harry Lennox's Allegany High School hill and dale runners finished third with 48.

Don Sets New Record

Fletcher's time of 11:20 bettered the previous record of 11 minutes, 20.5 seconds set by Tom Elliott, of Fort Hill one year ago. Elliott was runner-up to Fletcher in yesterday's event.

Beall placed four runners among the first ten finishers in copping the title for the second time in four years. The Mountaineers' first victory was scored in 1960. Fort Hill was the championship in 1959 and 1961.

Oldtown Is "B" Winner

Coach Edgar "Barney" Tucker's Oldtown High School team, led by Gary Kasekamp, captured the Class "B" crown with low score of 34 points. Fort Hill was runner-up with 52, Beall, third with 71 and Allegany fourth with 75.

Oldtown had four runners among the first ten finishers.

Kasecamp covered the two miles in 12:24 to finish first among a field of 46 runners. His time of 12:24 was a bit slower than the record of 12:20.6 hung up by Richard Mikesell of Allegany in 1961 when the Campers copped the county's first "B" meet.

Ed Troutman, of Allegany, trailed Kasecamp to the wire in yesterday's race.

Van Parsons' Grid Career At Miami Definitely Ended

Van Parsons' college football career, which has been hanging in the balance the past several weeks, has definitely come to an end.

Parsons, a 1958 graduate of LaSalle High School and senior at the University of Miami, reinjured his lame knee Wednesday in the Hurricanes' final full scrimmage prior to their tussle tomorrow with third-ranked Alabama in Tuscaloose.

In a telephone call to his home here, Van said that he will undergo an operation on the knee over the Thanksgiving holidays. Even if Miami (6-1) should go to a post-season bowl contest, Parsons will not be ready to play.

Van has had considerable trouble with the knee during his playing days at Miami. After finally breaking into the Hurricanes' starting backfield this year, he was hurt in the second game against TCU and has been out of action since, although he dressed for the last two games with the Air Force Academy and Kentucky.

Coach Andy Gustafson had planned to use Parsons tomorrow if the knee held up in this week's workouts, but while making a tackle in the scrimmage session it gave out, and wrote finis to Van's oft-interrupted collegiate career.

The Canadiens, who had looked little like defending National Hockey League champions in their first 11 games, came out skating from the opening face-off and handed Detroit goalie Terry Sawchuk his worst beating of the year.

Allegany To Battle Beall, Keyser To Tackle Romney Gridders

Campers Host Mountain City Team Tonight

Pioneers, Tornado In P.V.C. Title Game At Keyser

Allegany High School's Campers will tackle the Beall High School Mountaineers and Romney High School's Pioneers will oppose Keyser High School in football contests on tap for today.

Coach Ed Schwarz's Campers meet Beall High School tonight at 8 o'clock at the local stadium while the Pioneers and Golden Tornado collide at 1:30 p.m., at Keyser, for the championship of the Potomac Valley Conference.

Allegany goes into tonight's contest with a 3-3-2 record while Beall has won five, lost two and played one tie. Beall held Fort Hill to a 14-7 score and suffered a 24-0 defeat at the hands of Keyser which handed the Campers a 33-28 setback.

Beall Won Last Year

The Campers had won 14 in row from Beall in their modern series until last year when Coach Jerry Calhoun's Mountaineers shook the jinx by winning to the tune of 6-0 at Frostburg.

Coach Calhoun last night announced that Ernest Drew, first string guard on offense and defense, will miss tonight's game due to the death of his father. Wayne Harper, backfield star, who was injured in the Fort Hill game a month ago, will miss his fifth straight game.

Coach Schwarz stated last evening that Mike Wagoner wil start at right end in place of Craig Sisk, who has been bothered by a strained neck muscle. Sisk, however, is expected to see part-time service in tonight's game.

1961 Co-Champs Meet

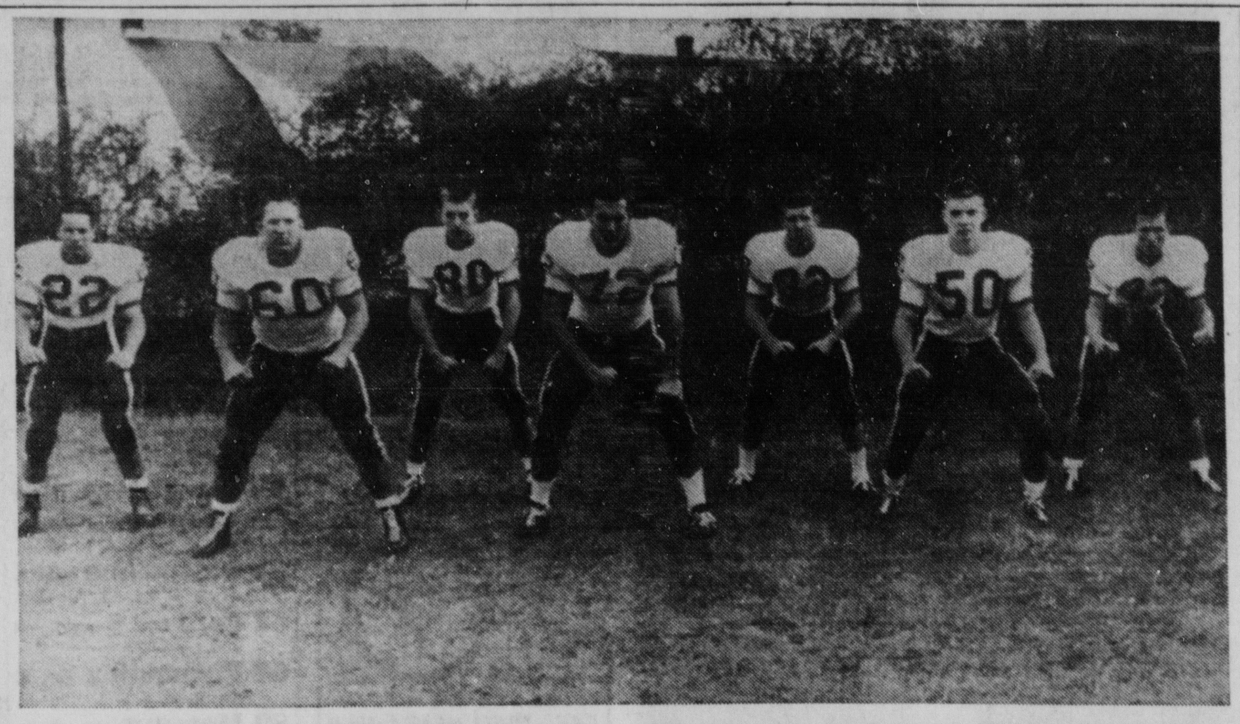

Co-champions in 1961 will be meeting in the big game at Keyser today. Keyser posted a 6-0 mark and Romney 5-0 in the P.V.C. last season and both teams are unbeaten in the conference this season. The Golden Tornado is 6-0 and Romney is 4-0-1, the tie being a 7-7 affair with Beall High School.

Since Frederick "Tack" Clark took over the coaching reins at Keyser in 1943, Keyser has won 12 of its 15 engagements with Romney. Romney's only win came in 1953 and the score was 18-13. The 1943 game ended in a 7-7 deadlock and the 1952 contest was a 14-14 draw. The schools did not meet in 1960 and 1961.

Romney had an undefeated team (9-0) last season and is 7-0-1 this season. Keyser was 8-2 last year and is 8-1 this year, including an 8-game victory string. The Tornado is riding a two-year winning streak of 12 games in the league.

Windup CVAL Schedules

Westminster High School's Owls and the Frederick High School Cadets will windup their C.V.A. League schedule tonight at Frederick at 8 o'clock. Frederick is 1-3-1 while Westminster is 1-4-0 to date.

Terp Booters Post 6th Win

Unbeaten Eleven Tops Duke, 3-1

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP) — The University of Maryland soccer team continued unbeaten by defeating the Duke Blue Devils 3-1 Thursday.

It was the first Atlantic Coast Conference loss for Duke.

Eberhard Klein scored early in the first period to give the Terps a lead they never relinquished. All-America Oyten Tertemiz, on an assist from Frank Marasco, scored in the second period to give Maryland a 2-0 lead at intermission.

Fred Bequin scored for Duke at the 16 minute mark of the third quarter to cut the margin to 2-1, but co-captain Richard Roe headed in another Marasco pass to put the game out of reach.

Maryland attempted 26 shots to Duke's 7, and the Blue Devils' Bob Mueller had 12 saves compared with Maryland co-captain Ronnie Williamson's 4 saves.

The Terps are now 6-0 over all for the season, while Duke has two defeats in eight outings.

Snead And Palmer Give U.S. First Round Canada Cup Lead

Argentina Team Is Second; Heat Fells Scotsman

SAN ISIDRO, Argentina (AP)—Arnold Palmer and Sam Snead each shot a 68 Thursday, giving the United States the first round lead in the 1962 Canada Cup golf matches with a 136 total on a day that was so hot one of the contestants fainted from the heat and had to withdraw.

Big Eric Brown of Scotland, watching some of his rivals tee off at No. 1, toppled over from the heat. He was revived quickly and gamely tried to play, but had to withdraw at the fourth hole.

Only New Zealand's great southpaw, Bob Charles, bettered the individual score of Snead and Palmer. He had a 67 over the 6,746-yard swank Jockey Club layout in this quiet suburb of Buenos Aires. Par for the flat, tree-spiked course is 34-36—70.

Two-man pro golf teams from 34 countries will play an 18-hole round for four days straight with the total score determining the winner.

The 136 total by the two U.S. aces swept them three strokes ahead of the host Argentine pair of Fidel de Luca and Roberto de Vicenzo who had 139 on De Luca's 68 and De Vicenzo's 71.

Tied at 141 were England, New Zealand and Wales.

Allegany To Battle Beall, Keyser To Tackle Romney Gridders

Pioneers, Tornado In P.V.C. Title Game At Keyser

Allegany High School's Campers will tackle the Beall High School Mountaineers and Romney High School's Pioneers will oppose Keyser High School in football contests on tap for today.

Coach Ed Schwarz's Campers meet Beall High School tonight at 8 o'clock at the local stadium while the Pioneers and Golden Tornado collide at 1:30 p.m., at Keyser, for the championship of the Potomac Valley Conference.

Allegany goes into tonight's contest with a 3-3-2 record while Beall has won five, lost two and played one tie. Beall held Fort Hill to a 14-7 score and suffered a 24-0 defeat at the hands of Keyser which handed the Campers a 33-28 setback.

Beall Won Last Year

The Campers had won 14 in row from Beall in their modern series until last year when Coach Jerry Calhoun's Mountaineers shook the jinx by winning to the tune of 6-0 at Frostburg.

Coach Calhoun last night announced that Ernest Drew, first string guard on offense and defense, will miss tonight's game due to the death of his father. Wayne Harper, backfield star, who was injured in the Fort Hill game a month ago, will miss his fifth straight game.

Coach Schwarz stated last evening that Mike Wagoner wil start at right end in place of Craig Sisk, who has been bothered by a strained neck muscle. Sisk, however, is expected to see part-time service in tonight's game.

1961 Co-Champs Meet

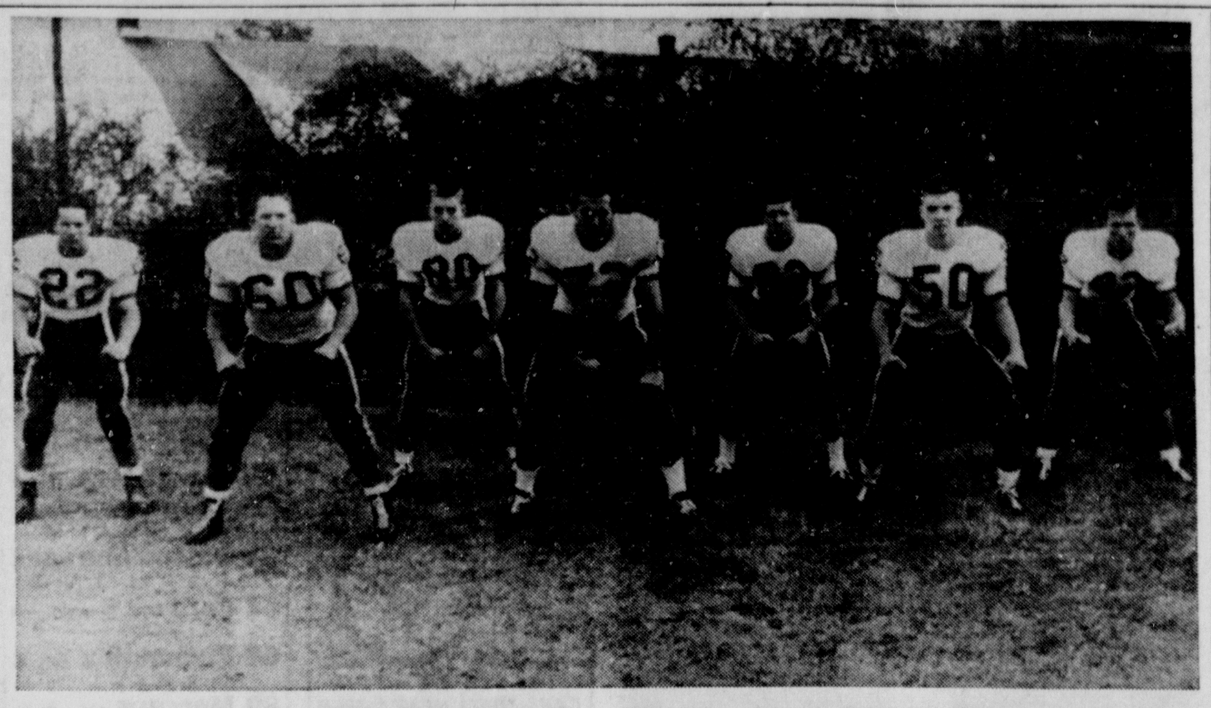

Co-champions in 1961 will be meeting in the big game at Keyser today. Keyser posted a 6-0 mark and Romney 5-0 in the P.V.C. last season and both teams are unbeaten in the conference this season. The Golden Tornado is 6-0 and Romney is 4-0-1, the tie being a 7-7 affair with Beall High School.

Since Frederick "Tack" Clark took over the coaching reins at Keyser in 1943, Keyser has won 12 of its 15 engagements with Romney. Romney's only win came in 1953 and the score was 18-13. The 1943 game ended in a 7-7 deadlock and the 1952 contest was a 14-14 draw. The schools did not meet in 1960 and 1961.

Romney had an undefeated team (9-0) last season and is 7-0-1 this season. Keyser was 8-2 last year and is 8-1 this year, including an 8-game victory string. The Tornado is riding a two-year winning streak of 12 games in the league.

Windup CVAL Schedules

Westminster High School's Owls and the Frederick High School Cadets will windup their C.V.A. League schedule tonight at Frederick at 8 o'clock. Frederick is 1-3-1 while Westminster is 1-4-0 to date.

Unbeaten Eleven Tops Duke, 3-1

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP) — The University of Maryland soccer team continued unbeaten by defeating the Duke Blue Devils 3-1 Thursday.

It was the first Atlantic Coast Conference loss for Duke.

Eberhard Klein scored early in the first period to give the Terps a lead they never relinquished. All-America Oyten Tertemiz, on an assist from Frank Marasco, scored in the second period to give Maryland a 2-0 lead at intermission.

Fred Bequin scored for Duke at the 16 minute mark of the third quarter to cut the margin to 2-1, but co-captain Richard Roe headed in another Marasco pass to put the game out of reach.

Maryland attempted 26 shots to Duke's 7, and the Blue Devils' Bob Mueller had 12 saves compared with Maryland co-captain Ronnie Williamson's 4 saves.

The Terps are now 6-0 over all for the season, while Duke has two defeats in eight outings.

Duke	0 0 1 0—1

SCHENLEY RESERVE-BLENDED WHISKY, 86 PROOF, 65% GRAIN NEUTRAL SPIRITS. ©1962. SCHENLEY DISTILLERS CO., N.Y.C.

Make 'em Tasty!

SUNNY SAYS: "Serve Schenley's sunny morning flavor
For tastier drinks your guests will savor!"

Schenley RESERVE

Schenley is a surprise to most people. It's a whisky that's light as any—but there's a subtle and likeable difference in flavor. That's because Schenley's straight whiskys are mellowed 8 full years before blending with grain neutral spirits. The taste is tastier. The drink more satisfying. Change to Schenley... it's a wise way to put flavor back in your drinks.

SCHENLEY RESERVE-BLENDED WHISKY, 86 PROOF, 65% GRAIN NEUTRAL SPIRITS. ©1962. SCHENLEY DISTILLERS CO., N.Y.C.

SUNNY SAYS: "Serve Schenley's sunny morning flavor
For tastier drinks your guests will savor!"

Schenley RESERVE

Schenley is a surprise to most people. It's a whisky that's light as any—but there's a subtle and likeable difference in flavor. That's because Schenley's straight whiskys are mellowed 8 full years before blending with grain neutral spirits. The taste is tastier. The drink more satisfying. Change to Schenley... it's a wise way to put flavor back in your drinks.

Average Auto Tax Figures At $146.26

BALTIMORE (AP) — Own a car? Then chances are you're paying an average of $141.26 a year in state and federal taxes for it.

The United States Bureau of Public Roads and the American Petroleum Institute said Thursday that figures compiled by the two agencies show that state gasoline taxes averaged $47.79 for every vehicle registered in Maryland last year. State registration fees accounted for another $29.12 and federal gas taxes took $31.30. Taxes on miscellaneous items such as oil and grease jobs were $33.05.

Censor Board Bans Three Films In Md.

BALTIMORE (AP) — The State Motion Picture Censor Board reported Thursday it had banned three films for showing in Maryland during the 12-month period ended June 3.

Norman C. Mason, chairman of the three-member board, identified the films as "Shangri-La," "The Naked Camera" and "The Immoral Mr. Teas."

Mason said many of the worst films using nudity as an excuse for production were being made for $25,000 and earning profits up to $850,000. He said lowering of film standards probably was the result of deterioration in the public taste.

3 Escapees Captured

ELLICOTT CITY, Md. (AP) — Three escapees from the Howard County jail were returned to their cells after two hours of freedom Thursday.

The men were captured in a wooded area near the Charring Cross shopping center after a heliocopter spotted them.

The prisoners fled the jail when a guard left a detention room door unlocked after letting two trusties out to get breakfast trays.

Police identified the escapees as Charles E. Humphrey, 22, of Baltimore, serving 90 days for traffic violations; Donald Brown, 26, Rossevelt, N.Y., serving time for having a concealed weapon and on a fugitive warrant from New York, and Billy D. Henson, 28, Baltimore, who was jailed Wednesday night on a stolen check charge.

ing ribbon roses was directed by Mrs. Forrest Snider, with all participating. Mrs. William C. Straw won the prize for the evening. A white elephant sale was conducted by Mrs. Irene Critzman. Mrs. Snider told of 120 attending the county achievement program.

Club Achievements were exhibited by Mrs. Roberts. They included ceramics, sewing, needlepoint, a knitted sweater, driftwood and flower arrangements, aprons, trays, canning, smocked pillows, child's "footies," men's crocheted slippers, and tissue holders.

Two guests, Mrs. Dorothy Thompson and Mrs. Kimble Smith, and 43 members attended. Hostesses were Mrs. David Wilson, Mrs. Gene Rapson, Mrs. John Earsom, Mrs. Charles Statler, Mrs. Catherine McNeel, Mrs. J. F. Millenson and Mrs. Theodore Wojcick.

Gets Head Start

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI)— The ballots from Tuesday's Oregon election still were being counted when the first candidate for 1964 made his appearance.

Jim Bacaloff, 37, a Portland contractor, paid a $100 filing fee for the Republican nomination to Congress from the Third District, which includes the Portland area.

Bacaloff was defeated for the U.S. GOP senatorial nomination in the May primary this year.

British Judge Rules Man Has Duty To His Mistress

LONDON (AP)—A British judge has ruled that a man can owe a greater duty to his mistress than to his wife.

The background to the ruling was this:

The late John Lucas had two women in his life—his wife, Elsie Lucas, 63; and his mistress for 30 years, Jean Watts, 66.

When he died earlier this year, Lucas left an estate of 2,683 pounds—$7,532—to Miss Watts.

He left nothing to his wife.

Lucas lived with his wife for seven years. They had two children. After he left her, he went to live with Miss Watts.

Hearing evidence and passing judgment in the case, Justice Sir Geoffrey Cross said the problem is to decide which of the two women has the bigger claim to the money.

"He certainly owed a duty to his wife," the judge said.

"At the same time, he had a high duty to Miss Watts."

Justice Cross pointed out that Lucas and Miss Watts both worked.

Every Friday, they pooled their earnings.

They deducted 25 shillings — $3.50—and paid this to the wife, as maintenance money.

They next deducted their living expenses.

Then they banked the rest—in Lucas' name.

After hearing the evidence, the judge:

Gave the wife 500 pounds — $1,400.

Awarded the remainder of the estate to Miss Watts.

"Even recognizing that Miss Watts had the greater claim," the judge said, "I don't feel Mr. Lucas was justified in leaving the widow nothing at all."

Average Auto Tax Figures At $146.26

BALTIMORE (AP) — Own a car? Then chances are you're paying an average of $141.26 a year in state and federal taxes for it.

The United States Bureau of Public Roads and the American Petroleum Institute said Thursday that figures compiled by the two agencies show that state gasoline taxes averaged $47.79 for every vehicle registered in Maryland last year. State registration fees accounted for another $29.12 and federal gas taxes took $31.30. Taxes on miscellaneous items such as oil and grease jobs were $33.05.

Censor Board Bans Three Films In Md.

BALTIMORE (AP) — The State Motion Picture Censor Board reported Thursday it had banned three films for showing in Maryland during the 12-month period ended June 3.

Norman C. Mason, chairman of the three-member board, identified the films as "Shangri-La," "The Naked Camera" and "The Immoral Mr. Teas."

Mason said many of the worst films using nudity as an excuse for production were being made for $25,000 and earning profits up to $850,000. He said lowering of film standards probably was the result of deterioration in the public taste.

3 Escapees Captured

ELLICOTT CITY, Md. (AP) — Three escapees from the Howard County jail were returned to their cells after two hours of freedom Thursday.

The men were captured in a wooded area near the Charring Cross shopping center after a heliocopter spotted them.

The prisoners fled the jail when a guard left a detention room door unlocked after letting two trusties out to get breakfast trays.

Police identified the escapees as Charles E. Humphrey, 22, of Baltimore, serving 90 days for traffic violations; Donald Brown, 26, Rossevelt, N.Y., serving time for having a concealed weapon and on a fugitive warrant from New York, and Billy D. Henson, 28, Baltimore, who was jailed Wednesday night on a stolen check charge.

British Judge Rules Man Has Duty To His Mistress

LONDON (AP)—A British judge has ruled that a man can owe a greater duty to his mistress than to his wife.

The background to the ruling was this:

The late John Lucas had two women in his life—his wife, Elsie Lucas, 63; and his mistress for 30 years, Jean Watts, 66.

When he died earlier this year, Lucas left an estate of 2,683 pounds—$7,532—to Miss Watts.

He left nothing to his wife.

Lucas lived with his wife for seven years. They had two children. After he left her, he went to live with Miss Watts.

Hearing evidence and passing judgment in the case, Justice Sir Geoffrey Cross said the problem is to decide which of the two women has the bigger claim to the money.

"He certainly owed a duty to his wife," the judge said.

"At the same time, he had a high duty to Miss Watts."

Justice Cross pointed out that Lucas and Miss Watts both worked.

Every Friday, they pooled their earnings.

They deducted 25 shillings — $3.50—and paid this to the wife, as maintenance money.

They next deducted their living expenses.

Then they banked the rest—in Lucas' name.

After hearing the evidence, the judge:

Gave the wife 500 pounds — $1,400.

Awarded the remainder of the estate to Miss Watts.

"Even recognizing that Miss Watts had the greater claim," the judge said. "I don't feel Mr. Lucas was justified in leaving the widow nothing at all."

Canvass Ends As GOP Win Is Assured

Stevenson Moves Ahead Of Vandegrift In Only Change

The Allegany County Board of Election Supervisors completed its official canvass of Tuesday's general election late last night and the only result was to change the position of two of the Republicans elected as judges of Orphans Court.

After the canvass, Hugh Stevenson, re-elected a judge of Orphans Court, had a 19-vote margin over Howard Vandegrift, a first time campaigner, 13,370 to 13,351. All three Republicans were elected judges of Orphans Court.

Addition of the armed service absentee votes generally enhanced the already overwhelming Republican leads in all three of the contested races.

Project Aided By Elks

Paula Seifarth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Seifarth, RD 1, Clarysville, is one of the speech therapy patients at the Allegany County League for Crippled Children. She is shown with Miss Pamela Pamer, speech therapist, who sees the four-and-a-half-year-old youngster twice a week. Paula has been visiting the League for a year. She has an articulation difficulty.

Elks Ball Will Help Speech Therapy Work

Speech therapy is one of the less-publicized services of the Allegany County League For Crippled Children, yet it is an integral part of the overall program of the League which will be benefitted by proceeds from the Informal Charity Ball at the home of B.P.O. Elks Lodge 63, South Centre Street, Saturday night.

At the present time, the League has an active case load of 92 speech patients. They range from those who have a simple speech articulation problem to those whose speech has been affected by cerebral palsy or by a cleft palate.

Other children are recommended for therapy to the League because of stuttering or speech defects caused by the fact that they are hard of hearing.

Work is concentrated on those of pre-school age with articulation difficulties since it is felt if the problem is taken care of now, the child will progress faster when he enters school.

Miss Pamela Pamer is the League's speech therapist.

The Charity Ball which will be for the benefit of the League for Crippled Children will start with an "open house" at the Elks Home Saturday at 9 p. m. Dancing will be featured on two floors of the home with the Gentlemen of Note, local award-winning orchestra, and the Glen Long Orchestra of Harrisburg, playing.

Also open to the public affair will be the Golden Antler Casino where three hours of continuous entertainment will be offered featuring Dusty Shaver and his western trio. The western theme will be carried out in the casino and ladies of the Elks, dressed as cowgirls, will be hostesses.

Tickets for the Charity Ball may be obtained at the door.

CUF Leaders Optimistic As Audit Nears

May Meet Goal Next Thursday

Heartened by the performance of the Golden Gifts division, leaders of the sixth and biggest County United Fund campaign are optimistically looking forward to the third official campaign audit, scheduled for next Thursday.

Alvin H. Wilson, general chairman of the 1962 two-county drive, on which 30 participating agencies depend, predicted that the $406,067 goal would be approached and possibly met after the audit is completed.

The $406,067 goal is the highest in the six-year history of CUF, and the figure represents an 8.8 per cent increase in community needs of Allegany and Mineral counties over last year.

Campaign leaders have been asking CUF givers to reappraise their gifts this year to meet the increase in needs by their fellowmen, and Mr. Wilson observed that many have responded with "outstanding enthusiasm."

Earlier This Year

Last year's CUF goal, not quite so high, was reached by the time of the third audit, Mr. Wilson pointed out, but the third audit this year is being conducted a little earlier and a higher goal is the target. "All things considered," he added, "we should come close to the goal Thursday."

The Golden Gifts Division, even before audit time, is only 1.6 per cent away from its $125,000 goal. To date, Golden Gift contributors have accounted for $122,981, or 98.4 per cent of the goal.

Three Golden Gift teams have surpassed their team goals, some by whopping margins.

High Teams

The team of William C. Walsh has attained 112.3 per cent of its $7,500 target, while the team of James C. Warden has chalked up 125.7 per cent of its $2,500 goal.

Other Golden Gift teams surpassing their goals are those of William E. Crooks, 100.9 per cent of $8,750; Robert Hunter Jr., 102.6 per cent of $12,000; and William H. Oburn, 100.1 per cent of one of the largest goals, $20,000.

Al other divisions in the campaign have been progressing steadily toward the goal, with the Big 7 Employes Division expected once again to turn in another outstanding performance.

The classified divisions in Cumberland, Frostburg, Tri-Towns and Keyser and the business division drives in each of these areas are progressing as are the Golden Gifts and community drives in the entire CUF area.

Train Halted To Prevent Possible Crash

An eastbound Western Maryland coal train was flagged down last night when it appeared the diesel units might ram into a tractor trailer which was parked on the Baltimore Street crossing waiting for a traffic light to change at the intersection of Baltimore and Mechanic streets.

Harry Duckworth, crossing watchman, flagged down the 90-car train shortly before 8 p.m. After several minutes the train proceeded into the Ridgeley yards.

Catonsville Man Released On Bond

He was brought before substitute magistrate Harold E. Naughton by Sgt. William F. Baker, acting county investigator.

Gennaro, an engineer in the Molecular Electronics Division of Westinghouse Electric Corporation, Youngwood, Pa., will address the high school science teachers of Allegany and Garrett counties in their fifth and last meeting of the season at 7:30 p.m. next Wednesday at Beall High School in Frostburg.

Mr. Gennaro will discuss molecular electronics. He is substituting for Paul R. Malmberg, a Westinghouse official from Pittsburgh, who originally had been scheduled.

Jack A. Petry, supervisor of high schools in Allegany County, said that Mr. Gennaro has his B. S. degree in physics from St. Francis College and now is doing research in application of logic devices.

Between 30 and 35 science teachers are expected to attend the meeting, sponsored jointly by the State Department of Education, the Maryland Academy of Sciences and the Boards of Education of Allegany and Garrett counties.

Catholic Veterans Plan 10th Anniversary Event

The 10th anniversary of Victor Tambolleo Post 1712, Catholic War Veterans, will be observed Saturday, November 24, during a banquet and dance at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club.

The guest speaker will be Rev. Rufus J. Wicelinski, OFM, a member of the Franciscan Order, who spent many years of his priesthood in the field of education.

He is a past state and national chaplain of the CWV and is a member of St. Casimir's Post, Baltimore. Currently he is chaplain at Newton D. Baker VA Center, Martinsburg, W. Va.

Glenn E. Kimberlin, past commander of the local post, is general chairman of the banquet and dance.

He said a cocktail party will begin at 5:30 p.m. and the banquet will follow at 6:30 p.m. with the dance beginning at 9 p.m.

Reservations for the banquet must be made by November 19. The affair is open to members and friends.

Mr. Kimberlin commented that this will be the final event of the 10th anniversary. The post began with a membership of six some two and a half years ago, and the present roster is 220 members.

Between 800 and 900 high school juniors and seniors are expected to attend Monday's program. This is one of the five half holidays observed during the school year so classes will have dismissed before the Career Day starts.

Bray, Kelly-Springfield Tire Company; Norman Curtis, M. D. Schepcaro and J. G. Lucas, Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company, and Richard Jackson, West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company.

Hamill Gets Garrett Judgeship

Associate Judge Stuart F. Hamill Jr. yesterday was assured of becoming the second elected Circuit Court judge in Garrett County history when the official canvass of Tuesday's general election results by the County Board of Election Supervisors increased his margin of victory to 36 votes.

Miss Julia Rowan, chief clerk to the Garrett County Board of Election Supervisors, said that when the absentee votes were counted Judge Hamill received 67 of them to only 38 for W. Dwight Stover, state's attorney of Garrett County.

The unofficial total on Tuesday's election had given Judge Hamill a margin of seven votes over Mr. Stover, 2,939 to 2,932. Officially, with the absentees, Judge Hamill had 3,006 to Mr. Stover's 2,970.

Judge Hamill, at 47 the only Democratic attorney in predominantly Republican Garrett County, was appointed last fall by Governor J. Millard Tawes as associate judge upon the death of Judge Neil C. Fraley. Judge Fraley became the first judge in Garrett County when then Governor Theodore R. McKeldin appointed him after a constitutional change was approved in the 1954 election to assure Garrett County of a sitting judge for the first time. Judge Fraley was elected in 1956.

Judge Hamill's victory is considered surprising because 60.6 per cent of Garrett County's 9,775 registered voters are Republicans like Mr. Stover.

The full extent of injuries of the hospitalized persons were not determined last night, according to attaches, who said they were admitted for treatment and observation.

James Geary, prosecuting attorney of Grant County, who is investigating with state police, said a coroner's jury would be impaneled to investigate the accident.

He said Mrs. Cosner was a passenger in the right front seat of a car traveling north on Route 42. Her daughter and Mrs. Hanlin were also occupants in the car which police believe was being driven by Mrs. Hanlin.

The other persons were in the other car which was traveling south toward Petersburg when the two cars collided on a curve about 4 p.m. Strickland is believed to be the driver of the other car.

Canvass Ends As GOP Win Is Assured

Stevenson Moves Ahead Of Vandegrift In Only Change

The Allegany County Board of Election Supervisors completed its official canvass of Tuesday's general election late last night and the only result was to change the position of two of the Republicans elected as judges of Orphans Court.

After the canvass, Hugh Stevenson, re-elected a judge of Orphans Court, had a 19-vote margin over Howard Vandegrift, a first time campaigner, 13,370 to 13,351. All three Republicans were elected judges of Orphans Court.

Addition of the armed service absentee votes generally enhanced the already overwhelming Republican leads in all three of the contested races.

Project Aided By Elks

Paula Seifarth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Seifarth, RD 1, Clarysville, is one of the speech therapy patients at the Allegany County League for Crippled Children. She is shown with Miss Pamela Pamer, speech therapist, who sees the four-and-a-half-year-old youngster twice a week. Paula has been visiting the League for a year. She has an articulation difficulty.

Elks Ball Will Help Speech Therapy Work

Speech therapy is one of the less-publicized services of the Allegany County League For Crippled Children, yet it is an integral part of the overall program of the League which will be benefitted by proceeds from the Informal Charity Ball at the home of B.P.O. Elks Lodge 63, South Centre Street, Saturday night.

S/SGT. BARBARA BOND

At the present time, the League has an active case load of 92 speech patients. They range from those who have a simple speech articulation problem to those whose speech has been affected by cerebral palsy or by a cleft palate.

Other children are recommended for therapy to the League because of stuttering or speech defects caused by the fact that they are hard of hearing.

Work is concentrated on those of pre-school age with articulation difficulties since it is felt if the problem is taken care of now, the child will progress faster when he enters school.

Miss Pamela Pamer is the League's speech therapist.

The Charity Ball which will be for the benefit of the League for Crippled Children will start with an "open house" at the Elks Home Saturday at 9 p. m. Dancing will be featured on two floors of the home with the Gentlemen of Note, local award-winning orchestra, and the Glen Long Orchestra of Harrisburg, playing.

Also open to the public affair will be the Golden Antler Casino where three hours of continuous entertainment will be offered featuring Dusty Shaver and his western trio. The western theme will be carried out in the casino and ladies of the Elks, dressed as cowgirls, will be hostesses.

Tickets for the Charity Ball may be obtained at the door.

CUF Leaders Optimistic As Audit Nears

May Meet Goal Next Thursday

Heartened by the performance of the Golden Gifts division, leaders of the sixth and biggest County United Fund campaign are optimistically looking forward to the third official campaign audit, scheduled for next Thursday.

Alvin H. Wilson, general chairman of the 1962 two-county drive, on which 30 participating agencies depend, predicted that the $406,067 goal would be approached and possibly met after the audit is completed.

The $406,067 goal is the highest in the six-year history of CUF, and the figure represents an 8.8 per cent increase in community needs of Allegany and Mineral counties over last year.

Campaign leaders have been asking CUF givers to reappraise their gifts this year to meet the increase in needs by their fellowmen, and Mr. Wilson observed that many have responded with "outstanding enthusiasm."

Earlier This Year

Last year's CUF goal, not quite so high, was reached by the time of the third audit, Mr. Wilson pointed out, but the third audit this year is being conducted a little earlier and a higher goal is the target. "All things considered," he added, "we should come close to the goal Thursday."

The Golden Gifts Division, even before audit time, is only 1.6 per cent away from its $125,000 goal. To date, Golden Gift contributors have accounted for $122,981, or 98.4 per cent of the goal.

Three Golden Gift teams have surpassed their team goals, some by whopping margins.

High Teams

The team of William C. Walsh has attained 112.3 per cent of its $7,500 target, while the team of James C. Warden has chalked up 125.7 per cent of its $2,500 goal.

Other Golden Gift teams surpassing their goals are those of William E. Crooks, 100.9 per cent of $8,750; Robert Hunter Jr., 102.6 per cent of $12,000; and William H. Oburn, 100.1 per cent of one of the largest goals, $20,000.

Al other divisions in the campaign have been progressing steadily toward the goal, with the Big 7 Employes Division expected once again to turn in another outstanding performance.

The classified divisions in Cumberland, Frostburg, Tri-Towns and Keyser and the business division drives in each of these areas are progressing as are the Golden Gifts and community drives in the entire CUF area.

Hamill Gets Garrett Judgeship

Associate Judge Stuart F. Hamill Jr. yesterday was assured of becoming the second elected Circuit Court judge in Garrett County history when the official canvass of Tuesday's general election results by the County Board of Election Supervisors increased his margin of victory to 36 votes.

Miss Julia Rowan, chief clerk to the Garrett County Board of Election Supervisors, said that when the absentee votes were counted Judge Hamill received 67 of them to only 38 for W. Dwight Stover, state's attorney of Garrett County.

The unofficial total on Tuesday's election had given Judge Hamill a margin of seven votes over Mr. Stover, 2,939 to 2,932. Officially, with the absentees, Judge Hamill had 3,006 to Mr. Stover's 2,970.

Judge Hamill, at 47 the only Democratic attorney in predominantly Republican Garrett County, was appointed last fall by Governor J. Millard Tawes as associate judge upon the death of Judge Neil C. Fraley. Judge Fraley became the first judge in Garrett County when then Governor Theodore R. McKeldin appointed him after a constitutional change was approved in the 1954 election to assure Garrett County of a sitting judge for the first time. Judge Fraley was elected in 1956.

Judge Hamill's victory is considered surprising because 60.6 per cent of Garrett County's 9,775 registered voters are Republicans like Mr. Stover.

Grant County Woman Dies In Accident

Nine Hospitalized When 2 Cars Crash North Of Petersburg

An 81-year-old Bismark, W. Va. woman was killed and nine other persons were hospitalized yesterday with injuries sustained in a two-car collision on West Virginia Route 42 about two miles north of Petersburg.

Mrs. Stella Amelia Cosner was dead on arrival at Grant County Memorial Hospital in Petersburg.

Admitted to the hospital for treatment and observation were Mrs. Kathleen George of Petersburg, who apparently was the most seriously injured; Brenda Kay and Gregory Allen George, her children; Mrs. Millar Likens, of Bismark, daughter of the deceased woman; Mrs. Norma Hanlin of Mt. Storm; Richard Wratchford, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Harrison, and Crummy Strickland, all of Petersburg.

Injuries Undetermined

Attaches said all of the hospitalized persons were in "fair" condition with the exception of Mrs. George who was reported in "satisfactory" condition.

The full extent of injuries of the hospitalized persons were not determined last night, according to attaches, who said they were admitted for treatment and observation.

James Geary, prosecuting attorney of Grant County, who is investigating with state police, said a coroner's jury would be impaneled to investigate the accident.

He said Mrs. Cosner was a passenger in the right front seat of a car traveling north on Route 42. Her daughter and Mrs. Hanlin were also occupants in the car which police believe was being driven by Mrs. Hanlin.

The other persons were in the other car which was traveling south toward Petersburg when the two cars collided on a curve about 4 p.m. Strickland is believed to be the driver of the other car.

Trooper William Chapman of the State Police at Petersburg, is investigating along with the prosecuting attorney.
